Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the greatest blood and liver medicine known. It positively and permanently cures every humor, from Pimples to Scrofula. It is the Best Blood Medicine.

Looking in the Future.
 Mrs. Bacon—I see by this paper that Alexander Wilkinshaw of London uses his arm as a genealogical tree. It has been tattooed with dates. In addition to his own and his wife's birth dates and the record of their marriage he has the name and date of the birth of each of his children.
 Mr. Bacon—If Alexander should happen to lose his wife and go courting again it might be embarrassing for him to have his family around the girl so much of the time.—Yonkers Statesman.

DISSECTING A BILLION.

Its Arithmetical Symbol Simple, Says Henry Bessemer.

One billion! What is it? Its arithmetical symbol is simple and without much pretension, says London Answers.

Let us briefly take a glance at it as a measure of time, distance and weight. As a measure of time, I would take one second as the unit and carry myself in thought through the lapse of ages back to the first day of the year 1 of our era, remembering that in all those years we have 365 days and in every day just 86,400 seconds of time. Hence, in returning in thought back again to this year of grace 1905, one might have supposed that a billion of seconds had long since elapsed, but this is not so for it takes just 31,687 years, 17 days 22 hours, 45 minutes and 5 seconds to constitute a billion of seconds of time.

Let us try in imagination to arrange a billion sovereigns for inspection. Let us put one on the ground and pile upon it as many as will reach twenty feet in height; then let us place numbers of similar columns in close contact, forming a straight line and making a sort of wall twenty feet high. Imagine two such walls running parallel to each other and forming, as it were, a long street. It is not until we have extended our imaginary street to a distance of 2,386 1/2 miles that we shall have presented for inspection our 1,000,000,000 of coins.

Or, in lieu of this arrangement, we may place them flat upon the ground, forming one continuous line like a long golden chain, with every link in close contact. But to do this we must pass over land and sea, mountain and valley, desert and plain, crossing the equator and returning around the southern hemisphere through the trackless ocean, retrace our way again across the equator, then still on and on until we again arrive at our starting point, and when we have thus passed a golden chain round the huge bulk of the earth we shall be but at the beginning of our task. We must drag this imaginary chain no less than 703 times around the globe. Such a chain would require for its transport no less than 2,325 ships, each with a full cargo of 3,000 tons. Even then there would be a residue of 447 tons, representing 61,081,920 sovereigns.

For a measure of height, let us take the thin sheets of paper on which these lines are printed. If laid out flat and firmly pressed together, as in a well-bound book, these would represent a measure of about 1-333 of an inch in thickness. Let us see how high a dense pile formed by a billion of these thin paper leaves would reach. We must, in imagination, pile them vertically upward, by degrees reaching to the height of our tallest spires; and passing these, the pile must still grow higher, topping the Alps and Andes and the highest peaks of the Himalayas. Still pile on your thousands and millions of thin leaves, for we are only beginning to rear the mighty mass. Add millions on millions of sheets and thousands of miles on these, and still the number will lack its due amount. When our one billion sheets are superimposed upon each other and pressed into a compact mass they have reached an altitude of 47,348 miles!

Degrees of Kicks.
 "Let me tell you something, Sam," said the overseer; "the blow of a whale's tail is the strongest animal force in the world; the kick of a giraffe is second, and the stroke of a lion's paw the third."
 "Oh, well, I s'pose, boss, by de time dey gets down to de kick of a mule dey'd have us believe it is just a gentle lub tap."

A Hasty Remark.—Now, Tommy, I want you to be good while I am out."
 "I'll be good for a nickel," was Tommy's modest offer. "Tommy," said the mother, "I want you to remember that you cannot be a son of mine unless you are good for nothing."
 Rigid Devotion to Duty.—"What possible comfort can you take," asked his wife, "in sitting on the pier and fishing all day for half a dozen little ring perch?" "I have the comfort of knowing," replied Mr. Kydoodle, sternly, "that I am standing out against the infamous beef trust!"

Marmaduke—Before we were married she used to say "by-by" so sweetly when I went down the steps. Montmorency—And what does she say now?
 Marmaduke—Oh, just the same thing, "buy, buy." Montmorency—Ah, I see! She exercises a different spell over you.—Washington Life.

"What sort of breakfast food do you like, Mr. Newcome?" asked Mrs. Starvem on his first morning in her house. "Well, ma'am," replied the new boarder, "I wouldn't mind some tenderloin steak, a couple of poached eggs on toast, lamb chops, hot muffins, coffee and cantaloup."—Philadelphia Press.

"We don't want no flyin'-machines," said Mr. Erastus Pingley, emphatically. "Dem automobiles is bad enough." "Do you think flyin'-machines will be worse than automobiles?" "Yass, I does. When you is hit by an automobile dar you is; but when you is hit by a flyin'-machine you ain't throo yit. You has a long, hard drop comin'."—Scissors.

The musical-instrument seller had succeeded at last in working off a cheap fiddle on a customer at four times its value. "Where shall I send it?" he inquired. "To 914—street. My flat is on the third floor." The fiddle-dealer's face fell. He had moved with his family the day before to the flat on the second floor of No. 914—street, on a three years' agreement.—The Wasp.

Not Yet Gone.
 "The age of miracles has gone," declared the Cynic.
 "No, it hasn't," said the Woman. "My husband told me this morning that he noticed I was wearing last year's hat, and gave me money to buy a new one."—Baltimore American.

A girl whose parents call her "daughter" is pretty sure to be a mighty nice girl.

Good Old Nurse.—Mrs. Callahan—Molke! Molke! Wek up; ut's toime 't take y' incomnia midicine.
 "I notice you never wear a watch with your evening clothes." "No; I never have both out at the same time."—Grit.

Emeline—Well, this world's a stage. Elizabeth—Yes; and the scenery is so much more satisfactory than the cast.—Brooklyn Life.

"At last," exclaimed Darwin, "I have discovered the missing link!" And reaching under the bureau he drew forth the other cuff-button.—Chicago News.

It Depends.—"Papa, what's a man who runs an auto called?" "It depends on whether he is being called by his employer or by the man he has just missed."

Caller—Your daughter, I am told, stands at the head of her class in ancient languages. Mrs. Lansling—Yes, Julie is quite a latitudinarian.—Chicago Tribune.

Yes, 'Tis True.—Adams—Do you believe it is a sign of good luck to find a horseshoe on the road? Johnson—Of course; it is a sign of good luck for some blacksmiths.

"When a man stahts in braggin' about how honest he is," said Uncle Eben, "it allus kind of sounds to me like he was 'pologizin' for not being' mo' so."—Washington Star.

Considerate.—"Why is that picture turned toward the wall?" "O, that is a haying scene, and we have to hide it whenever Uncle Thomas visits us, because he is a hay fever sufferer."

Vicar's Daughter—Well, Mrs. Mulligan, did you go to church on Monday to see my sister married? Mrs. Mulligan—No, miss; I don't take no interest in weddin's—I've been to one!

Hard To Get At.—"My lord, there is honor among thieves." The justice looked at him severely. "There is gold in sea-water," he replied. "But it cannot be extracted in profitable quantities."

Hoskins—I don't object so much to Fanny kissing her dog, but I prefer her to kiss me before and not after. Wilkins—I know; but don't you suppose the dog has his preference, too?—Boston Transcript.

Little Maggie (who has company)—We've been playing garden party, mamma. Mamma—Indeed! And did you behave nicely? Little Maggie—Oh, I didn't have to behave. I was the hostess.—New Yorker.

"Ah!" said Bragg, with a view to making Miss Brightly jealous, "I was alone for a quite a while last evening with one whom I admire very much." "Ah!" replied Miss Brightly, "alone, were you?"—Catholic Standard.

"Yes," said the bride of a week. "Jack tells me everything he knows and I tell him everything I know." "Indeed!" rejoined the ex-rival. "The silence when you two are together must be oppressive."—Home Chat.

Merchandise Rabbit Trapping.
 It is confidently stated that the shocking cruelties of the steel trap in common use for catching rabbits can readily and cheaply be prevented by twisting a few turns of copper or brass wire closely around each jaw, below the teeth, where the spring flies up, so as to insure the teeth being always fixed a full quarter of an inch open when the trap is sprung. Rabbits are thus caught with equal ease, and when taken out of the traps are found uninjured. To complete their purpose, the traps must be placed far down in the holes and be regularly visited early and late. These modified traps are most successful, with advantages relative to food, while dogs, cats and birds derive proportionate freedom from suffering when trapped by mistake.

Unenthusiastic.
 "Be studious, my son," said the habitual adviser, "and you may have a tablet in the Hall of Fame."
 "Yes," answered the cautious youth, "and be pointed out as an example of what ordinary people get in while real genius is excluded."—Washington Star.

Sisterly Regret.

BLOOD POISON THE BLACK FLAG

The black flag is an emblem of horror and dread. When it is hoisted by an army, the order has gone forth that "no quarter" will be given, everything must be destroyed. Helpless women and children, as well as opposing soldiers, meet the same fate, and a trail of desolation, suffering and death is left behind. Contagious Blood Poison is the black flag of the great army of disease. This vile disorder is known as the blackest and most hideous of all human afflictions, overthrowing its victims and crushing out the life. It is no respecter of persons; no matter how pure the blood may be or how innocently the disease is contracted, when this awful virus enters the circulation the hideous, hateful and humiliating symptoms begin to appear, and the sufferer feels that his very presence is polluting and contaminating. Usually the first sign of the disease is a little sore or ulcer, but as the blood becomes more deeply poisoned the severer symptoms are manifested, the mouth and throat ulcerate, the glands in the groins swell, a red rash breaks out on the body, the hair and eyebrows come out, and often the body is covered with copper-colored spots, pustular eruptions and sores. In its worst stages the disease affects the nerves, attacks the bones and sometimes causes tumors to form on the brain, producing insanity and death. Not only those who contract the poison suffer, but unless the virus is driven from the blood the awful taint is handed down to offspring, and they are its innocent victims. Blood Poison is indeed a "black flag." Mercury and Potash, so often used, never can cure the trouble. These minerals merely drive the symptoms away for awhile and shut the disease up in the system, and when they are left off it returns worse than before. This treatment not only fails to cure blood poison but eats out the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels, produces chronic dyspepsia, induces the teeth and frequently causes mercurial rheumatism to add to the patient's suffering. S. S. S., the great vegetable medicine, is the conqueror of this vile disease. It goes down to the very root of the trouble and cures by cleansing the blood of every particle of the poison. S. S. S. does not hide or cover up anything but clears the entire circulation of the virus and puts the system in good healthy condition. It cures safely as well as certainly, because there is not a particle of mineral in it. We offer a reward of $1,000.00 for proof that S. S. S. is not purely vegetable. When the blood is purified and strengthened with this great remedy the symptoms all pass away and no sign of the disease is ever seen again; nor is there left the least trace to be handed down to posterity. Special book with instructions for self-treatment and any medical advice desired will be sent without charge to all who write.

THE WINNING STROKE

If more than ordinary skill in playing brings the honors of the game to the winning player, so exceptional merit in a remedy ensures the commendation of the well informed, and as a reasonable amount of outdoor life and recreation is conducive to the health and strength, so does a perfect laxative tend to one's improvement in cases of constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc. It is all-important, however, in selecting a laxative, to choose one of known quality and excellence, like the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., a laxative which sweetens and cleanses the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects, as it acts naturally and gently on the internal organs, simply assisting nature when nature needs assistance, without gripping, irritating, or debilitating the internal organs in any way, as it contains nothing of an objectionable or injurious nature. As the plants which are combined with the figs in the manufacture of Syrup of Figs are known to physicians to act most beneficially upon the system, the remedy has met with their general approval as a family laxative, a fact well worth considering in making purchases.

It is because of the fact that SYRUP OF FIGS is a remedy of known quality and excellence, and approved by physicians that has led to its use by so many millions of well informed people, who would not use any remedy of uncertain quality or inferior reputation. Every family should have a bottle of the genuine on hand at all times, to use when a laxative remedy is required. Please to remember that the genuine Syrup of Figs is for sale in bottles of one size only, by all reputable druggists and that full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co., is plainly printed on the front of every package. Regular price, 50c per bottle.
