Clay and the Salary Grab.
"Quinn," said an old member one day, "I heard you worrying about the mileage. Did you ever hear the story of Clay and the salary grab?"
"No," I replied.
"When Clay was Speaker," he continued, "along about 1816, the crowd raised their salaries to $1,500 a year. There was a great howl all over the country, and when Clay reached home in Kentucky, he found old one-armed John Pope, a Federalist, out after his scalp to beat the band, and all the Clay adherents ominously silent. Worried and anxious Clay sought out his old barber, who had always been enthusiastic in his advocacy and who happened to be an Irishman. 'I trust I may count on your hearty support as usual?' Clay asked. 'Faith, Mr. Clay,' said the Irish barber, 'I think I shall vote at this time for the man who can get but one hand into the Treasury.'"—Success Magazine.

FARMS AND FARMERS

A Hay Stacker.
A home-made stacker that will do good service in handling hay is shown in the illustration. There are no castings to break and the timber required in its construction can be readily procured. The dimensions of the various parts are:

The lower timbers which are marked 1 are about 12 feet long and are made of 4 by 5-inch scantling. The side uprights, marked 2, are about 14 feet long, and made of the same material as No. 1. The slanting pieces, marked 3, are about 16 feet long, and made of 4 by 4-inch scantling. The arms of the stacker marked 4, are 16 feet long, and made of 4 by 5-inch stuff. The cross piece, No. 5, is 13 feet long, and made of 3 by 5-inch stuff. No. 6 is of 2 by 5-inch stuff, and is beveled on the front edge to allow the hay to slide over it easily when being shoved on by the sweep. Timbers numbered 7, 8, 9 and 10, are made of 2 by 6-inch stuff, and are 10 feet long, except No. 7 and No. 8, which should be only as long as the stacker frame is wide. Each end of Nos. 9 and 10 should project a foot on each end over No. 2.

Nos. 11 and 12 are made of 2 by 4-inch stuff, about 10 feet long; those bolted to No. 13 about 15 inches from the higher end of No. 13.
No. 13 is made of 2 by 4-inch stuff, about 8 feet long; the higher end should be about 8 feet above the ground, so that when the stacker is on the ground the weight box, No. 14, should be about two inches from the two pulleys on the upper end of No. 13; also when the stacker is upright, it is when the hay is thrown on the stack, the weight box should be about 2 inches below the two pulleys on the upper end of No. 13; and when the stacker is half-way down the weight box, No. 14, should be just clear of the ground.

No. 14 is the weight-box, and should be made of 2-inch stuff, about 8 to 10 inches deep, and about 2 feet square; it must be well spiked together. The idea of the weight is to start the stacker back to the ground as soon as the load is delivered from it on to the stack, and when the stacker is halfway to the ground, the weight acts as a brake for the other half of the way down. The box is filled with stones.

The rope which attaches the weight-box to the stacker should be three-quarter inch, passing from the weight up between the two pulleys on the upper end of No. 13, and down to the center of stacker head No. 5. The pulleys on the frame of the stacker should be attached by means of wooden blocks with a notch cut out so that the pulley can fit between the block and frame. Pulleys for this purpose are 6 inches in diameter and made of turned hard wood. These are fastened in place by means of a hard wood pin for an axle. The pulleys should be kept well oiled to keep them from clogging.

The rope for raising the stacker should be either inch or inch and a quarter. The teeth on the stacker can be made of 2 by 4-inch pine scantling, 10 feet long and beveled on the upper side to allow the hay to slide on easily. The short upright teeth on the stacker head should be about 5 feet long. They are bolted to the long teeth about 2 inches from the stacker head, No. 5, and rest against the stacker head, No. 6. The stacker arms, No. 4 should be bolted to No. 2 with a large bolt, about 12 inches from the ground.

Summer Work With Poultry.

Provide shade. Tree shade is the best, but if there are no trees in the runs then the next best thing is to erect canopies of some kind.

Have places provided so that the fowls and chicks cannot only get into the shade during the hot weather, but have a place of refuge during rainy, stormy days.

Cut down the supply of heat-producing grains in the diet and feed liberally of green food.

As they mature separate the cockerels from the pullets and give the former all extra allowance, as they will stand more forcing.

It is advisable each week to gather up all hens that are becoming broody and put them in a separate coop where no nests are provided. With this change it will require but a week to break them from their broody instincts and they will go back to laying again.

Crooked Breast in Chickens.

Crooked breast bones in chickens are caused by the heavy birds roosting on poles or fences. The bones of the young birds are soft and are turned to one side by pressing on the roost. If you have heavy fowls let them roost on the floor covered thickly with straw, and you will have no crooked breast bones.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT BLOOD HUMORS

The skin is not simply an outer covering of the body, but through its thousands of pores and glands it performs the great and necessary work of regulating our temperatures, and also assists in disposing of the refuse and waste matters of the system by the constant evaporation that goes on through these little tubes. To perform these duties the tissues and fibres which connect and surround the pores and glands must be continually nourished by pure blood. When from any cause the circulation becomes infected with impurities and humors, it loses its strengthening powers and begins to disease and irritate the delicate tissues, and produces Eczema, Acne, Tetter, or some other itching, disfiguring skin trouble. S. S. S. cures skin diseases of every kind by going down into the circulation and neutralizing and removing the impurities and humors. It changes the quality of the blood from an acid, fiery fluid to a cooling, health-producing stream, which, instead of irritating and inflaming the skin, cures and nourishes it by its soothing, healthful qualities. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may be used for any temporary comfort or cleanliness they afford, but skin diseases cannot be cured until S. S. S. has purified the blood. BORAX IN THE DAIRY

The problem of keeping sweet all the utensils used in connection with milk and cream raising and butter making has been a serious one with the farmer.

He has come to realize that the slightest taint or hint of staleness left in a can, tin or churn may ruin a whole output; that the taint that is left in form of bacteria which grow and multiply in milk or butter, producing disastrous results. The farmer has learned that hot water won't rise away the greasy residue in dairy utensils.

He has learned that soap leaves a residue of its own which is, if anything, worse than the milk or cream residue, and there has been constant clamor for a dairy cleanser and sweetener that will meet modern requirements.

A few of the largest creamery establishments called experts into consultation on this problem, and these scientific aids decided unanimously upon a product of nature which exactly fills the bill—BORAX.

Scientists have long known borax as a cleanser, a sweetener and an antiseptic destroyer of bacteria and germ growths that destroy all that is harmful, preserves freshness, sweetness and purity, and relieves the dairyman and dairy housewife of drudgery and of needless work and worry.

Write Pacific Coast Borax Co., New York City, for "Successful Dairying," being valuable information on the most profitable selection of cows, their feeding and care, the handling of milk to yield the highest price product, and the protection and preservation of these products from deterioration; with article on diseases of cows, and recipes for their cure.
