The place was about two miles west from McMinnville. The Rumley Co. came on the scene on the morning of May 7 and showed up nicely with a 30 horse gas traction commonly known by the name of "Oil Pull," and by the middle of the afternoon had developed a good showing, pulling four plows of the Oliver chilled design and continued the exhibit all day of the 8th.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Rats in a poultry house are sure sign of bughouse in this age, when cement floors may be laid quick and cheap. You wish to know the proportions for a henhouse floor? First coat, two parts sharp sand, four parts clean gravel, one part cement. Second coat, half sharp sand, half cement, finished smooth.

When you are uncertain as to the age of an egg do not sell it. Eggs often turn up after being buried in the litter for weeks. When sold a good customer will quickly turn down the seller.

The successful poultryman is a close observer. There are so many little straws that show which way the wind blows, and the man who throws down feed, fills the water vessel and doesn't see his hens for the rest of the day can't make it pay. To avoid trouble always "stop, look and listen."

Other states are just beginning to discover the vast extent of the rot and spot business. The finger for awhile was pointed at Pennsylvania. New York and other states are now copying her methods of warfare and borrowing her inspectors. Pennsylvania's drastic law, the conscientious work of her inspectors and the severe sentences given these poison vendors should be imitated everywhere.

In packing eggs use a material that keeps the eggs apart. Sawdust and buckwheat hulls are too heavy and the eggs shake all together. Excelsior or soft paper wrapped round each egg separately is O. K.

There were 836,848 hogs afflicted with tuberculosis the past year which were killed by government inspectors. Millions of chickens died with it.

It isn't very pleasant to find the hen breaking a few of those high priced eggs every day. But don't swear about it. A roomier nest or a lighter hen will stop the trouble.

One hundred and thirty-five turkeys, weighing 1,620 pounds, were raised and sold by a Loyalsock (Pa.) farmer at the Williamsport market for 30 cents per pound.

It is wise to remember that young turkeys quickly succumb to rheumatism and roup if they sleep in damp quarters. Hard floors give them swollen joints. A roomy shed with open front and clean dry floor is splendid in rainy weather.

For Sale—Steam prune dryer, one ton capacity, all complete. Price $60. J. L. Loving, Gales Creek, Ore.

Woman Suffrage Takes Back to The Soil, Turn down in The Hoosier State.

Wives of Indiana Farmers Start Movement Which May Result in Influx of Settlers to Montana and Oregon—Great Exhibit Car Carries Message of Greater Possibilities to Landlord Ridden Renters of Middle West.

Swazee, Ind.—The hand that rocks the rural cradle in this section is going to be a big factor in packing "immigration movables" for Montana and Oregon points ere long, if the unusual attendance of women visitors to the Great Northern railway's Oregon-Montana exhibit car is any criterion.

The wives of fifty farmers drove from a radius of 14 miles to visit the "exposition on wheels" in Swazee yesterday.

The interest of this feminine delegation was productive of promising results, for today their husbands came in from the countryside to make further inquiries and view the products of these states which made such a favorable impression upon the women folk. No fewer than twenty-five families went to Montana and Oregon from round about Swazee last year and their letters written to the farmers "back home" roused so much interest that the organized pilgrimage to the exhibit car resulted. The men folk were skeptical about the car of products, it transpired, so the women "hitched up" and drove to town anyway giving curiosity as an excuse. The glowing accounts they carried home with them did the rest, and today, after these farmers had spent two hours in the exhibit car, they frankly confessed that they never had any idea Montana or Oregon could rais

Hoosier farmers' wives standing in front of the Oregon-Montana exhibition car which brought a message of better things for mankind in the land where home life is real, not rented.

Rigs of the flying squadron of Indiana farmers' wives whose pilgrimage to the Great Northern exhibit car moved their husbands to investigate Montana and Oregon products the very next day.

such a variety of banner products on land that does not cost one-fifth of what Indiana land is held at. They all "allowed" there was something in the argument their disconcerted wives had been agitating as the result of those letters from the Northwest written by the erstwhile Hoosiers telling of vast improvement in their conditions since moving into the newer country where the price of agricultural land is not prohibitory as it is in the more densely settled middle west. These people, who found their awakening in the marvelous products which Louis Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway, is exhibiting broadcast through this part of the country, for the most part, represent the large population of land renters who are paying as high as $9.00 per acre rental. They are tired of the struggle for little more than a living. Nearly all, by dint of frugality, have saved a nest egg after ten or more years of tilling the other fellow's tract, with the landlord getting the lion's share. They now realize they might have owned their own land had they gone west years ago. The comparatively cheap lands of Montana and Oregon appeal strongly to these folks. They are all diversified farmers and the products shown in the Great Northern's exhibit car was a revelation to them.
