

THE LEADING SCHOOL

THERE IS A REASON FOR THE

Popularity of the Behnke-Walker Business College—We do good work and our students are well qualified and as a result, well satisfied. A great business educator, after visiting ALL the business colleges, says:

"In classifying schools, I rank yours as one of the six leading business colleges of the country."

In this estimate he considered our unsurpassed equipment, our progressive methods, our superior teachers, our unparalleled success in placing our graduates, and all that determines the merit of a business college. Send for catalogue.

COLLEGE NEWS

(From the Index)

President Ferrin was in Portland yesterday.

A. C. Allen has been on the sick list the last few days.

Miss Jennie Underwood registered yesterday in the Commercial Department.

Quite a crowd of school people attended the college song service at C. F. Clapp's last Friday.

Victor E. Albright, head of oratory and debate here last year, is now taking post graduate work at Columbia University, New York.

W. B. Shively, Jr., P. U. '05, was out from Portland, Sunday. As Editor Hogue once said, these weekly pilgrimages of Shive's are beginning to make us curious.

Charlie Bollinger, who attended school here a couple of years ago and a prominent member of Gamma Sigma, was visiting old friends at the University last week.

The friends of the Misses Templeton regret very much that their parents must move to Hood River. Florence will accompany them, but Maverne will remain in school.

Horace Thomas, former editor-in-chief of the Index, who has been on the Oregonian since his graduation is writing up special dope for the New Year's edition.

Miss Adams, the violinist who played here with Mrs. Lulu Tyler Gates, was thrown from a carriage at McMinnville last week and suffered a broken shoulder blade and other injuries. She was one of the star performers and her absence will be a big loss to the company.

Jonathan Suburban Hiltz says that he had the funniest dream last night that has ever entered the brain of man. He dreamed that he started out to find a job and finally came to a big brick building covering several blocks. He went and told the chief mogul that he was hunting for a light occupation. The fellow put him to work packing matches.

The Alpha Zeta society enjoyed the privilege of listening to Mr. Akiyoshi's first speech before an American audience, or in the English language. Mr. Akiyoshi gave an interesting description of the rites by which the Japanese celebrate the events of birth, marriage and death. The birth of a child is a cause for the presentation of numerous gifts to the parents by friends. One of the most common forms of presents is eggs in number proportional to the circumstances of the parents. When the first American baby was born in Japan its family were the recipients of several thousand eggs together with other presents, and all the friends offered condolences because the child was not a boy.

The ceremony of marriage consists of the contracting parties drinking three times out of three separate wine glasses. The civil contract is made by official registration and as this is often omitted divorces are easily obtained. The funerals are very formal and expensive. The two principal religions of Japan—Shintoism and Buddhism, give rise to two different forms of burial. One noticeable distinction is that in the Shinto funeral the coffin is a box which fits the body like an American coffin, while the Buddhists use a square or round coffin into which the corpse is forced in a squatting posture.

The music of the evening was furnished by the quartette and Mr. Gould. Gould played a cornet solo. The debate was on the question Resolved: That a college education destroys originality. The affirmative of the question was successfully maintained by Ferrin and Knight who were opposed by Markel and Chas. Ward. Armonst criticized the program.

Basketball is on in dead earnest now and Manager Ferrin has a fine schedule of games with teams outside of the league. It was a mighty wise move on Pacific's part to withdraw from that organization. Fourteen

FIRST CARRIAGE IN MAINE.

How a Minister Came to Buy It and Why He Sold It.

The Rev. Francis Winter was a native of Boston and a graduate of Harvard college. He went to Bath early in 1767 and, after preaching on probation for the orthodox church, was invited to settle, which invitation he accepted. He was ordained in the autumn of the same year. He went to Bath on horseback in company with Lemuel Standish. Mr. Winter came from Boston, where he had associated with such eminent men as Adams, Otis and Warren, himself becoming an ardent patriot, taking the lead in the Revolutionary measures adopted in Bath during that memorable period.

Mr. Winter married Miss Abigail Alden in 1768, and it is through her that the Winters of today trace their ancestry back to the "Puritan Maiden of Plymouth."

Three years after the marriage of the Rev. Francis Winter and Abigail Alden they started to visit a sister of Mrs. Winter living in Connecticut and intended to ride all the way on horseback, but Mrs. Winter became so fatigued that Mr. Winter sold one of the horses for a carriage and harness. It was the first carriage that ever came into Maine and was called a chaise. Traveling was so difficult that two negroes were employed to accompany them with shovels and axes to clear the road. Several times the chaise had to be taken apart and lifted over fallen trees. The minister's parishioners thought that it was putting on too much style for their pastor to ride in a carriage, and in consequence Mr. Winter sold it. This was in 1771. It was a two wheeled chaise, the body resting on leather braces, which were attached to wooden springs.—Lewiston Journal.

games would have meant a game every Friday night for two months and a half. That is too big a schedule for the men to handle and then we could not have financed seven games at home without putting the management way up the line in the red ink column.

The present schedule calls for a game in Corvallis with the Aggies Dec. 17, with a return game here later in the season. We go to Dallas, Dec. 21 and they come here in February, and Weston Normal plays here Feb. 2. Some of last year's star players, Calif. White and Bollinger have organized a team in Oregon City and our bunch will no doubt meet them there, and then a couple of games with the Chemawa Indians are cinched for the second team.

A carpenter has been engaged to put an annex on to the north side of the gym for the spectators. It will seat about one hundred people and the building may be lighted with a big electric arc.

In a letter from Harvey W. Gates, who is now running a grocery store in partnership with his father at Chehalis, he states that it is very probable that he will be back for the spring term. Mr. Gates holds the school record for the mile. He is a hard student and well liked by all the fellows and it would certainly be a fine thing for Pacific if he should come back.
