Bell Starts to Ring.

Just for the information of the Newberg Enterprise and its publicity seeking editor let us state that we are not "mised," roped, chain-led, skirt-led, or any other kind of "led." We absolutely do not countenance gambling, but we do stand for a square deal. No gambling in any form will be permitted upon the grounds of the Forest Grove Training Park, for the very good reason that Capt. McCan would not sanction it and for the other very good reason that there is a state law against gambling and Washington county has a sheriff who is not afraid to enforce the law. As to Sunday racing in this vicinity, that is a matter for local discussion and is in no way interesting to Editor Bell, who will do well to sound his chimes of alarm regarding the particular evils of his own baliwick. Forest Grove can attend to its own affairs without the assistance of Editor Bell or any other outsider, with a penchant for dipping into questions of which they know nothing.

Weighty opinions may now be sent by parcel post.

Get ready to swat the first fly! If you can't get at his solar plexus, hit him between the eyes.

There are two ways of wasting your money. One is to spend it so fast that it doesn't have any time to do good, and the other is to hold on to it so tight that it never gets a chance.

Recent investigations show that it costs the government $3,200 to bury a dead congressman. Some of our exchanges are inclined to complain of this extravagant outlay; but it is a fact that there are several the people would like to see buried even at that cost.

If every person would adopt and strictly practice the rule of not saying anything derogatory to others, only when truth and justice positively require facts to be told, there would soon be an era of good feeling and a joyous atmosphere of peace over every community, church, school and family. The tale bearer and the gossip monger are more of a curse to a community than the smallpox and scarlet fever. The latter can be quarantined, but who can corral the former? The good book tells us where they get their start of fire from.

Young man, young woman, let us whisper in your ear. By all that is good, by all that is holy, by this twentieth century of marvelous discovery and wonderful progress, if you don't wish to be left lying on your back, see to it that your education is not neglected while you have the time. If you haven't the time, take it. "A pound of pluck is worth a ton of luck." Do not let your God-given intellect wither for want of nourishment when our schools offer such splendid facilities wherewith to fit yourself for the best, the broadest and noblest things of every day life.

A youngster who was evidently well posted in current events, was recently asked by the teacher how the world was divided. His reply was, "between the sugar and oil trust and the Standard Oil Co."

The old saying has it that "when the days begin to lengthen the cold begins to strengthen." Will those who are attending school and well up in geography tell us why this is the case? Why should not the weather become warmer as the hours of sunlight become more, and the dead of winter come at or near the shortest day of the year?

Readers who would consult their pecuniary interests should not fail to closely examine the advertisements of our merchants, who advertise bargains in this paper. They mean business in every word they advertise and purpose to make business by the bargains they are advertising. Pursue these advertisements carefully and call on these merchants for the bargains they are offering.

Wanted, an editor who can read, write and argue politics, and at the same time be religious, funny, scientific and historical at will, write to please everybody, know every thing without asking or being told, always having something good to say about everybody else, live on wind and make more money than enemies. For such a man a good opening will be made (in the graveyard).

A great many young men, whom the doctors advise to take long walks and exercise with dumb bells to reduce their avoirdupois, will stand around the house with their hands in their pockets while the little wife removes the tacks from the carpet, and then complain if she requests of her lord to pull it out from under the stove while she lifts the stove. O, man, thou art certainly a humbug.

When your home merchant presents you with his bill do not allow the hair on your spine to rise like porcupine quills, and look as though you had been insulted. The chances are he trusted you for the shirt on your back and the groceries to keep your family. Speak kindly to him who has accommodated you, for you know you like prompt pay in others. A man whose temper rises to ninety degrees in a shade when asked for a just account, and feels his dignity has been trampled on is a good man—not to trust.

There are some things that a level headed human being should never do. Among these is to kindle a fire with kerosene oil, to walk on a railroad, to attempt to get on a moving train, to point a gun or a revolver at another, to put his name on another man's note, to keep his savings in an old stocking under the bed, to play a game of chance with a prepossessing stranger, to run for office when he has a paying position in private life, or to call a bigger man than himself a liar.

DEVOTED TO THE W. C. T. U.

Edited by Mrs. Katherine R. Kerr

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday at the residence of Mrs. Anna Bolderick. It is the last business meeting before the election, June 9, and a full meeting is desired. Three p. m. sharp.

During the entire session of congress the W. C. T. U. keeps a superintendent of legislation in Washington to look after reform bills.

David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University, writes; "The boy who smokes cigarettes need not be anxious about his future, for he will have none."

About six hundred thousand meetings have been held the last year under the W. C. T. U. auspices, or addressed by W. C. T. U. speakers. The society, the largest woman's organization in the world, constantly increases in membership. Each woman who joins the W. C. T. U. belongs not only to her local union, but to the state, national and world's W. C. T. U.

Two boys in the school room were placed, one always perfect, the other disgraced. "Time enough for my lessons," he said, "I will climb by and by from the foot to the head." Now listen, my darling, the boys' locks are turned gray; one as a governor sitteth to-day, the other, a pauper, looks out at the door of the almshouse, and idles his days as of yore. Does it pay, boys, to be a truant from school? Satan finds mischief for idle boys and girls.

At the meeting of the W. C. T. U. Friday, April 18, Mrs. Wm. Kerr, the president, was chosen to represent the Union at the coming second Christian conference in Portland.

Tommy was a city boy and worked as an errand boy for four gentlemen who did business together. They joked Tom about being so small. "You will never do any business," said one of them, "You are too small." Tommy thought a while, then said, "Well, small as I am, I can do something you four big men cannot do." "What is it?" said they. "I can keep from swearing," said Tommy. The faces of his employers showed they had learned a lesson from noble, manly, little Tom.

An old friend of General Sheridan in Chicago once asked him this question. "General, if you could choose for your little son from all the temptations that beset him, the one most to be feared, what would it be?" The general answered, "The curse of strong drink; and I say woe to the man or boy who becomes a slave to liquor. I would rather see my little son die to-day than to see him carried into his mother drunk." Boys, sign the pledge and keep it.
