Some people speak as they think—only more frequently.

The telephone is an errand boy that is easy to board.

The fast horse plows the short furrows.

Every man gives a shove to the tumbling wall.

If you suspect a man, don't employ him; if you employ him, don't suspect him.

Happy is he who fights with himself; wretched is he who contends with others.

Can a man be a hero without a brass band playing the accompaniment.

Virtue is its own reward; if it was not, it would lose out in the game.

To think kindly of each other is well; to speak kindly of each other is better, but to act kindly to each other is the best of all.

"The Press is nasty and fearless," says one of its readers. Yes, but we haven't the nerve to tell all we know about the doings of our town at one sitting.

Never forget that you are a part of the community where you live, and your deportment helps to make up the estimate strangers form of the place.

A good newspaper must first of all have all the local news. Help us to make it the best by sending in any items of interest you happen to know.

You can't expect a woman to get much enjoyment out of a church service if there are at least three women in the same row wearing more expensive hats than her own.

This paper is at the service of the public to make it interesting, helpful and instructive. If each of our subscribers would send us an item each week, what a fine newsy paper we would have. Try it for a few weeks and mark the effort. No danger of overworking us.

The local paper is valuable for two reasons. First, because of the lofty motives it inspires. Second, because of the thoroughness of its mission in gathering and distributing news. The first depends upon the editor, the second depends upon the people and the office force. It has ever been the ambition of the editor of the Tribune to make it an inseparable adjunct of the home; trustworthy, honorable and fearless. But in the latter the people must assist in helping the office to get ALL the news.

An exchange gives the following:

"Boy's Essay on Newspapers."

"Newspapers are sheet of paper on which stuff to read is printed. People look over it to see if their names are in it. I don't know how newspapers came into the world. The Bible says nothing about editors, and I never heard of one being in heaven. The editor I heard of wrote up the flood. Some editors belong to the church and some of them try to raise whippers. A lot of them raise hell in their neighborhood. Sometimes a paper dies, and the people feel sad, for a town don't amount to much without a paper. Editors never went to school, because editors don't get licked. Our paper is a mighty poor one, but we take it so ma can use it on her pantry shelves. Our editor don't amount to much, but pa says he had a poor chance when he was a boy. He goes without underclothes in the winter and wears no socks. Pa has not paid his subscription in five years, and don't intend to."
