By the "Devil"

How many pheasants did you get yesterday?—Bet you had a "bird" of a name anyway.

A young bachelor of this city lately took a vacation to the hop fields, but on arriving home found his baggage, including bedding and cooking utensils, out in the street. Needless to say he is now looking for a home(?)

A merry crowd of serenaders were out a few nights ago to make life miserable for a newly married couple. It seems that they after all were real sufferers for the "honey-mooners" did not return on the intended train and that awful noise was all in vain.

People should not always be in such haste to enter the bonds of matrimony, often they lose wonderful opportunities. As an example—one of our prominent business men has a lady friend who only yesterday "got next to herself" (as the old saying goes) and on meeting him at his place of business exclaimed, "Well, and so you're married, and you so young and good looking!"

The offer of "money back if not satisfactory" is regarded by most merchants with fear and trembling. However one man happily solved the problem, offering to return the money and protecting himself against loss. He is a baker and his advertisement in a country paper, read: "Eat one loaf of our bread and bring it back if it is not satisfactory and we will refund your money."

You Can Easily Operate This Typewriter Yourself.

Don't worry your correspondent. Don't write him anything by hand that takes time to make out—that may leave him in doubt—that he can't easily read.

And don't fill out legal papers or card memos—or make out accounts or hotel menus in your own handwriting. It looks bad, reflects on your standing makes people think you can't afford a stenographer and is sometime ambiguous. You can write out your letters, make out an abstract, fill in an insurance policy, enter your card memos, make out your accounts, or a hotel menu, or do any kind of writing you need, on any kind, size or thickness of paper, and space any way you want on

The OLIVER Typewriter

The Standard Visible Writer

You can write any of these things yourself if you do not happen to have a stenographer.

For you can easily learn, with a little practice, to write just as rapidly, and as perfectly, as an expert operator on the OLIVER. Because the OLIVER is the simplified typewriter. And you can see every word you write. About 80 per cent more durable than any other typewriter, because it has about 80 per cent less wearing points than most other typewriters. 80 per cent easier to write with than these other complicated, intricate machines that require "humoring"—technical knowledge—long practice and special skill to operate.

Than machines which cannot be adjusted to any special space—with which it is impossible to write abstracts, insurance policies, or odd-sized documents except you buy expensive special attachments requiring experts to operate. You can adjust the OLIVER to any reasonable space—you can write on any reasonable size and thickness of paper, right out to the very edge, without the aid of an expensive attachment or special skill, and your work will be neat appearing, legible and clear.

For the OLIVER is the typewriter for the doctor, the lawyer, the insurance agent, the merchant, the hotel proprietor—or any man who does his own writing.
