IS THIS TRUE?

Down on Moss-Backism Writes a Knocker in the Sunday Mercury.

Forest Grove, Aug. 10.—Pessimistic! Well, in the language of Chim-mie Fadden, "I guess yes and 'den a whole lot."
Situating very prettily in one of the most fertile sections of the richest of states, Forest Grove has, notwithstanding, produced a heap more than double its quota of knockers which, in the past, contributed the adjective "Mossback" to our vocabulary. These objectionable anchors that have held from speedy advancement the craft of prosperity are rapidly disappearing from the confines of Oregon, yet Forest Grove retains only too many of this peculiar genius of being that has not yet been properly classified in natural history with the other insects of crawling things of the earth. Certainly a biographical or explanatory sketch of the "Mossback" could not appear in the same chapter with a description of the beasts of burden, as these knock-ers labor but little except as jawsmiths in decrying all that tends to uplift.
Why, it was only the other day that I heard three local past masters in the art of pessimistically bawling against the recently established trolley line.
I pay but little attention to the knocker so do not know what is the latest source of complaint, as the street car knock is getting stale and the Moss-back is nothing if not enterprising in digging up new sources of complaint daily if not hourly.

MERCHANTS INDIGNANT

The progressive merchants are becoming impatient. The town has depended largely upon the many German and other liberal farmers and residents of Scoggins Valley, Banks Greenville, Roy, Centerville and other hitherto contributing points, but now the people are growing more and more discontent with the "quiet times" as these purchasers drive in their wagons thru Forest Grove to Cornelius and even Hillsboro for their supplies as they enjoy a glass of beer occasionally when they come to town, and they are for-bidden that here.

All this, however, is changing and Forest Grove with its many natural advantages is now displaying symptoms of throwing off the yoke of mossback-ism, breaking the bottle of anesthetic supplied by the men so learned in all but worldly and progressive wisdom and from which they have obediently and regularly inhaled large doses of sleep.
From the very rear of the ranks of advancement Forest Grove will soon take its rightful place in the van of progress; the knockers will be hushed and all will club together in good fellowship and make for prosperity is the prophecy of the writer who, in his poor way, offers this in an effort to knock the knocker.

There is more truth in the above article than many of us would like to admit, even if it does appear in the Sunday Mercury. A knock of that kind is a hard blow. The paper is received by a large number of people who no doubt have read the above and have wondered what "that beautiful little city" has now been doing.
It remains for us to remedy this blow.
Let's wake up and come out of that "Mossbackism" for there's a lot of truth in this.

"BY THE WAY"

Miss Myrtle Butler was a Portland visitor Monday.
W. L. Wagner has returned from a visit with his daughter a Rainier.
Mrs. John F. Forbis and family of Dilley, were prominent guests at Hotel Portland last week.

One of the water meters has been installed at the Hancock & Gordon livery barn. Several have been placed by the city in different parts of town so that tests can be made. This move was necessary to remedy the evil of the waste of the city sprinkling.

Word was received here a few days ago that on August 25, a boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. LaFollette of Washington, D. C. Mrs. LaFollette, nee Lennie LaChappelle, was formerly a Forest Grove girl. Her husband is also well known, having attended the college here, but is now Senator Fulton's private secretary.

H. A. Rands of Oregon City, but well known here as a prominent student at the college, was appointed by Governor Chamberlain as one of the delegates from this state to the Irrigation Congress which met at Boise, Idaho, a few days ago. Mr. Rands is now one of the prominent civil engineers of this state.

Prof. Bach is in town week, having just returned from a month's outing at Newport. The professor will move his belongings to Salem Monday in order to be ready for the coming year's work at Willamette University. While at Newport he saw Dr. Coghill who was there collecting specimens for his biology work.
