The Congregational Church wishes to call attention to its Sunday Evening Services this Fall. The first Sunday evening of each month will have special musical features. The second evening will have a program devoted to a popular presentation of some notable religious movement at home or abroad. The third will be occupied by a lecture on some historic character in history. The fourth will have a sermon on some theme of peculiar present interest. See another column for next Sunday.

Mr. Weston, just outside of this city, finished his yard on Saturday and from reports has one of the best crops of the country. Mr. Weston had 15 acres of hops which yielded him 76,000 pounds of hops. When dried this will amount to about 21,000. As he has not yet contracted his crop, Mr. Weston may no doubt be a few dollars to the good. Experts from Portland, who have been after his hops claim they are in the finest condition and will demand a high price. On Saturday evening, when the yard was finished, nearly $1000 were paid out to the pickers and several pickers had averaged 300 pounds a day for the 8 1/2 days' picking.

Died.

In Portland, September 18, 1906, at the residence of his sister, Mrs. E. M. Sorber, 1236 East Eleventh street North, Walter E. Traver, aged 18 years, 6 months and 3 days. Body will be brought out on morning train.

A Narrow Escape.

Miss Theresa Stribich and Miss Pearl Smith, of this city, were the principals of a very exciting hop-yard happening at Hatcher's hop fields, North Yamhill, Wednesday evening, Sept. 12th, and a vicious cow was the cause of it all. The girls were on their way to the dance pavilion when the cow suddenly appeared and chased them to the edge of the Yamhill River. Miss Stribich, leaping from the high embankment, sought refuge in the waters below, where she remained with head above water until her companion had secured aid from the hop-pickers and put the cow to flight.

To Try Esther Mitchell.

Superior Judge Frazer of the Seattle court has set September 24, as the date for the trial of Esther Mitchell, charged with murdering her brother, George Mitchell. The date for the trial of Mrs. Creffield, who is charged jointly with the Mitchell girl, has not been set as yet. The charge against both women grew out of the shooting of Frans Creffield, the leader of the Holy Rollers, by George Mitchell in Seattle last May.
