

HOP PICKERS GOODS

The season of hop picking is here and the crop this year is abundant. There is a better demand for pickers than ever before. We foresaw this and have consequently laid in a stock of supplies that will meet all demands. Before you go to the fields come to our store and we will make you comfortable, happy and satisfied for we have everything you need to make your hop picking carnival a success.

Gloves, leather and canvas, gauntlets, hats, shirts, shoes rubbers, two grades; straw cuffs, blankets, quilts, sun umbrellas. In fact you can't name an article we haven't got.

The GROCERY Department

You don't want to forget your stomachs---neither have we for you can get everything of the choicest here.

It will pay you to start from our big store

After the crop is harvested come to us where we can fit you as no other store can.

A Big Dramatic Treat.

John F. Stowe's big double spectacular Uncle Tom's Cabin which will appear in Forest Grove, Tuesday, Sept. 3 under a mammoth water-proof tent with a seating capacity of two thousand seats, which includes 500 opera chairs. This big company comes direct from the eastern states. The Rev. S. S. Walters of Chicago, says there is something about Uncle Tom's Cabin that appeals to all, old and young, refined or coarse, educated or uneducated. It must be admitted by the amusement seekers that Uncle Tom's Cabin, when produced in the grand manner in which the Stowe's performances are always launched, possesses a charm to be found in no other form of theatrical entertainment. Yet, like everything else in this progressive age, Stowe's big company has improved with age, and each year brings out fresh novelties, new features and pleasing effects. This year they carry a military band of twenty solo artists and an operatic orchestra of ten pieces under the personal direction of Prof. Hayworth. This company travels in their own private train of Pullman cars and will positively appear for one night only. Watch for the noon-day concert.

The amusement street, or concession space, at the Greater Oregon State Fair (Sept. 16-21), at Salem, will be called the Corral. This name was adopted from a long list submitted because it has a Western flavor, and because the Corral will be a general round-up and meeting place for pleasure seekers who will visit the big fair. The place itself will be in the form of a corral, or enclosure, being built around three sides of a square. A number of good shows and acts are being signed up for this department. Free open-air exhibitions, balloon ascensions, moving pictures, etc., will be presented to the public on a big platform in the center of the enclosure. Get in on the round-up at the Corral.

Wm. David's old black horse got away from him Monday morning and came tearing up Main street at break-neck speed with the buggy touching only the high spots in the rear. She came to a sudden stop when she came in contact with Mark Noodle's spick and span team of greys which were hitched to the rack. No damage was done to either team or rigs.

THE BOOK STORE offers, this week only, 10 per cent off on every $1 sale of "wood to burn"—pyrography out-fits included.

Bids Wanted.

The undersigned will receive, until September 2nd, bids for furnishing milk at Herrick Hall during the coming college year. W. N. FERRIN.
