ened doctrines. In doing so, it believes it expresses the profound conviction of an enormous majority of the people of Oregon, irrespective of their party affiliations.

In the present campaign and the coming election Statement No. 1 is not on trial, because both candidates for the United States Senate stand squaretoed and flat footed upon that platform. Neither is Chamberlain nor Cake, as such, on trial before the people. The question is not of these men, but of broad National import, leading to a victory which will mean a shout of ringing encouragement to the National administration or a vital blow delivered in the house of its friends. This is the real proposition before the people of the state, and it is one of the main reasons why The Telegram wil throughout this campaign give H. M. Cake its heartiest support and urge as strongly as it may the voters of the state to sustain the administration at a moment when it is more seriously on trial than at any other period of its whole history.
