THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1905.

TWO more convictions for land frauds Saturday. Thaddeus S. Potter and W. N. Jones being the victims. Ira Wade, the third defendant, goes scot free.

THE Washington County exhibit at the fair has been given to the Chamber of Commerce at Portland, with the exception of the perishable part which was given to the charitable institutions. The part not accepted by the Chamber of Commerce will be sent to Hillsboro.

FRANK C. BAKER'S conference, love feast, or whatever you choose to call it, was one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held by the republicans in this state. It was a success from every point of view, and cleared up all party strife. The speeches that were made from all factions trended towards unison, and the accomplishment is complete.

NOT many weeks ago the Independent handed out what it thought was a "hot shot" about The News "S. S. S. for the Blood, etc." when last week the Independent took a good sized dose of the same medicine for its own "patent insides," with a fair chance that the dose will be repeated weekly for some time to come. We say, Mr. Independent, "aren't you sorry that you said it?"

THE Oregonian has been compiling the hop yield of Oregon, as obtained from its correspondents, sufficiently correct to show the general results of the crop of the state for the season. The yield of the state is given as 98,005 bales against 87,559 bales for the preceding year. Marion county leads with 37,000, then Polk with 20,000, Yamhill 10,000, Lane 8,000, Washington 7,500, Linn 2,495, Josephine 2,100, Benton 2,410, Douglas 800, Multnomah 340, Columbia 150, Clatsop 100 and Coos 100.

THE editor of Hearst's Chicago-American, one of the largest metropolitan dailies of the country, in discussing the merits of the local paper has the following to say. "It would be a big misfortune to the country if

The Indian never blood work but he wanted his skin to get well as soon as possible so that she could do the work and let him hunt, therefore he dug for her, for that was their great remedy for female weaknesses.

Dr. Pierce uses the same root—called Blue Cohosh—in his Favorite Prescription skillfully combined with other agents that make it more effective and protect the stomach from functional disturbance.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION is not new ever was a "patent medicine," but it is the carefully wrought out and thoroughly tested root prescription of a root prescriber in a real practice.

Dr. Pierce's unparalleled success with this remedy was such that more wanted to use it than any one doctor could attend to in a private practice. This induced him to manufacture it on a sufficiently liberal scale to meet the demand.

By his own special processes, he extracts, combines and preserves the medicinal qualities of the several ingredients without the use of alcohol (using chemically pure glycerine instead), thus rendering it absolutely safe for any woman of any age and in any condition to use freely. The names of the ingredients are: Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root and Golden Seal root.

Miss May Rohlback, No. 73 Amsterdam Avenue, New York City, Treasurer of the Woman's Progressive Union, writes: "I had headache, backache, and was very nervous; scarcely able to sleep more than two hours at a time. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and was delighted with the result. Within a week I was sleeping splendidly. Continued using the Favorite Prescription for eight weeks, and then stopped, for I was perfectly well. Ever since then your medicine has been my Favorite Prescription. too. I recommend it to every one.

Constipation although a little ill, begins big ones if neglected. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

the few big papers in the big cities should interfere seriously with the publication of the valuable and intelligent local newspapers, for upon these local newspapers the welfare of the country very largely depends. The metropolitan daily cannot possibly know the needs of the various localities and small cities. Only the local newspapers can protect local needs and influence local opinion. Of course we are very glad to have as many people as possible to read the Chicago-American, in the big cities and in the little. But we hope that in every small town and every village there will be enough intelligence on the part of the local inhabitants to support the best local newspaper giving encouraging approbation and a good living to the editor who alone can represent and defend justice and public spirit among his neighbors. The man is unfortunate who can afford only one newspaper at today's prices. Such a man, in our opinion, should display his public spirit and sense of duty to his locality by taking the local newspaper."

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARRROW, Chatham, N. Y., Press Correspondent New York State Grange

GRANGE COMMENDED.

Its Refining Influence on the Home Life.

It has been my good fortune, says a writer in the Tribune-Farmer, to visit hundreds of farms in Michigan and other states during the last few years, sometimes in an official capacity. I now call to mind that in a great majority of these homes, where various refining influences were evidently at work, the father and mother, and frequently one or more of the children, "belonged" to the grange.

Michigan is a great grange state, having a membership of nearly 50,000 in over 700 subordinate granges. Some of the most prominent men in the state who occupy the highest official positions are, and have been for years, members of the grange. Such men as ex-Governor Cyrus G. Luce, J. J. Woodman, George B. Horton and numerous others have a national reputation in grange official life. These men have been practical farmers and made a complete success of their vocation, and they freely state that the grange has been a great help to them in many ways.

In visiting a farm home I could, in a few hours' time, invariably determine the dominating influences that obtained for the betterment of the various individuals in that family. The papers, books, pictures, manners, and even the general use of the English vocabulary revealed much to the visitor. The farmer might be poor, the house plainly and even scantily furnished, but plenty of good literature, denoting the reading habit, with a certain congenial atmosphere, always made me feel inquisitive to know more about the "folks at home."

I have been surprised to find in so many cases that the grange was largely responsible for the good influences which so thoroughly permeated such a farmer's family, and in every case the various members of such a family were free to praise the good work the grange had done in their home.

In those communities wherein the grange and farmers' clubs have a strong membership one finds the ideal farm homes.

In the Granite State.

For the first time a systematic record of the subordinate grange lecturer's literary work in New Hampshire has been compiled by State Lecturer Pattee, and the result shows that in a single month 1,279 people in 107 different granges discussed state aid for highways. During the last quarter there were given in 229 granges 1,287 selections of vocal and 805 of instrumental music, 1,861 readings, 284 essays, 239 original papers, 221 addresses, 24 dramas, 78 farces, 36 tableaux, 671 questions were discussed by 3,377 speakers, consuming in the aggregate 70 1/3 days of 10 hours each. The attendance during these programmes was 34,535.

The executive committee of the New Hampshire state grange has perfected arrangements as far as possible for an excursion to New Jersey at the time of the meeting of the national grange in November. The New Jersey state grange is co-operating, and low rates and good accommodations are assured.

Grange Hall Burned.

Panama grange, No. 528, Chautauqua county, N. Y., met with a misfortune recently. Their hall was on the upper floor of a hotel, which was included in a disastrous fire that destroyed the entire business part of the village. Their organ and grange fixtures, worth $300, were burned. The owner of the building had expended considerable money in fitting up an attractive grange hall, and his loss is large.

To Promote Agriculture.

Pennsylvania state grange is represented in the allied organizations of the state, whose purpose it is to co-operate in promoting agricultural education and research in the state, by five members appointed by the state master, to-wit: E. J. Tuttle, Tioga county; Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Clark, Westmoreland county, and Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Boyle, Erie county.

Grange Fire Insurance.

The Salisbury and Amesbury (Mass.) Mutual company report $2,152,900 in insurance, with a balance of about $0,000 in the treasury and no outstanding bills. The losses the past year amounted to $2,508.

Grange Topics, September-December, 1905.

September.—What improvements can be made in the present method of marketing the products of the farm?

October.—What action can be taken by individuals at their homes for promoting their knowledge of their business and for their general mental development?

November.—What can be done by farmers of this locality to develop the resources of their farms in the most profitable manner?

December.—What can be done to increase the attractions of the farm home to make it the brightest and happiest spot on earth?

SUPPLEMENTARY TOPICS.

September.—What educational work should be undertaken by the state grange for the mental development of members?

October.—What are the relations of fourth degree members to the national grange and their duty in attending its sessions and promoting its interests?

November.—What can the national grange do in addition to what it is now doing to advance the interests of the American farmer?

December.—To what extent should the national grange urge the interests of agriculture before the national congress?
