A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antispasmodic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine, as a valuable nutritive and tonic, is a most efficient preparation. It is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-over coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine: "In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon indurated, acidulated stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of dyspepsia (burning and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity)."

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

Interest in community publicity reached a climax in Portland last week when the eighty prizes offered by the Portland Commercial Club for articles on the Pacific Northwest printed in papers outside of Oregon and Washington, were awarded and the money distributed the same day. The judges were Messrs. James F. Ewing, of Portland Academy, J. F. Tyler, news editor of the Oregon Journal, and W. J. Cuddy, editor of the Weekly Oregonian, and they have spent two and one-half months reading the more than one million words submitted by various contestants. Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of the Seventh Baptist Church of Baltimore, Maryland, was winner of the grand prize of $1,000. He was in Portland last summer for a short visit. Miss Mateel Howe of Portland, was awarded the second prize of $500. Articles were in competition from every state in the Union, and almost every state had its representative among the winners.

Along with the general line of improvements which have been made in this city the building of cement sidewalks probably augurs the most encouraging. Two portions of sidewalk are being laid; one on College Way near the Book Store and the other runs from the Forest Grove National bank to and including the property of Prof. Joseph W. Marsh, on Pacific Avenue. It was necessary to remove the tall maple trees which for years have adorned that side of Pacific Avenue.

Carpenters are making progress with the work on the new Barber residence on First street between Second and Third Avenues. It will be a substantial dwelling and will be another noticeable improvement in that part of the city.

THE PLAIN TRUTH

What More Can Forest Grove People Ask?

When well known residents and high respected people of Forest Grove make such statements as the following must carry conviction to every reader:

Mrs. L. J. Stream, living at 210 B. St., Forest Grove, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a disease on them of my kidneys and pains through my back. I felt tired and worn out most of the time and was troubled with a dragging pain through my legs. I could scarcely stoop or bend and at such times sharp pains would dart through my joints and cause intense suffering. The kidney action was annoying at times. These pains failed to perform their function properly. I am now entirely free from kidney trouble, my back is strong and I feel better in every way since using this remedy and can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills very highly to anyone suffering from the same disease."
