We Join the Poets With Power.

"Twinkle! twinkle! little star," the poet said and lo!
Way above the earth so far the stars
a twinkling go.
—San Francisco Call

"Roll on, thou deep blue ocean roll!"
another's voice was heard.
And ocean rolls obedient to his mandatory word.
—Louisville Herald

"Blow, blow, thou Winter wind," the third one gave command,
And every Winter now we hear it blow to beat the band,
—Boston Transcript

"Thou, too, sail on, O ship of state," a poet once did sing;
And ever since the ship of state's been doing that same thing.
—Yonker's Statesman

"Snow, snow, we welcome thee," the Oregon poet did sigh,
But beautiful snow wore its welcome out; and that's no webfoot's lie.
