Oscar Loomis, who has been riding the range at Union for the past six months, returned home last week. Young Loomis went up to Eastern Oregon for his health and he certainly got what he went after. He has got a grip to his handshake like a sturdy miner.

Santa Claus was here last Thursday with several loads of toys and Xmas gifts. The old man was very much pleased over his luck in purchasing all his goods before the bankers took a notion to keep peoples' money. He had more toys and dolls for Forest Grove than ever before and has left them all at The Bazaar for every body to look at and pick out what they would like to have for Xmas. 221

A beautiful box of candy will be presented to the public school girl receiving the largest number of votes as the most popular girl in the public school. With every 5c purchase at Baldwin's confectionery a ticket calling for 1 vote will be given. The votes will be counted each morning and the prize will be awarded Christmas eve at 8 o'clock. The number of contestants will be limited to seven. Come in and get your candidate on the list early. 22-1

Miss Gladys Hartley, accompanied by Miss Maud Shannon, one of the assistant instructors in the vocal department of the Pacific university, of Forest Grove, and Mrs. L. M. Cook, who is out from the east visiting her son who is one of the professors in the institution, arrived in this city Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving tide with the home folks. Miss Gladys is making an enviable record for herself in the institution as one of the instructors in the vocal department. Her many friends in Hood River are pleased to see her once again—Hood River News-Letter.

James H. Slipp, the genial man that has been in the habit of selling Forest Grove and other west side people railroad tickets on the street in Portland and on rush and unrush days on the train, has at last lost his distinction of being the only man in the world that did similar stunts. The railroad company has located Mr. Slipp in the building formerly occupied by Kruse's restaurant at the corner of Fourth and Stark streets and the candidates for Slipp's of transportation cardboard no longer have to undergo the wintery blasts and other unpleasant weather conditions to which the suffering public has been subjected since last April. When the big circus came to Portland last summer Mr. Slipp had to ride out as far as Hillsboro before he had sold all the passengers tickets.

paved with gold. A speaker had referred to the bad roads here but the soil in this county was not created for roads. It was made for produce and by the product we can build good thoroughfares.

Judge Goodin said that he was in favor of meeting the districts half way in their road building and believed that the other commissioners will be. The work will not be so expensive as heretofore because of the machinery on hand and the plank roads to the crusher which cost thousands of dollars to build. Commissioner Buchanan said that he would favor the purchase of a steam roller provided the different districts were disposed to do their share of road building. This would be a valuable addition to the road building machinery according to authority and will make a much more permanent road than the horse roller.
