The News has installed a new press for job work and we are now equipped to do all kinds of work from a letterhead to a full sheet poster. There are few offices outside of Portland that will equal The News equipment, and we can truthfully say; as grows the town so grows The News.

Bryan has accepted a campaign contribution of $100 from an Iowa farmer, and he has made an appeal to the farmers for the campaign fund with which to conduct his desires for the presidency. We wonder, now, if the average American farmer does not already bear the brunt of the burden of financing the country.

There is perhaps no other community in the state that has given or taken the same active part in the welfare of its city as have the citizens of this place, when the sum of $6,000.00 were subscribed for the Oregon Electric Company now building into our city. The company is as energetic as our citizens in this matter and is today constructing the grade between here and Hillsboro. While it is a matter of business for the company, it is also a matter of business for our citizens, and by looking at that enterprise in this light everybody will be benefited. Of course some will be benefited more than others, but while their benefits may be larger than yours, you will reap more from their sowing than you do now. It matters not whether you are as progressive as your neighbor or not, you always gain by his energy. But in this case all have shown a disposition to help a good thing along, and by so doing, no one can say that a certain few, or that one individual did it all. This is the sort of enthusiasm that makes business and it is very noticeable that Forest Grove, when the conditions warrant, cannot be outdone by any community in the state.

Fast Game Promised.

Base ball fans are promised one of the best games seen here since Ross Parker, Suess, Hatch and the other fellows who are playing professional ball, played here, next Sunday on the local grounds when the famous Sherwood White Sox of Portland will try conclusions with the Colts of this city. Before this year many people in this county didn't know where Sherwood is. But now there is hardly a man, woman, or child in Oregon that could not put their hand on Sherwood with their lamps hid under a bushel. Last spring and all this summer the daily papers of Portland have been unceasingly putting big heads on articles reading, "Sherwood wins again," "Visitors dubbed by Sherwood," etcetera, until folks all over the state began to say to themselves, "Where is this Sherwood?"

Sherwood is on the map because of their base ball team. They have lost but two games this season and later won from these two teams. They defeated Woodburn, the strongest team of the Tri City league.

The Colts will be strengthened Sunday by Robinson, the crack pitcher of the Tri City League, and each Colt has taken a new lease on life and have sworn to put up the best game of the season.

This is the matinee that we have all been waiting for all season and a rousing crowd will be on hands to support the boys.

H. W. Sparks Appointed Manager.

Johnnie Wirtz, who has managed the Colts base ball team successfully for four years, has resigned because of outside business, and H. W. Sparks has been appointed his successor.

For several years there was no interest in the national game here, small attendance, and a slim team but "Yonnie" took hold of the bunch and has brought capital results. Last year the team won most of the games at home and a big rep at Salem during the state fair, and a bunch of coin was turned into the coffers of the association. This year has been one of good crowds and splendid interest by the fans and up to date the Colts have won a per cent of 584.

Sparks accepted the management with reluctance but at the solicitation of the players, and in view of the fact that Mr. Wirtz could not serve longer because of other duties.

E. M. Ward Loses Stock by Fire.

In a $125,000 fire at North Bend, Sunday morning, and one of the most destructive in the history of Coos county, E. M. Ward, formerly of this city, lost $25,000 worth of logging supplies and machinery with only $1000 insurance.

He was located on the lower floor of the Clark Woolen Mills, one of the best equipped plants on the coast, valued at $80,000 which was totally destroyed. Stock of other parties in the same building aggregating $125,000 was destroyed. Mr. Ward had just allowed $10,000 policy to lapse about two weeks ago, intending every day to have it renewed.

Dr. Ward of this city was at North Bend visiting his son at the time of the fire.

Frank Fletcher received word the other day from Whitman college announcing the fact that he had been appointed manager of the track team for 1909. This appointment carries considerable honor with it as the committee which has the appointing power is made up of Faculty and students, and especially since Frank just entered Whitman last year. George Philbrook, well known in this city, will captain the team. Frank intends to bring his team down into the Valley next year. Prospects of a banner team are bright. Whitman won second place in the Northwest last year with the U. of O. first.

When Prof. F. C. Taylor arrived from Nebraska last September to accept a position in our college he was not long in becoming identified with Forest Grove and its interests. The first week he bought a home in South Park and later after selling this at a good advance he bought his present home of 1 1/2 acres which he has fixed up for a permanent residence. Now this week he purchased part of the Dr. A. H. Gates farm just north of town, where he and his boys will busy themselves during the summer vacation preparing the ground for a fruit orchard. This is the right kind of spirit to show when people come west and we speak success for him in his new enterprise. This makes three pieces of property the Oregon Land & Trading Co. has sold to Mr. Taylor. They also made the sale of his first investment at a good advance to Mr. Ott, who has since been offered more for it.

Dollars vs. Dirt.

It is growing to be more and more fully understood by the farmers of the country that to make a farm pay it must be operated scientifically.

The old style, haphazard farmer is being replaced by the reading, thinking, scientific agriculturist. The result has been larger yield of better crops, greatly improved live stock, increased economy of operation and more sanitary and healthy conditions all along the line.

Perhaps there is no branch of the agriculturist's business that has undergone such a great change as the dairy. The old idea—and not so very old either—was that milk was milk and butter was butter. If a milk pail looked clean it was taken for granted it was clean. Rinsing it out with water or wiping it with a rag was supposed to clean it. The churn was similarly treated and when the separator came that was given like care. If the hired man wanted to sweep the barn while the milk pails were hanging up in it, why, it didn't matter.

However, the farmer has come to have a better understanding of the value of cleanliness. He more fully appreciates the necessity of cleanliness from a health standpoint as well as the fact that lack of scientific cleanliness, especially in the dairy, means an absolute and decided money loss to him. He knows that pure utensils are vital necessities if his milk is to be pure, and that impure milk is not only dangerous and often disastrous in results when consumed but that he cannot get his money out of it.

The smallest taint in can or churn may result in contaminating a large output of milk or butter, so rapidly do bacteria multiply in these ideal mediums. The dairymen have learned that rinsing his churn out with hot water does not clean it and that soap and soap powders leave a residue behind which furnishes the germs just the conditions they need for rapid growth. Caustic and lye are objectionable in many ways and are more apt to taint the milk and spoil its taste or the taste of the butter or cheese made from it.

To secure satisfactory results it is necessary to use an article which will loosen the dirt and impurities from the utensil, one which can be easily rinsed away and which will be sufficiently inexpensive to admit of free use without materially increasing the cost of production.

Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser has been selected by thousands of dairymen as being the ideal modern dairy cleaner, meeting all essential requirements. Containing no emulsified fats or oils it will of course produce no suds but will absolutely remove all foreign matter without injury to hands or tinware. Preparations which injure the hands or which are not readily and easily rinsed off should be avoided. The very chemicals which water will not easily rinse away such as soda ash, sal soda, etc., are readily dissolved in milk rendering it unfit for food.

Clean milk handled in clean vessels remains clean if properly kept and assures pure, germ free butter and cheese. Pure milk, pure butter and pure cheese quickly leave their mark on the farmer's or dairyman's bank book and it does not take consumers long to find out when they are getting a clean, pure product.

ONE WEAK SPOT.

Most Forest Grove People Have a Weak Part And Too Often It's the Back

Everyone has a weak spot.

Too often it's a bad back.

Twinges follow every sudden twist.

Dull aching keeps up, day and night.

Tells you the kidneys need help—

For backache is really kidney-ache.

A kidney cure is what you need.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys

Cure backache and all urinary ills.

Mrs. V. M. Vase, living on Jefferson St., Hillsboro, Ore., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved of great value to me. At the time I began their use I had been suffering for a long time from a weakness of the kidneys and back. I would arise in the morning feeling unrefreshed and listless to begin my household duties. My head ached at times and I seemed to be weak all over. My kidneys were out of order and gave me a great deal of annoyance. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking a few doses was greatly relieved. I was so delighted that I procured another supply and in a month was entirely free from the complaint. I am much better in every way since using Doan's Kidney Pills and give them the credit."
