Banks defeated the Dutch in a hard fought and exciting game last Sunday on the formers' grounds, score 5 to 6. The score stood 5 to 4 in favor of the Dutch until the last half of the ninth when Banks took a brace and shot a couple of men over the rubber for two scores. At this juncture pandemonium broke loose in the Banks camp and reigned for some time. Young Carstens pitched and Saunders caught for the victors and Hiram Davis twirled for Verboort.

John E. Bailey has a standing offer of $100 for a man who will start up a laundry in this city, and there are no conditions to this offer other than that the man run a first-class laundry. This is a good offer especially since a laundry ought to be a paying proposition to a man who knows how to run the business. A Mr. McKane of Portland was out here last Friday before Mr. Bailey made the offer, looking over the ground for a laundry and he may start up one here. He is a man of experience.

In this week's paper appears an ad. of Goff Bros., offering a high class sewing machine at a remarkably low figure, besides giving the purchaser the privilege of paying for same at 50 cents per week. In another paper an ad. of a similar character is being run for a cheap Portland Mail Order house that makes the same offer. It is obvious why you should patronize your home merchant. You can't build up Forest Grove and vicinity by sending your money to Portland where it will go into pockets that, by no avenue, are open to you.

Mrs. Levy and children, Ben and Elizabeth, had a mishap on the way home from Hillsboro which might have resulted in something more serious than fright and a few bruises. They were driving their little sorrel horse and ran off the culvert out on the Cornelius road opposite the Col. Hynes ranch. Elizabeth was thrown out head first between the shafts and Ben went pell-mell over the front wheel. The little sorrel pony trotted on as if nothing had happened and Mrs. Levy was so excited that she caught hold of the wheel of the buggy and bruised her hand in trying to stop the horse instead of taking hold of the lines.

That the sagacity of animals is almost equal to that of the genus homo in many cases is nicely proved in a bit of heroism and wisdom shown by a cow in this city last week. A chicken had tried to fly over a fence and instead got its head caught between the pickets. The fowl flopped its wings for dear life and squaled as loud as it could until its wind was almost completely shut off, when a cow noticed the proceedings and ran with breakneck speed to the spot of the hanging. With rare presence of mind she placed her nose beneath the poor chick and raised gently upward with the result that the fowl was dislodged and is alive to lay eggs to verify the story. If Roosevelt should see this he might question the veracity of the tale but it was given to us as straight goods.

U. and who studied philology in the leading universities of Europe as well as in America, has just returned from a trip into Mexico. He is now locate dout of St. Louis a few miles.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

At a meeting of the city council held Tuesday evening in the city hall the resignation of marshal U. G. Hanna was read and accepted, and the municipal fathers will fill the vacancy at a special meeting called for next Friday evening.

The Finance committee and Treasurer's reports were read and accepted and sight warrants ordered drawn.

Upon motion of S. B. Starrett the library bill of $52.50 was ordered paid out of the Library Fund.

The committee on streets and public property spoke of the condition of sidewalk on Second street, between Pacific and First avenues and were instructed to give owners notice of same. Special committee on the Rogers' Library property reported. Councilman Walker thought from what he heard that it would be best to leave the subject to a vote of the people.

Councilman Starrett said that Mrs. Rogers had assured him that there should be no legal catch in such deed but everything satisfactory to the council.

Draft of an ordinance amending street ordinance was read and referred for additions.

A Dog's Jealousy.

Dana is a huge St. Bernard who has his own ideas as to his importance. Whenever he wishes to attract attention he knocks his water pail over and then rolls it around, growling at it and making a great fuss. Then he puts his head in and throws the pail high in the air, batting at it with his paws as it comes down. If this does not have the desired effect he picks up the pail by the handle and takes it into the barn, where the noise is increased by far owing to the wooden floor. This performance is given whenever the horse is petted or when strangers come to the house.—Chicago Tribune.

Greenwich Observatory.

In the year 1675 King Charles II. of England founded the royal observatory at Greenwich in order that astronomical observations might be made for the assistance of sailors. The history of the observatory has been the history of chronology and of this practical side of astronomy. Its work and its standards have become distinctly international. The meridian of Greenwich now determines the longitude of the world.—Exchange.

She Had a Substitute.
