

SCHOOL NOTES

In the debate here Saturday night with The Dalles the decision of the judges here was unanimously in favor of The Dalles. At The Dalles it was 2 to 1 in favor of The Dalles. Although we seem badly beaten we do not feel discouraged because we were defeated by a worthy team. The Dalles team just missed a decision of 2 to 1 last year of being the champion state team, while the Grove team had no experience before this year.

The High School pupils have been showing much class spirit of late, but have decided to settle matters on a friendly basis.

Edgar Swanson is out of school at the present with measles.

The Sophomore English class has been divided into two divisions with some spirit of rivalry in theme work, which for the rest of the year will take the nature of editorial work.

Raleigh Gates has been on the sick list and absent from school. Miss Lila Willis has been very ill the past week with nervous prostration. She is improving slowly though no one is allowed to see her yet.

Dennis Gore has stopped High School having completed the course as a post graduate.

Those entering the High School this week are Helen Cotton, Harold McFeters, Ned Livingston and Ernest Troutman.

Miss Hazel Hughes, of Dilley, has dropped the High School work for the present.

Monday evening last the Sophomores held a class party at the home of Mervin Hollinger, which was made somewhat "warm" by the Freshman, who endeavored to break up the festivities early in the evening, but without success. Games were played, refreshments served, and a general good time enjoyed.

The committee which has been investigating the cost of issuing a school paper believe that it can be made a success, and in all probability the first issue will shortly appear. The publication will be issued monthly.

Mrs. Bond, wife of Prof. Bond, is instructing the class in Botany.

Forest Grove was defeated at Basketball by the Wilsonville team by a score of 21 to 44.

Yesterday afternoon the High school students were dismissed early to attend the poultry lecture given by Prof. James Dryden of the poultry department of O. A. C., in the Star theater. A most interesting talk upon the raising and care of poultry was heard, and the colored slides used to illustrate the lecture much enjoyed. A number of the pupils are seriously thinking of going into the poultry business.

The fifteen decisive battles of the world from the fifth century before Christ to the beginning of the nineteenth century of the present era, as given by the historian, Creasy, are as follows:

The battle of Marathon, in which the Persian hosts were defeated by the Greeks under Miltiades, B. C. 490.

The defeat of the Athenians at Syracuse, B. C. 413.

The battle of Arbela, in which the Persians under Darius were defeated by the invading Greeks under Alexander the Great, B. C. 331.

The battle of Metaurus, in which the Carthaginian forces under Hasdrubal were overthrown by the Romans, B. C. 207.

Victory of the German tribes under Arminius over the Roman legions under Varus, A. D. 9. (The battle was fought in what is now the province of Lippe, Germany, near the source of the river Ems.)

Battle of Chalens, where Attila the Terrible, king of the Huns, was repulsed by the Romans under Aetius, A. D. 451.

Battle of Tours, in which the Saracen Turks invading western Europe were utterly overthrown by the Franks under Charles Martel, A. D. 732.

Battle of Hastings, by which William the Conqueror became the ruler of England, Oct. 14, 1066.

Victory of the French under Joan of Arc over the English at Orleans, April 29, 1429.

Defeat of the Spanish armada by the English naval force, July 29 and 30, 1588.

Battle of Blenheim, in which the French and Bavarians were defeated by the allied armies of Great Britain and Holland under the Duke of Marlborough, Aug. 2, 1701.

Battle of Pultowa, the Swedish army under Charles XII, defeated the Russians under Peter the Great, July 8, 1709.

Battle of Waterloo, the allied forces of the British and Prussians defeated the French under Napoleon, the final overthrow of the great commander, June 18, 1815.

'Twas Ever Thus.
"Pa, what does it mean when you say that prices fluctuate?"
"It means, my son, that they go up and down. When it's something you have got to buy the price goes up, and when it's something you've got to sell the price goes down."—Judge's Library.

A news dispatch says that pear orchards in Hood River are held at $5,500 an acre. It might be said that an orchard that would bring that much is a peach.—Oregon Register.

A WASHINGTON county newspaper last week appeared with a supplement largely devoted to exploiting the resources of the state of Washington. Notwithstanding Oregon's prominence as a lumber state a logging scene at North Yakima is prominently featured, and while Washington county leads in dairying and probably has a greater number of fine herds than any western county, a three column illustration of a dairy herd in the Puget sound country is given prominence with not one word regarding the pre-eminence of the county on which the paper depends for support. Our brother is entitled to sympathy instead of censure, however, for he has perhaps unthinkingly accepted a feature on which The Independent commented at the time it was offered this paper and declined. The supplement is edited and printed elsewhere, and is a clever plan whereby its publishers enter the publishing business and secure advertising without going to the expense and trouble of securing a circulation, for the sheets they print are given without charge to the country newspaper publishers who will insert them. Anything given for nothing is usually bad in the end, and in this case it means not only that the publisher is publishing advertisements for which he receives no pay, but he is also circulating matter over which he has no control, and which may often be directly against his own and the interests of his community.—Hillsboro Independent.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

VALENTINE DAY RECIPES.

SPECIAL dishes for Valentine day entertainments need only be got up in pink and white or pale green and white and molded in heart shapes to be timely and acceptable.

As for table decorations, heart shaped baskets filled with spring flowers are the simplest and prettiest embellishments. If you have no wicker baskets cut them out of cardboard and cover with crepe paper.

Luncheon Delicacies.

Creamed Sweetbreads in Heart Shaped Cases.—Make a shortcake dough and roll it to about an inch thick. Cut out heart shaped pieces; brush each piece with melted butter and lay together in pairs. Bake in a quick oven. When ready to serve remove the top biscuit, cover well with creamed sweetbreads and replace the top. Garnish with parsley. Serve with or without a mushroom sauce. Calf's brains, chicken or veal may be substituted for the sweetbreads.

Valentine Salad.—Take red apples uniform in size and shape. Cut off evenly at the stem end and scoop out the interior without breaking the skin. Wipe off the apple cups and polish them carefully. Take equal parts of apple, shredded pineapple and blanched almond meats. Moisten them well by tossing all together with mayonnaise dressing. Just before serving fill the apple cups with this mixture, placing on top a spoonful of whipped cream that has been tinted pink with maraschino. Garnish with a maraschino cherry topping the whole and serve on a heart of lettuce leaf.

Appropriate Cakes.

Valentine Cakes.—Take half a cupful of butter creamed with a cupful of powdered sugar, half a cupful of milk, whites of four eggs whipped light, two and a half cupfuls of flour sifted with one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, bitter almond flavoring, spinach juice and cochineal. Cream the butter and sugar, add the milk and flavoring, the whites of eggs and flour. Divide the batter in three parts, bruise and pound a few leaves of spinach in a thin muslin bag until you can extract the juice. Put a few drops of this in one portion of the batter, color another with cochineal, leaving a third white. Put a little of each into small round or heart shaped pans or cups, giving a light stir to each color as you add the next to vein the cake prettily. Put the whites between the pink and green that the tints may show better. Pistachio nuts pounded for the green will make the cakes much nicer. Ice on sides and top. The icing can be colored if desired.

If the cakes are to be used for a valentine party motto candies can be used to decorate them.

Whose Advertising Bills are YOU Paying?

When you buy something at a store that does not advertise, you help pay for the publicity of the store that DOES advertise!

The proposition is a perfectly logical one.

Advertising enables a merchant to sell more goods in a day. Thus his daily operating expenses is collected from a large number of customers--instead of from a few.

Assuming that he sells ten times as much merchandise as the non-advertising store sells, he is enabled to greatly undersell his slower competitor, and still make a larger aggregate profit.

The penalty--the tax--therefore, is paid by the hapless shopper who goes to the non-advertising store; and who, by paying a higher price, indirectly "pays for the advertising" that the live merchant does.

Assuredly the patron of the advertising merchant does not "pay for his advertising," for, because of the advertising, such patron saves money on her purchase!
