With all due respect to the democrat who believes in his party, or the principle it stands for, The News has only to say, that if you are not a democrat, don't be the guiding spirit of a democratic convention.

Governor Chamberlain will not attend the meeting of the Governors at Washington. He is very busy explaining to the people why a man who received about ten times as many votes as he (Chamberlain) received at the primary election is not really the people's choice. The task is not a small one, but the versatility and adaptability of the Governor are something phenomenal.—Oregonian.

If Statement No. One advocates of this county really believed in the principle and not the man, they would have nominated Geo. W. Kelley, the regular and rightful candidate, who was neither afraid to use the primary law nor declare his position before all the voters of the county. To the contrary a handful of democrats gathered together in a mock convention and proceeded to nominate a ticket "that would uphold the primary law," and expect the intelligent voters of this county to swallow the dose at one gulp.

A local paper in the guise of a "Statement No. One," "subscriber" etc. asserts what it believes Mr. Cake would stand for in congress, if elected. It is very evident that that paper has a few assertions coming. There are two decided facts apparent in the election of a United States senator and briefly they are these: Mr. Cake, besides being an able man and good republican, will be in perfect harmony with Roosevelt and the administration, while Mr. Chamberlain, born and reared in Southern democracy, would be like a cat in a strange garret, and would accomplish about as much.

Gov. Chamberlain, democratic candidate for the U. S. senate, is going to pull every string he has to elect a statement ticket in this county, in fact it is asserted that his only hope of winning is by Washington county electing the democratic legislative ticket, as that would give the statement forces a majority in the legislature. This county has never given Chamberlain a majority, and at this time, when it practically lies with Washington county to say whether Oregon will repudiate all that Roosevelt stands for by sending a southern democrat to congress, it is absurd to believe the voters will be so blind to their own interests.

Senator Fulton has taken his defeat in the right spirit, and in asking his friends to support and vote for H. M. Cake, he has done a great deal to put a stop to factional strife. Had Mr. Fulton received the nomination, Mr. Cake's friends would have turned in and helped elect Mr. Fulton. Mr. Cake made a clear campaign, and being the nominee of the republican party, we hope the republicans of Tillamook will give him such a big vote in June that he will never forget this county when at Washington when money is being doled out for rivers and harbors improvements. We are glad to hear that even Mr. Fulton's most ardent supporters in Tillamook have accepted the result of the primary election with good grace, preferring to get into the band wagon which is going to send a republican to the United States senate.—Tillamook Headlight.

Governor Chamberlain's campaign for United States senator will be so flattened out before the first of June that he will realize that he has never been in the fight. He is already finding out that the "non-partisan" game will no longer work, and that the nomination of Mr. Cake has placed him in an awkward and embarrassing position from which he will be unable to extricate himself. His campaign thunder is gone. The Governor is a wily politician, but the recent turn of affairs has placed him in a position where he can no longer fool the people, and has left him without a single peg on which to hang his Senatorial ambition. Republican Oregon will not elect a democrat to an office next in importance to that of President of the United States.—Dallas Observer.
