HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Ventilate, Don't Hibernates.

Cold weather is here. The advent of cold weather always marks the rise in the pneumonia death rate. It also marks a general increase in the number of cases of the contagious diseases—measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria, colds, etc. Why? Because from now on people begin to close their doors and windows, and stagnant air diseases get in their work. When people are closely bound in, in poorly ventilated rooms, the four air lowers our vitality, and this, together with close association, makes disease transmission easy. What is the remedy? It is easy enough to locate the remedy. The remedy is simply a continuation of the first class ventilation we have been having out in the open air all summer long. But how can we get it in the winter? In winter we have to live in houses, to be sure, but we don't have to sacrifice all our fresh air. Get fresh air at any price, even if you have to break a window or two.

William Devlin, Metroe Hollinger and Carl Peterson are sophomores on the sick list at present.

Harold Benjamin has enrolled as a special student in the High School, taking a post graduate course.

Roy Thomas, Frank Doane and "Kirby" Swanson have returned to school after a siege of the measles.

The basket ball teams of the Forest Grove and Newberg High schools had an exciting game in the latter city, last Saturday, which resulted in the defeat of Forest Grove by a score of 23 to 19.

Lincoln's birthday was fittingly observed by the High school students Wednesday morning. A fifteen minute assembly was held out of doors, a flag raising took place and the scholars sang the National anthem. Prof. Proctor delivered a short talk on the life of Lincoln.

Tuesday morning the manager of the basket ball team gave a very enthusiastic talk to the High school students, urging everyone to be present at the double-header tomorrow evening, when McMinnville plays against the Forest Grove first team and Banks against the second team. The games will be played in the college gymnasium.

Monday the students adopted the report of the committee having charge of the details of issuing a school paper, and decided to publish a monthly for the remainder of the school year. The following editorial staff was elected: Tom Roe, Editor-in-Chief; Phyllis Fisher, Literary Editor; Buleah Bramburg and Ernest Troutman, Cartoonists; Tom Todd, Sporting Editor; Darrell Heisler, Business Manager; Ivan Noble, Assistant Business Manager.

There is a high school in Pueblo, Colo., which is four stories high, has seventy rooms, a staff of thirty teachers, and was constructed at a cost of $100,000. C. H. Fletcher, son of C. F. Fletcher, of this city, is principal of this school. In a recent letter Mr. Fletcher states that a good deal of opposition was met when the project of constructing the building was undertaken, due to the expense involved. However, when the people found what the money was expended for they were not inclined to knock. Part of the equipment consists of a moving picture machine which cost $400; a pneumatic clock system installed at a cost of $800 and a complete telephone system connecting every room in the building. There is not another building in that part of the country, devoted to school purposes, so well equipped.

PUPILS TO RAISE POULTRY

Orengo Schoolchildren Engaged in Contest on Chicken.

ORENGO, OR.—The Orengo school children are taking up a contest on poultry-raising and through M. Donald, president of the Oregon Nursery company, each scholar has been offered a setting of pure blood Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Plymouth Rocks and White Orpingtons.

In order to make the contest interesting the ten securing the highest percentage in their school studies receive the highest-priced eggs. All those receiving above 92 in general average for January and February, second, and those between 80 and 91, third. This will enable every child in the school of a proper age to secure a setting of pure blood chickens.

The children are enthusiastic over this contest and over the school gardens which will be raised here during the summer. About 30 of the girls have signified their intention to grow a flower garden, and about an equal number of boys a school garden, and an equal number home gardens.

Special committees have been appointed to assist the children in the poultry, vegetable and flower-raising contests. A Fair will be held in the Fall at which exhibits will be made.

Whose Advertising Bills are YOU Paying?

When you buy something at a store that does not advertise, you help pay for the publicity of the store that DOES advertise!

The proposition is a perfectly logical one.

Advertising enables a merchant to sell more goods in a day. Thus his daily operating expenses is collected from a large number of customers--instead of from a few.

Assuming that he sells ten times as much merchandise as the non-advertising store sells, he is enabled to greatly undersell his slower competitor, and still make a larger aggregate profit.

The penalty--the tax--therefore, is paid by the hapless shopper who goes to the non-advertising store; and who, by paying a higher price, indirectly "pays for the advertising" that the live merchant does.

Assuredly the patron of the advertising merchant does not "pay for his advertising," for, because of the advertising, such patron saves money on her purchase!
