Growth of Milk Industry Everywhere. Farmers Ought to Double Herds Here.

Over thirty thousand dollars' worth of improvements will be made by the Pacific Coast Condensed Milk Company to its condenser at Chehalis, Washington, in the near future. In commenting on this action on the part of the company, the Bee-Nugget of that city says: "Manager Sibley stated that during the last year their supply of milk has increased about 100 per cent, and they had hopes that the next year would show as large an increase. The investment of this sum of money in their plant in Chehalis demonstrates that the company has faith in the dairy industry of Lewis county. The supply of milk has been enormously increased within a comparatively short time. Lewis county's reputation as a dairying center is rapidly spreading, and there is hardly a week that one or more farmers do not start in this industry. Everything is here that contributes to successful dairying, and the price of land suitable for dairying purposes is very cheap compared to the prices in other localities with less advantages. The company is getting ready to handle an enormous amount of milk, and conditions justify them in thinking that the farmers will invest more heavily in stock, and that many others who have not hitherto engaged in the business will see its possibilities and stock their ranches with cows for dairy purposes."

It is easily seen that all the plants of the Pacific Coast Condensed Milk Company are thriving and always multiplying the amount of their product. They have brought a good industry into this county—an industry that brings a large amount of money into this vicinity. Why, does not the farmer enlarge his herd of cows? Every one that has entered the dairy business could just as easily double or treble the number of cows—it would mean twice or three times the amount of spot cash to our farmers.

Why is Not Church Attendance Greater in Forest Grove.

Rev. H. W. Boyd of the Congregational church, delivered a very interesting lecture Sunday evening. The subject of this lecture, "Why is not the Church attendance in Forest Grove larger?"—is one that certainly confronts the ministers of this city, especially at this time of the year, when there are so many bright, sunny Sundays and the thoughts of the people are turned to other pastimes than the attending of church services. Pastor Boyd during the course of his lecture gave those present a very clear idea of the number of residents of this city that attended church. "Out of the 2000 which go to make up the population of Forest Grove, less than one-half make a pretense of frequenting the places of worship." He further said, "Out of the 2000 there is perhaps 800 who could regularly go to some one of the churches, yet, there is but 400 that really number upon the roll of the regular church-goers of this city." Rev. Boyd directed most of his remarks upon the possible 400 that could just as well attend every Sunday. He had the number divided into different classes, as to the excuses they present for not attending services. It was very interesting and those present clearly understood the truth of his remarks, and no doubt some of the reverend's words struck home to many of those who occupied the pews.

Good Hunting Here for President

The officials of the Harriman lines in this state are trying to get the President of the United States to go after the big game in Oregon. "Teddy" could find some good bear hunting a little ways from Forest Grove and lots of the farmers would appreciate his killing off some of the bear that have been doing so much damage around here this year. The deer is also plentiful. General Passenger Agent McMurray says: "Personal efforts on the part of a few have already yielded fruits along this line, and some good game pictures are coming in to show what we have in Oregon. Some of them show in striking degree the abundance of deer and fish. There are also some splendid specimens of the cougar and bear. It is especially desired that photographs of bear be sent in. Mr. McMurray asks that hunters take the trouble to secure photographs wherever possible of the game taken by them. Country photographers are asked to furnish pictures at usual prices. It is believed since the hunting trip of Jim Jeffries and his associates, who have hunted big game in many places, that Oregon has not been half advertised as a game country. Jeffries was immensely surprised and pleased, it is said, with the great abundance of fine game found in the Cascade Range, and has declared that Oregon is the only hunting ground for him henceforth."

May be Disappointed.

Denatured alcohol, while it will undoubtedly prove of great benefit to the industries of the country, may turn out to be something of a disappointment after the extravagant claims that have been made for it. At least this seems to be the case from the information obtained by Commissioner of Internal Revenue John W. Yerkes, who has just returned from a European trip during which he studied the industry there, says a report from Washington city.

The commissioner finds that as yet the use of denatured alcohol for household heating and general domestic purposes, and as power for automobiles etc., is limited, and it is not much used as an illuminant, although he thinks that with the development of improved lamps it will take the place of oil. The difficulty seems to be the lack of development of suitable machinery and equipment for utilizing the alcohol. While progress may be slow at first, it is safe to predict that American inventive genius will come to the front and provide ways and means for making the best use of what is known to be a valuable agent for giving power, heat, and light.

Mr. Yerkes found that in England denatured alcohol is usually made by a combination of wood alcohol with mineralized naphtha as an agent, and in France the method is much the same. The Germans use wood alcohol with bone oil as an agent. The commissioner will endeavor to select the best method for use in this country, having in view the ingredients that can be most easily secured here. He has begun framing the regulations and was to have them ready about Oct. 1, though the law does not provide for the manufacture of denatured alcohol until January 1, 1907.—Ex.

The local paper should be found in every home. No children should grow up ignorant who can be taught to appreciate the home paper. It is said to be the stepping stone of intelligence in all those matters not to be found in books. Give your children a foreign paper which contains not a word about any person, place or thing, which they saw or perhaps ever heard of, and how could you expect them to be interested. But let them have the home paper and read of people whom they meet and of places of which they are familiar and soon an interest is awakened which increases with every arrival of the local paper. Thus a habit of reading is formed and those children will read the papers all their lives and become intelligent men and women, a credit to their ancestors, strong in knowledge of the world as it is today.—Ex.

MEXICO'S EXHIBIT AT JAMESTOWN

Sister Republic to Send Warships and Troops With Elaborate Display of Mineral Resources, Industries and Works of Art

There is today invested in mines, railroads, industrial, ranches and agricultural enterprises not less than $600,000,000 of good American capital and more is going in every day. The mines of Mexico, especially those of the states of Sonora and Sinaloa are just now attracting the attention of the investing world because of the immense bodies of ore, particularly copper, which have developed there during the past five years.

The greatest names in present day American finance are associated with these mining ventures, as they are with the great railroads of our sister republic, and wherever our dollars may happen to be there also may be found some of our heart interest.

A long time ago Alexander von Humboldt said of Mexico: "Here is the treasure house of the world." The world is just now coming to a full realization of what Humboldt meant. He had in mind the mineral wealth and developments have proved his judgment true. But Mexico has other treasures and under the wise and able government of President Diaz these have been exploited to such an extent that in natural resources Mexico is today considered one of the richest of all the countries of the world, and she is losing no opportunity to inform the world of the opportunities that lie within her borders awaiting only the touch of capital to change them into the golden realities.

For the people of the United States, Mexico has always possessed a strong attraction. The fascination that hangs about her ancient civilization, the glamour of the Spanish conquest, the charm of her antiquities and the picturesque manner, and customs of her people have made old Mexico an object of interest from very early times. In these days, especially during the winter season, the flow of tourists to the land of Montezumas is larger than generally supposed. The kindly feeling existing between the sister republics makes it certain that the exhibit to be made by Mexico at the Jamestown Exposition will be worthy of her greatness. She will send troops, ships and her best musicians in addition to many historical treasures never before placed on exhibition at an international exposition.

Indian basketry and pottery, Aztec relics of war and husbandry, carved leather goods, drawn work, filigree jewelry, Toltic and Maya idols and antiquities, Indian textiles, old Spanish relics, and interesting historical objects of the conquest, and the later empire will form an attractive part of the exhibit.

But this will be only a beginning, for Mexico has an industrial side to exploit. She has factories turning out almost everything that may be classed as a necessity, she has immense breweries and smelters, great textile mills, canneries, machine shops and rope walks. She could make a great railroad exhibit, a mining display that would astonish the world, and she has a wealth of art treasures that any nation might envy.

President Diaz and his ministers and governors are taking great interest in the Ter-Centennial of Jamestown's settlement and it is expected that the flag of Mexico will fly, at Norfolk, over the finest Mexican exhibit ever made at any exposition.

The Farmer's Wife

She is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood. If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as testified by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicine and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.
