

HILLSBORO LINE A GO

Transfer to Lytle Consummated and Work Will Begin At Once.

Line to be in Operation to Banks by April 30, 1906 Instead of Dec. 31.

Since the Lytle interests have become connected with the Portland, Nehalem & Tillamook Railroad, matters have taken on a different trend until it is now practically certain that the line will be built. Tuesday evening's Telegram contained the following news concerning the condition of affairs:

"Hillsboro's Board of Trade is free to turn over to the Pacific Railway & Navigation Company ten miles of right of way from Hillsboro to Banks, which until yesterday was held by the Portland, Nehalem & Tillamook Railway Company. At a meeting of the stockholders of the latter corporation yesterday the action of the directors a few days ago in adopting a resolution favoring the transfer of the right of way to the Pacific Railway & Navigation Company was ratified.

E. E. Lytle and associates, who are behind the P. R. & N. Co., ask that in addition to the right of way being released that terminal grounds be provided and that bonds be subscribed to the amount of $40,000. This proposition has been submitted to the Board of Trade, and when the preliminaries have been arranged the work will proceed. It is likewise stipulated that in making the grant of the ten miles from Hillsboro to Banks the time for completing the road be extended from December 21, 1905, as provided in the agreement with the P. N. & T., to April 30, 1906. This is desired because construction work is necessarily slow in winter, but it is the intention of the new company to proceed with the road immediately, and the first steps will be to connect Banks with Hillsboro and from the former point to merge the lines to Nehalem and Tillamook. Washington County residents are as well pleased over the outcome of the negotiations as are the people interested in Portland's commercial welfare, and every aid possible will be lent to assist the laying of the last rail.

A Reception.

On last Friday evening Rev. and Mrs. L. F. Belknap of the M. E. church were given a surprise reception which proved to be one of the social events of the season. As has been the custom of Mr. Belknap's parishioners, the reception instead of being held shortly after the conference, it was this year delayed until last week. Mr. Belknap had gone to the mountains but was communicated with by phone, the pretense being that a wedding would occur on that evening, hence his arrival. The guests to the number of perhaps 150 gathered at the palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hoffman, on Third Avenue and proceeded to the parsonage in a body, making the surprise complete. The evening was enjoyed by all, and a light lunch was served, it having been previously prepared. This is the sixth time Mr. Belknap has been returned to this pastorate, and as a mark of appreciation he was given a hearty reception.

WORK OF THE BOARD OF TRADE

Letters of Inquiry About Our Community Being Received Daily.

Not for a minute has the Forest Grove Board of Trade been asleep. Daily letters are received from all parts of the country asking for information and the one hereto appended is a sample of what is being received. Anyone who can give the desired information or any other, is requested to do so. The letter is from "The Pacific Northwest" of Portland and is as follows:

Forest Grove Board of Trade,

Gentlemen: O. E. Julian, Mishawaka, Ind. desires information in reference to the business interest of your section of the country. Does not state what he would like to take up.

Duncan Ferguson, 314 Berry St., Brooklyn, N. Y. desires information about general conditions.

E. O. Richwin, 2017 Bellefontaine St., Indianapolis, Ind., desires to engage in hardware and novelty business if there is proper opening.

R. E. Roantree, Parker, S. D. desires information in general.

None of these parties state what amount they can invest.

Very Respectfully,

PHILIP BATES, Publisher.

Stuart--Torrence Nuptials

(From the Minneapolis Journal)

"A wedding, charming for the simplicity of its appointments, took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas A. Fiske, on Stevens avenue, when their sister, Miss Hester May Torrance, and Henry Harlan Stuart of Forest Grove, Ore., were married. The bride is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Eli Torrance. She is a university girl, a member of both the Alpha Phi and Tau Kappa Phi sororities. Mr. Stuart is the only son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Harlan Stuart of Portland avenue, and he was a prominent member of the Roosevelt club until he went west about three years ago.

Only the relatives and very near friends were present, and they were received by Judge and Mrs. Torrance, Dr. and Mrs. Stuart and Mr. Fiske. Mrs. Torrance wore a gown of black lace over white taffeta and Mrs. Stuart was in Quaker gray crepe de chine. A string orchestra played a program of nuptial music that changed to the strains of the "Lohengrin" bridal chorus as little Lois Fiske, the bride's niece, led the way to the bower of palms and vines. She wore a frock of white silk mull and carried a basket of pink roses. Mrs. Fiske was her sister's matron of honor and wore white batiste trimmed with valenciennes lace and carried pink roses. The bride was met at the foot of the stairs by her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown was of white mull over white satin and inset with rose point lace. Her veil was held in place by lilies of the valley and she carried a bouquet of same dainty blossoms. Mr. Stuart and his best man, John Porter Hall, awaited the coming of the bride at the altar, where the service was read by Rev. A. B. Marshall, assisted by Rev. Thomas F. Wallace of Mexico, an uncle of the bride, who has been a missionary in South America and Mexico for over forty years.

An informal reception followed and the orchestra played softly as the guests presented their congratulations. Mrs. Charles Williams and the Misses Helen and Mary Harrington served frappe from the handsome punch bowl presented to Mrs. Torrance by the Woman's Relief corps at Washington, when Judge Torrance was commander of the G. A. R., three years ago. Bride roses and white tapers in crystal holders decked the dining-room, where the table was spread with a fine linen cloth spun by the bride's great-grandmother in 1804 and embroidered by Mrs. Torrance in 1905.

Mr. Stuart and his bride left on the late train for Forest Grove, Ore., where they will make their home. They will receive after Jan. 5."

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart are expected to arrive in this city, Friday and will take up their residence in the Staver house after January 5.

Pacific vs Forest Grove Athletic Club

Pacific University was defeated on the local field Saturday by the Forest Grove Athletic Club with a score of 14-0. From the kick-off until the whistle blew for the finish it was a hard fought game. The clubmen outweighed the collegians and on this account made most of their yardage on straight and crossbucks. The clubmen had to fight for every yard and the collegians stood as determined not to yield, but the superior weight of their opponents forced them back for two touch downs. Pacific fought stubbornly and twice forced back their opponent's halfbacks, who were attempting to advance the ball. Neil, Via, Johnson and Fletcher were the best ground gainers for the club and they are all old P. U. men, Johnson having gained honors as a 200 pound tackle. Rasmussen, Gwynn and Lawrence stood out prominently for the collegians. The best of feeling prevailed throughout the game and at its close the contestants cheered lustily for each other. Catholic Services at Vert's Hall.

On Sunday, October 29, at 10:30 a. m., solemn high mass will be celebrated at Vert's Hall in this city. Some singers from Portland and Verboort choir will furnish the music. A very important instruction will be given on a question of Catholic doctrine not always properly understood by non-Catholics. All the Catholics of this city and neighborhood are requested to assist, as in duty bound, at these services. Non-Catholics and others are always most welcome.

Will Get Two-thirds Value.

A few days ago A. B. Todd and others who lost grain, hay, etc., in the Dilley warehouse fire recently, received word from the S. P. Co. to the effect that they each would receive two-thirds value of their loss. The total loss runs well up into the hundreds and Mr. Todd's share will aggregate $250.

GROWN WITHOUT SOIL

Remarkable Potato Discovery of a Resident of Great Falls, Mont.

W. D. Darst of Great Falls, Montana, is the inventor of a new process for growing potatoes, which, if the results he claims are true, places him in the class of Luther Burbank, the "California Wizard."

Mr. Darst's discovery consists of a method of growing potatoes without soil, and his process and the results obtained from it are on exhibition at the county fair at Great Falls at the present time. According to the process as described by Mr. Darst, the potatoes are planted in frames made of slates, the frames being eight feet square and five feet high. The slates are placed about three inches apart. A certain composition is then put in the box about three inches thick, and a layer of potatoes placed on it. The potatoes are then covered with the same material, and the composition and the potatoes are laid in alternate layers until the box is filled.

The potatoes are watered and cared for until maturity, which takes about one hundred days, though excellent new potatoes are in sight at the end of fifty-four days.

The potatoes are similar to any other potatoes, except that they are harder and seem to resist decay better. The frame that Mr. Darst is using to grow his potatoes in is a glass covered shed adjoining his house. According to Mr. Darst, more than thirty thousand bushels can be grown to the acre without the use of earth.

Notice.

All outside faucets must be wrapped to protect them from freezing. By order of P. W. CRONIN, Water Com.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Little Elsie Mead Met Sad Death by Flames

Elsie Mead, the 4-year-old daughter of M. M. Mead and wife, residing northwest of Hillsboro met death by being burned last Saturday. The little girl had taken some live coals from the fire-place to kindle a fire in the yard, when her clothing caught fire. When her mother, who heard her scream, ran toward her, Elsie ran away from her mother before the flame could be extinguished. She died of her burns next day, Sunday.
