

Amending It.
"You got a typewritten copy of this in advance, didn't you?" asked the reporter of the party organ.
"Yes," replied the reporter of the opposition paper, "the speaker sent it in, even the 'cheers' and 'applause' in parenthesis."
"Well, then what are you taking down?"
"The 'cheers' and 'applause' and substituting 'cheers' and 'groans.'"

Stray Cow's Act.
A stray cow, picked up by the police on the South Side, nearly put the officer out of business and created lots of fun for the urchins in the neighborhood. The cow was captured by the newly appointed subpolice man, and, wishing to distinguish himself by an arrest, he determined to take the bovine to the station house. Procuring a rope, he fastened it to her horns and started down Cottage Grove avenue. The thoroughfare was slippery from a rainstorm, and in a liffy the policeman was sliding down the asphalt on his stomach, with the cow on a dead run. The officer was game and hung on to his captive for a square, when the boys headed the animal off. He landed his prisoner and then begged off for the night to clean up.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A Joke that Failed Twice.
Miss Adelbert had just returned from a vacation spent at a tiny village on the Maine coast. In recounting her experiences she talked somewhat for the benefit of a cousin, a quiet person, who was visiting her city relatives for the first time in many years.
"There was just one store in the place," said Miss Adelbert, "and they kept everything that is, everything they had to keep."
"One day I went in to buy some soap, and just on a venture I asked the clerk if they had Browning. He stared at me a second, then went off and looked under the counters and on the shelves."
"Presently he came back and said, 'No, miss, we ain't got none. We got blacking, an' we got bluing, an' we got whiting, but we ain't got a bit o' Browning in the store.'"
Miss Adelbert had to make several protests to assure her audience that this really happened. Finally the cousin asked, gravely, "But, Cousin Bert, why didn't you say varnish in the first place?"
There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A COLLEGE GIRL'S SUNDAY.
She Dodges Church and Devotes Her Time to Odd Jobs.
"The church of the future is to be womanless as well as manless, judging from the women's colleges," said the dean of a woman's college, according to the New York Press, "for it is only by the strictest discipline that we can induce the girls to attend church. They have all sorts of excuses why they should not attend divine worship and it's wonderful how many headaches develop Sunday morning. Almost every woman's college demands a church record from every student and it is only by keeping them under our thumbs in this way that we can be sure of their ever hearing a sermon during their college course. The college maiden's disinclination to church worship is not due to an irreligious spirit, but it's because she wants the day absolutely to herself to rest, to dream, to write letters home, to do the thousand and one things for which there is little time on recitation days."
"Many girls look forward to Sunday as the day when they may indulge in the luxury of late rising. They won't get up until 9 or 9:30, and then they get a chafing dish breakfast in their rooms. They say it rests them perfectly and puts them in the proper condition for the rush and grind which begins the next day. There are rumors that some of the students take Sunday as a mending day and, of course, such a practice would be stopped at once if we only had actual proofs of it; but such proofs are difficult to get. Sometimes it looks suspicious if a skirt binding which has been ripped all the week appears nicely sewed on Monday morning, but there is no reason why the sewing might not have been done Saturday afternoon or evening."
"Sunday the girls like to forget that they are in college and become merely the eternal feminine. They lay in a stock of good things on Saturday and invite two or three friends in to take supper with them Sunday evening. They wash out their handkerchiefs and stocks and clean their gloves. They get spots out of their skirts and straighten out their bureau drawers. They rearrange the furniture in their rooms so that it will look less monotonous. They go to call on some of the 'town people.' They revel in a kimono in the morning, because, they say, they are obliged to 'get into togs' every other day in the week. They read popular fiction of the day and discuss the marriage question."
"Sometimes they take long walks, but these walks are always attended by Sunday decorum and there is never any junketing Sunday. They seem to appreciate more the beauties of nature on that day and think less about autumn leaves making a 'gorgeous decoration for the sophomore dance,' or about the 'perfectly grand fried chicken and cream potatoes' that are served at some of the weather-beaten old farm houses."
"Sunday the college girl gives her domestic instincts free rein, but she won't go to church if she can possibly help it."

A CONSERVATIVE GIVER.

Squire Flanders was detailing the characteristics of the late Amos Bowden, one of his fellow townsmen, to Mr. Partridge, a new comer in Seymour.
"As a leading citizen, we rather expected Amos 'd do something handsome for the 'town,' said the squire; "remember it to the tune of a few thousand for a library, or something."
"And he didn't?" asked Mr. Partridge, with easy interest.
"He didn't," repeated Squire Flanders, dryly. "He didn't make any public bequests—at least, not any out-and-out ones. Some years ago his wife persuaded him to put a fountain in the square, in front of the postoffice, and the agreement was that he was to keep it in repair, the town to reimburse him for half the expense."
"You don't know what our winters are, but you will by spring," the squire continued, prophetically, "so you'll have to take my word for it that that fountain cost the town 'pre' near 's much' the schools. Every year, regular, the pipes had to be dug up, and new pieces put in where they'd froze up and bust, and after a while we owed Amos quite a little sum. In his will he canceled that obligation, and that was the extent of his remembering the village he was born and brought up in—and him close to the millionaire line."
Mr. Partridge smiled. "He wasn't what could be called a royal giver," he commented.
"Royal!" gasped the squire. "You couldn't have led him blindfolded up to the word. I'll tell you how Ed Vesey sized Amos up," he continued, with happy recollection. "If Amos was an ostrich," Ed said, "and was goin' to lay an egg, he'd sure lay a pewee's egg. An' he'd call it," says Ed, "keepin' on the safe side."

The Little Doctor in your Vest Pocket

SEE the thin, round-cornered little Enamel Box below! When carried in your vest pocket it means Health-Insurance. It contains Six Candy Tablets of pleasant taste, almost as pleasant as chocolate. Each tablet is a working dose of Cascarets, which acts like Exercise on the Bowels and Liver. It will not purge, sicken, nor upset the stomach. Because it is not a "Bile-driver," like Salts, Soda, Cathart, Calomel, Jalap, Senna, nor Aperient Waters. These waste Digestive Juices of the system needed tomorrow, in merely flushing out the Bowels today. Neither is it like Castor Oil, Glycerine, or other Oily Laxatives that simply lubricate the Intestines for transit of the food stopped up in them at that particular time. These emergency drugs relieve the immediate trouble, but do not relieve its Cause. The same trouble will therefore recur again till that Cause is removed permanently. The chief cause of Constipation and Indigestion is a weakness of the Muscles that contract the Intestines and Bowels. Cascarets are practically to the Bowel Muscles what a Massage and Cold Bath are to the Athletic Muscles.

They stimulate the Bowel Muscles to contract, expand, and squeeze the Digestive Juices out of food eaten. Cascarets do this naturally, without purging or discomfort. They don't help the Bowels and Liver in such a way as to make them lean upon similar assistance for the future. This is why, with Cascarets, the dose may be lessened each succeeding time instead of increased, as most will be with all succeeding doses of other Cathartics and Laxatives. Cascarets act like exercise. If carried in your Vest Pocket, (or carried in My Lady's Purse), and eaten just when you suspect you need one, you will never know a sick day from the ordinary ills of life. Because, nearly all these ills begin in the Bowels, and partial Constipation paves the way for many other Diseases. "Vest Pocket" box 10 cents. Be sure you get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company, and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

FREE TO OUR FRIENDS!
We want to send to our friends a beautiful French-designed GOLD-PLATED BONBON BOX beauty for the dressing table. Chinese Girls Stay at Home.
Chinese girls as a rule are not sent to school; the mother superintends their training in housework. As soon as the girls are old enough they are taught to cook, sew, make and mend clothes and indeed do all domestic work. But the enlightened Chinese sends his daughter to school when near a mission or some other school.
