Eczema All Over Baby's Body.
"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Baring, Maine.

High Heels and Wit.
If anything could be higher than the Parisienne's hat it is her heels. The low English heel has once or twice enjoyed a brief season's favor in Paris, but at heart the Parisienne dearly loves to add a cubit or so to her stature and she achieves it of course with her beloved Louis XV. Perched thus on stilts with the foot at an impossible angle, "le footing" becomes impossible and madame seats herself in a cab every time she starts out for a walk. That is why her boots and shoes are always new.

Some one has discovered that there is a close relation between the heels and the wit. The conversation of the walker in low heels is trite and flat—bromidic, so to speak—but she who trips in high ones will soar to unexpected altitudes of epigram and paradox. We know that great wit and insanity are near neighbors and the Germans putting the principle in practice are treating madness with a barefoot regime. The contact of the bare flat foot with Mother Earth is expected to bring back wandering minds to an every-day plane and the experiment is naturally

Prize Steers Not Good Meat.
The meat of more than one prize steer has proved disappointing in the eating, though fine to look at. In the development of the animal for competition his flesh is sometimes, if not always, seamed with small veins of fat which are diluted by cooking into tough strings. Hence, the range-fed steer, not nursed into prominence, affords the better steak or roast.

DOG WINS A FOOTBALL GAME
Members of Columbia Squad Are Inspired by Sight of Canine Attacking Red Hot Poker.

A remarkable turning of a game between the halves occurred at Ithaca in 1905. Cornell led Columbia by six to nothing when the teams returned to the dressing rooms. Columbia had not recovered from a wearing game with Princeton the week before. Many of the men were overtrained.

There was a distinct feeling of the hopelessness of it all when the players lay down upon the floor and benches. Only Bill, a white bull terrier mascot, showed signs of liveliness. It was cold in the dressing room and a trainer shook the ashes in the stove. He used a poker, the end of which became red hot. When finally he laid down the metal rod the red whiteness, but the heat remained. Bill, deciding that the poker was to be played with like a stick, caught the heated end in his mouth. Instantly his lips seared and turned black. Bill only shook the poker harder. Two men grabbed him and tried to force him to open his mouth. But Bill fought back and finally they had to choke him before he would loosen his grip. It was then that Coach Morley nudged Captain Fisher and pointed to the dog. Catching the idea, Fisher sprang to his feet and built up a speech around Bill. He compared Bill's nerve to the team's and asked the men if they were not ashamed of themselves. His closing sentence was: "Just play for Bill, Bill, Bill!"

When Columbia returned to the field, Bill, yelping furiously, led the way. All through the half the team heard him barking from the sidelines. Said Von Salza, the big tackle, after the game: "We heard every yelp, and it simply drove us."

Also, Bill's yelping was so good that Columbia won out, twelve to six.—American Magazine.

EARLY USE OF ICE SKATES
Holland Conceded to Be Birthplace of Skating and Undoubtedly First Practiced There.

To "necessity's sharp pluck," not to a desire for amusement, says the New York Evening Post, we owe the invention of skates and their early use. Holland is conceded to be the home and birthplace of skating, and it was undoubtedly first practiced there and in the far north.

In a country of lakes and canals the necessity of walking and running on the ice must have been felt from the earliest days, and, indeed, they were found in one of the mounds on which a Friesland village was built. The skates were fastened to the feet by straps passed through holes made in the bones. A Danish historian mentions the sport in 1134.

The bone skates were also the kind first used in England. Fitzstephen, in his account of the amusements of the young people on the ice in London during the latter part of the twelfth century, notes that it was usual for them to fasten the leg bones of animals under the soles of their feet; by tying them around their ankles, and then taking a pole they pushed themselves forward by striking against the ice, and moved with great rapidity.

SKATE BODIES OF ALUMINUM
Lightness is Added Without Any Loss of Strength by Use of New Metal—Arrangement is Shown.

Additional lightness without loss of strength has given aluminum a place in the manufacture of skates, a concern in Cleveland making skate bodies of this metal, says the Popular Magazine. A blade of steel about 3/4 inch wide and 1-1/2 inch thick is inserted in the aluminum. The illustrations show such a body before finishing, and a completed skate with blade in position.

Ideal Temperature of Room.
An ideal room temperature for the sedentary is that between 66 and 70 degrees. Below these temperatures the heat regulating apparatus of the body finds it necessary to close up the peripheral vessels more or less, internal congestion slowly begins and the conditions for a cold are secured.

Many people have receding gums. Rub Hamlin's Wizard Oil on gums and stop the decay; chase the disease germs with a mouth wash of a few drops to a spoonful of water.

Young Offender.
A woman left her baby in its carriage at the door of a department store. A policeman found it there, apparently abandoned. As he passed down the street, a gamine yelled: "What's the kid done?"—Collier's.

Sloan's Liniment is a great remedy for backache. It penetrates and relieves the pain instantly—no rubbing necessary—just lay it on lightly.

"I had my back hurt in the Boer War and in San Francisco two years ago I was hit by a street car in the same place. I tried all kinds of dope without success. "That's an error on the part of the stenographer," replied Senator Sorghum. "It should read, 'hurrah material.'"

New York Uses Much Water.
In the whole world there are only about 1,500,000 people. An inch of rain on our watershed normally would give two gallons of water for every man, woman and child on the surface of the earth. Put it another way: If every man, woman and child on the face of the earth should walk up to the lakes, reservoirs, etc., which hold New York city's water supply, and each pour in two gallons of water, it would not be enough to last that city ten days.
