THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1906

The Tillamook Headlight upon receiving a copy of The News, containing a report of the meeting of the directors of the Pacific Coast Condensed Milk Company, nearly had a fit. In the editorial in last week's paper the following was printed: "The Washington County News makes this astonishing announcement: 'Washington County is to be the leading dairy county in Oregon in a few years.' My! Washingtonians will have to get a move on, get up early, go to bed late and move that county west of the range before it can hope to make a start to catch up to Tillamook, the leading dairy county in Oregon. We are glad to know that Tillamook is having a rival, but it will be a long time before any county in Oregon can outdistance this county for dairying." It seems that the pace we have set among in the dairy business has got the rest of our neighbors across the mountains. Of course, we are practically new in this enterprise, but within a short time our prophecy will come true. Tillamookers, do not become jealous of our growing industry. You have had the leading dairy county of the state but from now on it shall be up to you to hustle and remain at the top, if you do not wish Washington County to be the leading dairy county of Oregon. We are growing every day.

Complications have now arisen concerning the placing of the track back of the business houses, clear through from Pacific Avenue to First Avenue North. It seems that some of the land owners have small broken strips of land on each side of the alley running through back of the stores making it impossible for the company to approach very near the rear entrance of the business houses of the north end of the block. A lease to enable the laying of the track across some of the property, from the owners was tried in vain, which would have made it possible to turn in to the stores. It is now said that the company will use its franchise to run a spur as far as Miller's drug store on Main Street, south from first Avenue North. Why do not these property owners look forward to the beautifying of the city when they have been offered a good price for the use of their land for a certain period. There isn't any use of having another spur running half way south on the Main street from 1st Avenue. This will only add in blocking the way when freight is unloaded every day. It will fill up our streets, our sidewalks and would cause much worry among the workers of the Civic Improvement Society. The alley back of the stores is the place for the freight car, and why not put it there?

Washington County is being spoken of these days in political circles through its senator, E. W. Haines, who is a candidate for the presidency of the Senate. Although there are at present several strong men aspiring for the position, it is said that Mr. Haines is gaining support every day, and these are not only in the camp of the Haines boomers, but many of the opposite factions have lately come over to the Haines' fort. Hodson seems to be a strong candidate against our senator. Encouraging reports are heard almost every day, reinforcing the faction of the senator from Washington county. It seems to be a case of dividing up with Multnomah County, which always wants a finger in the pie. Well, let Multnomah have the speakership of the house, we have the man for the presidency of the senate.

Push has made American men what they are today. It is the great American spirit condensed into a monosyllable. Hand in hand with push goes publicity as a motive power toward success. The two are so close that it is difficult to know them apart. The man of push is a champion of publicity. If he has a good thing he wishes the public to know about it. If he has goods to sell there must be push and publicity if he would convert those goods into income. What is the use of having the goods to sell if no one knows of them? How are the buyers to be found? Push and publicity will provide the articles to be sold and the persons to buy them. Push and publicity are the antidotes of stagnation and starvation.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Since the appointment of Francis J. Heney as deputy district attorney at San Francisco to investigate the graft charges against Abe Ruef and others, the land frauds will be taken up by United States Attorney Bristol. This will bring the land fraud trials at a much earlier date. If Mr. Heney is entangled in the investigation of the graft charges in San Francisco it will mean that he will have urgent business in the Bay City for some little time. In that event it will be impossible for him to return to Oregon to take up the trial of the Oregon cases on schedule time. If it is found therefore, that Mr. Heney's duties will keep him in San Francisco for a long period of time, Mr. Bristol will begin the trial of the land cases as soon as a judge can be sent to Portland to preside over the cases.

The editor of the North American Review, in the current issue, announces his conviction "that the time has arrived when the welfare of the nation would be most effectually conserved by conferring upon women the right of voting and holding political office." He holds that the right to the franchise is not an inherent one, and therefore has no sympathy with those who claim it on those terms. He closes the long editorial saying, "For the purposes, therefore, of purifying the ballot, of establishing and maintaining lofty standards as to the qualifications required of candidates for public office, of effecting an even distribution of earnings, of providing a heavier balance of disinterestedness and conservatism against greed and radicalism, we reiterate the expression of our firm belief that universal suffrage has now become not only desirable, but almost a paramount necessity."

That Forest Grove is now prospering and on a boom is plainly seen by the great number of houses that are filling up every day. Vacant houses are now few in number and this speaks well for any city. It shows that the town is wide awake and that the large number of strangers coming here every day know a good residence town when they see it.

THE FAIR OF 1909.

Seattle People buy $650,000 Worth of Stock in Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition Assuring its Success.

A ten million dollar fair three years from now—that is what the town of Seattle, the state of Washington, and the Pacific Northwest are looking forward to. The start has been made. A wonderful start, by the raising of $650,000 in one day through the sale of stock in the exposition corporation.

October 2 was a gala day in Seattle, the biggest day of the Washington metropolis ever had. It was known as Subscription Day; the Mayor, by proclamation, made it a holiday, and the slogan "Everybody Helps," adopted by Will H. Parry, chairman of the way, and means committee, was made a reality. There was a constant flow of checks and gold up the elevators to the fifteenth story of the Alaska building, where the temporary headquarters of the exposition have been established.

The fair already gives promise of a scope yet unattained by western enterprises. The name, Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, contributes an idea of the general nature of the show. It will be primarily an Alaska fair, held to exploit to the world the resources of the little-known northland, and in this connection will be gathered the most remarkable mining display ever shown at a world's fair. The gold that made the country originally famous will be told of through specimens and photographs and machinery, and the other ores more recently discovered, will have proper representation. And more important, the agricultural and industrial possibilities will be effectively exploited.

Besides Alaska, the great Yukon country will contribute samples of its untold wealth, and the islands of the sea will show their marvels. One of the principal objects of the exposition will be to bring together in trade the shores of the Pacific. With a population ten times as great as the United States, occupying a territory three times the size of Uncle Sam's domain, Asia and Oceania produce enormous quantities of ware which Americans might use, while on the other hand, they need millions of dollars worth of goods made in America. To bring the two together, through the medium of exhibits, will be the object of the Seattle fair.

State participation in the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition is already a certainty, and the United States Government is counted upon to put up a building or series of buildings, and make a display worthy of the richness of the land. The western states learned through the Lewis and Clark fair held last year, the advantages to be gained through generous participation in national exhibitions, and can be counted upon to make even better displays than those which helped make the 1905 show attractive. Oregon is certain to have a fine building, stuffed with products, and California, always a good show state, will be there. Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado and the other states, as well as the British possessions to the north, will be adequately represented.

With nearly three years remaining before the exposition, the beginning of preparation has already been made. The Washington University grounds, comprising 355 acres, bordering on Lake Washington and Lake Union, have been chosen as a site, and landscape gardening will soon be begun. The site is situated twenty minutes' ride from the center of the city, and is in every way adapted to its purpose.

You Can Easily Operate This Typewriter Yourself.

Don't worry your correspondent. Don't write him anything by hand that takes time to make out—that may leave him in doubt—that he can't easily read. And don't fill out legal papers or card memos—or make out accounts or hotel menus in your own handwriting. It looks bad, reflects on your standing makes people think you can't afford a stenographer and is sometime ambiguous.

You can write out your letters, make out an abstract, fill in an insurance policy, enter your card memos, make out your accounts, or a hotel menu, or do any kind of writing you need, on any kind, size or thickness of paper, and space any way you want on

The OLIVER Typewriter

The Standard Visible Writer

You can write any of these things yourself if you do not happen to have a stenographer.

For you can easily learn, with a little practice, to write just as rapidly, and as perfectly, as an expert operator on the OLIVER. Because the OLIVER is the simplified typewriter. And you can see every word you write. About 80 per cent more durable than any other typewriter, because it has about 80 per cent less wearing points than most other typewriters.

80 per cent easier to write with than these other complicated, intricate machines that require "humoring"—technical knowledge—long practice and special skill to operate.

Than machines which cannot be adjusted to any special space—with which it is impossible to write abstracts, insurance policies, or odd-sized documents except you buy expensive special attachments requiring experts to operate.

You can adjust the OLIVER to any reasonable space—you can write on any reasonable size and thickness of paper, right out to the very edge, without the aid of an expensive attachment or special skill, and your work will be neat appearing, legible and clear.

For the OLIVER is the typewriter for the doctor, the lawyer, the insurance agent, the merchant, the hotel proprietor—or any man who does his own writing.
