Dairymen's Corner

The Cow and Her Keeping.

In considering the cost of keeping a cow, farmers often overlook the vital point in question. It is not so much the cost of the feed that the cow consumes, but rather the cost of the product. There is where the real gist of the thing lies. For instance, a cow gives 3000 pounds of milk a year and it costs $30 to feed her for a year. That makes her milk cost a cent a pound, besides the labor. But if she gives 6000 pounds at no greater outlay for feed, then the milk costs a half-cent a pound. But suppose it costs $40 a year for the feed; the milk would then cost three-quarters of a cent a pound. The objection point with every farmer should be to secure large producing cows not to cut down the amount of feed. All of this foolish mixed breeding, scrub breeding, using grade sires, and dual-purpose breeding, so called, has resulted in lowering the milk producing power of the average cows of the country. When feed was cheap the farmer did not feel the pinch so much. The way to get a large producing cow was clear and simple. Here are a few guide points on the way.

1. Make the stable warm, clean and well ventilated. Your cows must live there 200 days in the year. Have a comfortable system of tying them.
2. Then breed rightly. Use only a pure bred registered sire of a pronounced dairy breed. Don't throw away future dollars in the producing power of the heifers by trying to save on the cost of the bull to start with. That is breeding towards the little end of the horn. Breed towards the big end. You cannot value the power of the sire for good or evil too much.

Buy of men who are making a study of this question of breeding and who are not mere dealers in cattle. If they do not use brains in their breeding you will suffer by it.

3. Make up your mind to be a liberal feeder, but never feed a poor cow longer than it is necessary to get her to the shambles. Under no circumstances waste feed hunting for milk in a poor cow. Be a watchful, good caretaker. Remember your cows cannot care for themselves. You must do it. Study long and well how to raise a heifer so she will develop into a good cow. There is a great deal in that. Thousands of good heifers are prevented from being good cows by the blindness of the men who raise them.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Stupid Ignorance.

About the best way of dealing with some men who promote tuberculosis in their herds, is to tell them squarely that they are grossly ignorant of all decent ways of caring for dairy cattle. It is time that a spade was called a spade, and dense, stupid ignorance was called by its right name. In his address before the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association at Waukesha, Dr. H. L. Russell, an eminent bacteriologist, told of some of his experiences in dealing with this disease among the farmers of Wisconsin. Here is one of them:

"A man in the southern part of the state, having a herd of 72 animals was carrying the milk to a Swiss cheese factory. The conditions on his farm and particularly in his cow barn were simply beyond description. The manure in the barn was a foot and a half thick, there was absolutely no provision for ventilation; there were five little windows about one foot by three, and four out of those five were boarded up. It was impossible at noon to read newspaper print in that barn, and the stench was so strong it was almost impossible to stand it for more than a moment, and still those were the conditions under which 72 of those cattle were crowded into close quarters where if the disease organism was present, there could be no more ideal conditions for its development. Here the tuberculin test was applied, and sixty-nine out of seventy two of those animals responded and it was absolutely impossible to utilize the carcasses. Every one was killed on the place and buried in a ditch."

Now think of the stupid ignorance of that farmer. He had never spent a dollar on his mind; not a dollar to give him light. His mind was like his stable with the windows boarded up. Then think of what that ignorance cost him, and what it cost those about him who bought stock from him. Not a line would that man read; not a thing would he do to know better, but he would board up his stable and his mind. Such ignorance amounts to a crime and such a man ought to be prosecuted and put in jail for it.—Hoard's Dairyman.

PUSH OREGON TO THE FRONT

AN EASY WAY TO ADVERTISE THE STATE

And Tell Our Eastern Friends All
About the Superior Opportunities
We Possess.

On April 29th last the Oregonian published a special industrial edition devoted exclusively to the exploitation of Oregon. It probably contained more special and miscellaneous information about Oregon than any one publication that has ever been issued. It is peculiarly valuable to the home-seeker, because it gives the latest and most reliable information about so many different subjects that the home-seeker is naturally interested in. Almost every department of industry is specialized, and both descriptive and statistical information of a highly valuable character is given exclusively and in entertaining form.

Residents of Oregon who know its advantages as compared with the congested and depleted East, and who still have friends back there whom they would like to see here enjoying the good things of this favored state, can aid in a splendid work now without cost and very little effort. If you think your friend would be interested in knowing more about Oregon and might eventually become a valuable citizen, send his name and address to the general passenger agent of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company or the Southern Pacific at Portland, and a copy of this special edition, with a complete summary of the several subjects treated, carefully indexed, will be mailed to him promptly. In this manner you may be the means of not only doing your friend a good turn, but of helping to stimulate the growth and prosperity of Oregon.

Don't forget that commencing September 1st and continuing daily for two months, tickets will be on sale at almost every railroad station in the East to all points in Oregon and the Northwest at what has come to be popularly known as "colonist rates." These rates are the cheapest general long distance rates ever established, and enable one to reach Oregon from any part of the United States at but a trifle more than one cent a mile. They are the greatest incentive to colonization and progressive home building of any known agency, and if the restless, dissatisfied resident of the East is made to know beforehand the advantages he can enjoy here, the problem is solved, and the star of empire will continue to move steadily westward.

Now is the time to spread the gospel of Oregon, so that it may be heard and heeded by the time the rates go into effect. Send one name or two, or a dozen, and you will be exerting a worthy influence toward the upbuilding of our state. Send them to your nearest Southern Pacific agent or to Wm. McMurray, General Passenger Agent, Portland, Oregon.
