Switzerland.
Much of the 16,000 square miles of territory comprising Switzerland is so mountainous and stony that when available for any purpose it can only be for the pasturage of animals. Yet so carefully are all of the natural resources conserved and exploited that the country is one of the most prosperous in the world, and the Swiss people are as contented as they are industrious and frugal.

The comedian boarded cracked an egg with his fork and said solemnly: "Ladies and gentlemen, did you ever hear the story of Ypsilanti, Mich.?" "Can't say that we did," they echoed in unison. "Is it a good story?" "Er—it's hard to say." And ten minutes later when they tumbled they voted that the comedian boarder should join a minstrel show and make his fortune.—Chicago News.
