THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1906.

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth dined with the king and queen of England last week. A high honor for the daughter of a former cattle man—but she is worthy of it.

Baker City gets $65,000.00; Eugene $50,000.00 and Salem $15,000.00. These cities at least, will rejoice in the fact that they get a "divy" out of the "sack."

The inexorable law of life spares neither the degenerate sons of first families, nor the eminent debauchees who bear a great name and follow an honorable profession. The way of the transgressor is hard and the wages of sin is death.

The citizen who doesn't value his right of suffrage highly enough to register ought not to be permitted to vote. Voting by certificate is a premium on fraud, indifference and neglect. There should be an end to it.—Oregonian.

Baker City offered the first victim as a sacrifice to the fourth of July toy pistol, this year in the person of Johnny Wiley. It is a good time for parents to put their stamp of disapproval on such dangerous toys. The use of such toy pistols is pernicious and dangerous.

A Venerable and Honorable Pioneer.

Hon. F. X. Matthieu, of old Champeo, the last survivor of that band of famous men who stood on the right side of the line drawn by the toe of the boot of Joe Meeks in 1843, and decided to stay with the Union, thereby making it possible for the grand Oregon of today, is probably the most popular and honored pioneer attending the Linn County Pioneers' picnic. Mr. Matthieu is 89 years old, but still retains his vitality to a wonderful degree. Brownsville feels honored by his presence here.—Brownsville Times.

Every Man His Own Law Maker.

Under the reign of U'Ren we have many new laws, some good, some bad, perhaps, and some impotent. Mr. U'Ren did it all, and the Legislature has so far ventured to interfere with some of his measures. It may some time, but probably not now. But if Mr. U'Ren is entitled to credit for it all, he is willing to accept blame for mistakes. For example, he relieves all others of responsibility in leaving the enacting clause off the anti-pass bill, and says that he alone is to blame. That is really quite handsome. Yet the public attention was repeatedly called during the campaign to the defect in the measure, but the people insisted on passing it by an overwhelming vote, possibly because all the U'Ren measures look alike to them. But there is nothing to complain about in the U'Ren method of doing things. All anybody else has to do is to hustle around and do the same thing. The way to be a lawmaker is to be a lawmaker.—Oregonian.

Another Washington County Man Breaks Into Legislature

State Senator-elect William T. Scholfield, of Clatsop County is a native of Oregon. He was born in Washington County on May 31, 1861, and is a son of Benjamin Scholfield, an Oregon pioneer of 1857, who has been for many years president of the State Board of Regents of the Monmouth Normal School. He is also a nephew of Judge J. Scholfield, of the Illinois Supreme Bench. Senator Scholfield was educated in the public schools of Washington County, and at the Portland Business College. On leaving school he came to Astoria and engaged in the grocery business, following it continuously until a few months ago, when, having accumulated a competency he retired from active business. Senator Scholfield has always been a staunch Republican and has taken an active interest in public matters, but this is the first time he has ever held or sought a public office. He is prominent in local business circles, and the large majority he received on election day attests the high esteem in which he is held throughout the county.

New York City furnishes the world with another sensation highly theatrical in its character, and fatal in its results. Harry Thaw, shot and instantly killed Stanford White, in the roof garden on Broadway. The telegraphic accounts reveal a phase of life among the idle rich that no self respecting, clean newspaper would care to set forth. The murder of Stanford White set forth in repulsive nudity a licentious little world of which the cafe district on Broadway in America's chief city, is the center. Stanford White was an architect of high standing and a son of a man of letters and a member of several literary societies and author's clubs—where he spent much of his time. Home seems to have entered little into his life for when his son returned from abroad he took to fashionable restaurants to dine and they spent their evenings at a roof garden. The mother does not seem to have figured much in the life of the elder White or his son Stanford. High ideals cannot be expected from one surrounded by people of low character and chorus girls and sons of the idle rich, a type of which may be found in Harry Thaw. "The murderer hadn't the remotest excuse for his crime. Didn't he know what sort of a woman he was marrying? When he gave her his name and his protection, didn't he take her record, whatever it was, also? After her marriage she was doubtless faithful. She did not even speak to White. It is evident that he brooded over the thought that another man could claim priority. He had no occupation except seeking low pleasures, no work to do, no high purpose in life, and he fed fat the hatred he bore the man who may have debauched a girl not then Thaw's wife. There was a fatal flaw in his title deed. It was a deliberate, cowardly murder. This tragedy is not going to check the pursuit and enjoyment of illicit pleasures. It will be a seven days' sensation, followed by a trial in which Thaw's money will probably save him from death by electricity. No law can be framed adequately to punish men guilty of what is charged by Thaw against White. Belasco may employ the facts divulged as the plot of a new problem play, made in America, not imported and adapted from the French.

Class Prophecy

The class of '06 Sixteen in its number 'Mid sorrows and joys, At last come to wonder.

If on life's troubled waters Now calm, now tempestuous, We gain the blest port Our class-mate has left us.

Yellowstone Park Special

At 7:00 a. m. Saturday, July 7, the Oregonian Yellowstone Park Special Train carrying the thirty-eight prize winners in the Oregonian Voting Contest, will leave Portland. In order to afford the many friends of the successful contestants an opportunity to accompany them on the trip, special rates have been made of $80.00 from Portland and The Dalles and $75.00 from Spokane, Pendleton, La Grande and Baker City, including rail and stage transportation, also between six and seven days meals and lodging in the Park and rate of $14.00, covering Pullman accommodations in both directions between Portland and Marysville, Idaho, the rail terminus, making a round-trip fare of $94.00, exclusive only of meals between Portland and Marysville. The Special will be run from Portland to Salt Lake City, where sufficient time will be allowed to permit passengers to see the sights of Utah's Capitol before the journey to the Yellowstone is continued. After spending about a week in the Park, the return trip to Portland including a side trip to Boise City will be commenced.

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspaper. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSARY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action."

Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsomia Can., Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of it: "I not long since had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsomia (medicinal principle extracted from Stone root) and is now attending to his business. I therefore physicians know of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all cured—no heartily its fearful ingredients directed that death was near at hand. Collinsomia unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system. Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure Constipation.

Girls who are fond of earrings may perhaps be interested in hearing a few facts about them. Sad it is for the emancipated woman of the present day to learn that these fashionable ornaments were originally a mark of slavery. In bygone days the slave always wore his master's earrings. In the east they were a sign of caste and were buried with the dead. Some ancient earrings were very elaborate, and many statues had their ears bored in readiness for votive offerings of earrings. In England the earliest earrings were very cumbersome and made of stone or wood. The eighteenth century saw the glorification of the earring, fashionable beauties outvying each other with the rarest and most beautiful jewels.—London Graphic. - Goldenrod Flour, guaranteed.
