THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1906.

TEACH THE BOY.

No other service can be done for the country at large, comparable in importance with that of teaching how to make the largest possible profit out of the smallest tract of land that will furnish a comfortable living for a family. To do this we must teach that the real value lies after all not in the land but in the man that farms it; that by intensive, diversified, scientific farming a good living with a surplus profit that will provide for old age may be made on a small tract. One of the chief reasons why so many boys "go to work" and drift away from the farm is that they haven't the money to buy what they consider enough land to make a farm. Let them learn what may be done with a little and we have gone a long way toward stopping the unfortunate trend, so apparent in many parts of the country, toward the absorption of small tracts into still larger, but wastefully farmed tracts, with resulting diminution of population.

These are the days when the mail order houses and department stores get in their work--when the home merchant pulls in his advertising and discontinues his efforts to draw trade, while the other fellows hammer their "bargains" into the people's heads. People may not be buying very freely at this time of the year, but they are as susceptible to impressions as ever, if not more so.--Anoka Free Press.

President Roosevelt may have made mistakes in the matter of the Panama canal; his judgment is far from infallible; but the people would trust him far sooner than the clique of railroad and monopoly congressmen who are fighting him, and an investigation carried on merely to injure him will only arouse popular sentiment in his favor and make him stronger with the people than ever.--Oregon Journal.

Our townsman, W. M. Langley, has turned his mind to letter writing and is asking, through the columns of the Oregonian, some pointed questions of the candidates for Congress from this District. He has not succeeded, as yet, in eliciting any responses, but if he keeps up his correspondence, he will certainly get a hearing some of them. It is an unfrequent occurrence for one who has allied himself with the Democratic party for a number of years, to be so anxious for Republican candidates to state their position on national issues, leaving that, as a rule, for the leaders of the party to look after, but we are glad to have our democratic friends take an interest in such matters. It is a hopeful sign.

What shall become of our fruit trees? The Fruit Growers' convention just closed in Portland, has sounded a warning to our orchardists. The San Jose scale is abroad in the town and is destroying many of our fruit trees. If they could be placed upon the old, scabby and ragged trees around town without danger to the young and healthy, we would advocate inoculating the worthless old orchards in the state for that matter, but unable as they get on the young fruit just as quickly and do just as much work there as on the old, covered trees. It is the duty of every citizen interested in the growing of fruit in this valley to see to it that the orchard is rid of the pest and kept that way if we are going to continue to raise fruit. And a valley that can raise apples and cherries with the flavor of those grown around here should be dotted all over with thrifty young orchards which should be taken care of with as much interest and anxiety as the Hood River people or the Jackson County people take of theirs. Our fruit might not keep as long as theirs, but we can beat them, or any other irrigated orchard country, on flavor. Here is an approved formula said to be as good as any for spraying trees for San Jose scale. Good quality of fresh burnt stone lime, 20 pounds. Flower of sulphur, 15 pounds; Common salt, 10 pounds; Water, 50 gallons. While salt is not considered necessary, yet the amount given can be used if desired. Directions: Put 20 gallons of water in an iron pot or hog scald and bring it to a boil, and then add the stone lime and sulphur. The sulphur should be made into a paste with hot water before placing it in the boiler in order to facilitate its mixing. After the lime and sulphur have been boiled for some time, add the salt. Boil the mixture, stirring occasionally, from thirty minutes to one hour, or until the sulphur is thoroughly dissolved and produces a clear and amber colored solution. Then dilute by adding sufficient cold water to make fifty gallons. Pass the mixture through a strainer with at least 20 meshes to the inch, into the spray barrel and apply to the trees while warm. In treating badly infected trees where only one application is made, better results may be secured by increasing the sulphur and lime each five pounds more than given in the above formula.

While the lime and sulphur washes are considered as a treatment for dormant trees, experience proves that where only one application is made, the treatment should be deferred as late as possible in the spring, owing to the fact that the effectiveness of the wash depends to a great extent upon its presence upon the trees after the breeding season begins. However, in cases of bad infestation it is best to give trees two treatments, one in the fall and the other in the spring, after the buds begin to open. For applying the solution select a good spray pump that has all its working parts brass and furnishes a constant high pressure. Use any of the nozzles that are suitable for applying Bordeaux mixture.

The spraying is somewhat disagreeable, and the solution is slightly corrosive so that the man doing the work should be provided with a rubber or oil skin coat, hat, gloves and a pair of goggles. It is a good plan to rub some vaseline on the hands and face to prevent the spray from irritating the flesh. The horses should be covered with blankets or old sacks. The aim should be to spray thoroughly and see that every part of the tree is thoroughly covered. In order that this may be done with facility the hose should be long enough to enable the man to reach all sides of the tree without moving the barrel.

Why Some Items of News Are Suppressed

We have been frequently asked why we did not publish the names of the winners in the raffles that are held here at intervals. The reason is obvious to any one reading the following section of the Postal Laws and Regulations in force since 1893. The section reads thus: "Nor shall any newspaper containing any advertisement of any lottery or gift enterprise of any kind offering prizes dependent upon lot or chance or containing any list of prizes awarded at the drawing of any such lottery or gift enterprise be carried in the mails or delivered by any postmaster or letter carrier." The term lottery as used in this section embraces all kinds of schemes, general or local, for the distribution of prizes by lot or chance, such as gift exhibitions or enterprises, concerts, raffles, or the drawing of prizes in money or property at fairs."

Mrs. Elizabeth Buxton Expires.

Mrs. Elizabeth Buxton aged 53, well known in this city, died at Corvallis last Friday after several months' illness. She was born in Illinois and had resided in Corvallis several years where her husband, Edward, is engaged in business.

Mrs. Buxton was prominent in Eastern Star circles. She leaves four children--Miss Minnie Buxton, George Buxton, both of Portland; Mrs. Daisy Sloan of this city and Harry B. Buxton of Corvallis. Four of her sisters reside in Portland. Mrs. Mary Shepherd, Mrs. L. K. Pearson, Miss Linn Roderick and Miss Ida Roderick.

The funeral was held in this city Sunday morning from the residence of her daughter Mrs. George O. Sloan. Rev. J. M. Barber, of Forest Grove was the officiating clergyman and the interment was at the Buxton cemetery. A large concourse of friends and acquaintances attended the funeral exercises.

Old Soldier Passes Away

James W. Wheeler died at his home in this city Monday morning after an illness of a few hours. Mr. Wheeler was a native of Michigan and was born in 1834. In 1878, he came to Oregon, remained a few years and returned to his home state. Ten years afterwards, he again came West, located in Seattle and subsequently settled in Washington county, near Hillside, where he operated a saw mill for five years. He then moved to Forest Grove where he and his wife have made their home for the last six years. In 1861 at the outbreak of the Civil War, he joined Battery F., light artillery of the First Michigan Volunteer regiment, and remained under arms throughout the entire struggle. In 1862, he was wounded at Richmond, Ky.

J. W. Wheeler was a member of the Congregational church, of Gale Grange and had just completed his term as commander of the G. A. R., J. B. Matthews Post of this city. He leaves besides his wife Julia M. two sons Edward, of Hillsboro, Ore., and Hobart, of California, also one sister Mrs. Julia L. Canfield, of Seattle and four brothers.

The funeral was held from the Congregational Church. Rev. H. Boyd officiating. Interment was at Naylor cemetery under the auspices of Gale Grange.

Surprise Party

The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Kinton was the scene of a very pleasant surprise last Friday evening when about twenty of their friends walked in to spend the evening.

The early part of the evening was spent in playing "Flinch" and "Sherlock Holmes" and about ten o'clock, refreshments consisting of ice-cream and cake, were served, after which the party adjourned voting it one of the most pleasant events of the season.

Besides the host and hostess, those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Markee, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll McNutt, and the Misses Bertha Williams, Kate and Theresa Stribich, Emma Staehr, Ivy Smith, Bess Ritchie, Mabel and Chloe Venen and Messrs. Harry Giltner, Robert Wirtz, Oscar Loomis, Herbert McNutt, Sam Todd, Carl Christian, Merle Markee and Master Guy McNutt.

Can She Save Them?

Many a poor mother who feels that those she holds most precious are gradually slipping away from her over the terrible precipice of disease, would be thankful to know what Doctor Pierce's wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" has done to restore thousands of weak and wasted children to complete rounded, rosy, healthy, activity and life. "Five years ago this last fall I was taken down with a fever and was very bad for several months," writes Mrs. Henrietta Bell, of Diamond, Ohio. She continues: "Finally recovered from the fever, then my lungs became very bad. The doctor said I had consumption, and that he had done all he could for me, and he did not think that I could get well. My case was a very dangerous one. I became very weak, had night-sweats, also a very bad cough, night and day. At times would spit blood. I felt as though my time on earth would be short. Requested my husband to get me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and perhaps it would help me. Before I had taken one bottle my cough was almost gone. The next to disappear were the night-sweats. I am almost sure that if it had not been for your medicine I would not have been here to-day."

If mothers will only write to Dr. Pierce concerning the ailments of their family he will send them sound and valuable advice in a plain sealed envelope, and without any charge whatever. His remarkably wide experience has qualified him to deal with diseases which baffled the local practitioner. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
