A full week has gone by since the council gave the order for resident owners and others to cut down the thistles on their premises, but to the ordinary vision no difference in this condition of affairs can be seen. Perhaps there is no real need to remove these weeds or perhaps the council does not know what it is about—nor the legislature. There is a state law against permitting thistles to grow.

An entire chapter of the Oregon code is devoted to measures for the extermination of thistles and cockleburrs. Penalties ranging from $10 to $500 are provided for property-owners and municipalities who neglect or refuse to cut down the weeds after the road supervisor has called attention to them. It is also made the duty of the supervisor to employ laborers to rid fields of thistles when their owners refuse to do so, and to charge the amount expended up to the property-owners.

To be more explicit in calling attention to this nuisance, we publish section 4927 of this law.

It shall be the duty of all municipal corporations in this state to provide for the extermination of said Russian thistle, Canada thistle or Chinese thistle, within the limits of such corporation or upon vacant lands within said corporation; and any city or town incorporated within this state neglecting or refusing to comply with the provisions of this act shall be liable to a forfeiture to the county in which said municipal corporation is situated of a sum not less than $50 nor more than $500, to be recovered against such municipal corporation in a suit maintained by the county in which said municipal corporation is situated.

Obituary.

Hanly H. Hendrix died at Elma, Washington, August 9th, 1908, aged 85 years, 5 months and 19 days. Mr. Hendrix was for a long time a resident of Cornelius, Washington county, and about two years ago moved to Castle Rock, Washington and from there to Elma.

He was born in Tennessee Jan. 20, 1823 and graduated at one of the colleges of the western states. June 15th 1846, he married Zerelda J. P. digo, in Des Moines, Iowa, whose Christian character and meekness were proverbial in the community in which she lived. She died at Cornelius May 5th, 1904, and was buried in the Cornelius cemetery. Ten children were born to this union, of whom four are still living, Mrs. E. E. Lincoln of Douglas, Arizona; Mrs. Julia Lincoln of San Francisco; Mrs. Mary E. Thompson of Elma, Washington, and Mrs. J. F. Hendrix of Tempe, Arizona. There are 25 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Mr. Hendrix was a man of marked ability, and in his prime was a power in the church to which he ministered. He was actively engaged in the ministry for the Christian church for fifty years, and continued as a member of the body until his death. He was an earnest student of the scriptures and after having reached his eightieth year could repeat chapter after chapter, either from the Greek or English version, and he looked forward to a glorious resurrection and the establishment of Christ's kingdom in the earth made new. During a long and eventful life thousands were brought to a knowledge of the truth through his instrumentality. He lived to a good old age. His work is done. Thy dead men shall live again. Isa. 26:19.

CIRCUS AGAIN PARADES

Barnum and Bailey to Present New Street Spectacle in Portland.

Those who visit the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth in Portland on August 25 and 26, will have an opportunity of seeing the greatest parade that ever was presented by a circus, the management having again established the parade feature as a part of the day's exhibitions.

During the four years that this circus has omitted the morning pageant an army of artists and mechanics have been working day and night in the foreign workshops of the circus at Stock on Trent, England, originating and building this year's spectacle. Floats of burnished gold, howdah draperies and throne rugs from Persia, silken banners, scarfs and flags from the looms of China, statuary from Italian studios, costumes from Paris and harness mounted in silver give to the parade a brilliancy that is dazzling.

The entire world has contributed to this pageant. Every phase of human existence is presented; 1,500 men, women and children take part in it and 700 horses are employed. It cost ten times more money than any parade of the past and is three times as long. It will be given at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

This year's company of performers is the greatest aggregation of talent that has ever been gathered together. It comes from all parts of the world and the acts presented display great novelty, and are so varied in character as to satisfy all tastes. Some of the most noteworthy acts are those of the La Raque sisters of France, who are exploiting a most daring and heart-thrilling and dangerous double automobile somersault act called "Autos that Pass in the Air;" Robert Dohn, from the Black Forests of Germany, who lifts an automobile and passengers with his teeth; the Fredians of France, who do difficult acrobatic feats while standing on running horses; Prof. Wormwood of England and his trained ant-eaters; the wonderful Viennese troupe of aerialists from France; the Pacheco family of acrobats from Italy, and Le Clown Moustier and his celebrated animal comedians from France.

In all the history of the circus business this year's entertainment given by the Barnum and Bailey circus stands out as the most wonderful performance ever given under canvas.

ALL TIRED OUT.

Hundreds More in Forest Grove in the Same Plight

Tired all the time;
Wearily and worn out night and day;
Back aches; side aches,
All on account of the kidneys.
Must help them at their work.

Mrs. A. Whitcomb, living on Edison st., Hillsboro, Oregon, says: "I had been bothered with kidney and bladder trouble for a long time, as a result of this trouble, I endured a great deal of misery. My kidneys were too frequent in action and gave me great annoyance especially at night. As the result for the loss of rest, I would arise in the morning feeling tired and worn out when I attempted to stoop or lift anything, sharp pain would shoot through the small of my back and I would suffer intensely. I took two or three different remedies but did not find relief. At last my attention was drawn to Doan's Kidney Pills, and I procured a box. The pains and aches soon vanished, my kidneys are regular and normal and I have not had a return of any trouble since. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills very highly."

CATHOLIC MISSION.

Begins in Masonic Hall Sunday and Continues One Week.

On next Sunday, Aug. 23rd at ten o'clock a. m., the Catholics of the Verboort settlement will open a mission at Masonic (Vert's) Hall. The mission will be conducted by the Rev. Walter Polk, a Redemptorist Missionary Father, who comes here from the East with a reputation for missionary endeavor placing him in the front rank of pulpit orators. Father Polk is a close relative of the late Gen. Polk of the Confederate army and is a southerner by birth.

Catholic missions have been given by the clergy of that church for many centuries and are in fact the models upon which John Wesley built up his system of revivals, having spent some time in Italy where he made his studies of Catholic missions. Revival is a need nothing else than another term for mission as understood by Catholics, missions being primarily given for the purpose of reviving the faith and fervor of the church's members who may have grown luke warm or even cold in their religion. Another reason for giving missions is the instruction of those Catholics who have for some reason or other failed to receive that thorough instruction in her tenets which it is the earnest endeavor of the Catholic church to give to all her members.

Of later years, however, a new movement in the line of missionary work has arisen in the church which is well known as the "Non-Catholic Mission Movement." The object of this being to afford an opportunity to non-Catholics that they might inform themselves at first hand of the teachings of the Catholic religion. Many vague and false notions existing in the minds of the non-Catholic world and very many of these seeming desirous of having a better, more accurate knowledge of Catholic teaching, this new movement was started by the Paulist Fathers, the founders of which were mostly converts from Protestantism.

The mission to be given at Masonic Hall will be a combination of the two kinds of missionary movements and hence all residents of Forest Grove and vicinity are cordially invited to be present at these meetings. Anyone wishing to ask questions may do so and will receive a courteous answer, as no controversy is intended at these missions. The missionary Father will give such regulations concerning meetings as he may deem expedient from time to time so as to promote the success of the mission and bring the greatest good to the greatest number.

The mission will begin as already stated, on Sunday, Aug. 23rd at ten o'clock with a mass after which will follow the lecture. In the evening at 8 o'clock and every evening of the week until Sunday, Aug. 30th inclusive there will be a lecture. The subjects of the various lectures will be announced on the evening before.

On Sunday, Aug. 30th, the program will be as on the opening Sunday except as to the subject discussed.

Everybody is cordially welcome at any or all of the meetings.

—Dr. J. S. Bishop has gone on a trip to the East and will return about October 1st. This trip is for the purpose of general post-graduate study and hospital work. He will also pay special attention to the latest methods in the treatment of tuberculosis in all its forms and of cancers, visiting some of the largest sanitariums and conferring with specialists in these lines, and expects on his return to be prepared to treat such cases according to the best and most successful methods. 5-14

E. H. Harriman, the greatest individuality in the railroad world, is enjoying with his family the glories of Oregon's August climate at Pelican Lodge, near Klamath Lake. Their stay will cover several weeks. Vice Presidents Julius Kruttschnitt and E. E. Calvin accompanied Mr. Harriman to Oregon, but during his vacation they will be busy inspecting their roads throughout the state.

The different Fair Associations of Oregon are co-operating for a splendid display of products and great showing of live-stock at the Fall Show in Portland, with the best races ever held in state, by creating such an interest in livestock production as will mean an ample supply for the support of the great packing under construction in Portland.

Vigorous protest was entered by the commercial interests of Oregon and the Pure Food Conference at Mackinac Island, Michigan, of a standard for evaporated milk requiring 28 per cent solids. Oregon's milk is rich in butter fat, owing to our climatic conditions, but abundant pasture means less solids than in milk from cows fed eight months in the year. Oregon dairymen and condensers insist that solids should be such as result from the use of whole milk in their product.

Remains Buried Here.

The remains of Preston Richardson, who died in Roseburg, August 15th, were brought to this place Sunday and interred in the Naylor cemetery Monday. The deceased was 84 years old and was an old time resident of Dilley. He served in both the Mexican and war of the Rebellion.
