All Around Town

Charles Waigan of the Duncan Meat Market, on Main street received word Tuesday that his brother, while riding horseback driving cattle near Nampa, Idaho, was struck and killed by lightning. Mr. Waigan left Wednesday morning for Nampa.

Clarence Hoyt, of the Wilson River country, was in this city, Friday, on his way home from Ridgefield, Wn., where he went to close a trade of a farm he owned there for city property. Clarence is now engaged in cattle raising, and is prospering.

Donald Lancefield, a former resident of this city, has been elected a member of the Reed College, Portland, Student Council. Lancefield is a member of the first class of Reed College.

The contractor for the new High school in this city has awarded the contract for furnishing the brick for the new building to the North Plains Brick company. The brick will be brought over by auto-truck to the number of 130,000.

Eden Mowe, whose home is in this city, was ordained to the ministry at Eugene, recently at the annual Commencement exercises of the Eugene Bible University. Mrs. Mowe, who has been living at Eugene while Eden attended the University, will return to her home in this city.

Miss Bertha Dorris spent Saturday and Sunday in Portland.

Miss Maude Franklin spent Saturday in Cornelius.

Mrs. J. T. Derby, of Portland, and daughter, Fern, spent the week end in this city.

Miss Esther Chalmers is visiting in the Grove this week.

Holman Ferrin, who is attending school in Vermont, is expected to return about July 1.

Dr. and Mrs. Kauffman were visiting friends in the Rose City, Sunday.

Mrs. J. A. Peterson, of David's Hill, was visiting the Anderson family, who formerly lived near the Petersons, the past week. Mr. Anderson has been quite ill.

Mrs. McCullough and daughter, of Scoggin's Valley, were shopping in this city, Monday.

F. D. Harris and wife, of Gaston, visited in this city the first of the week.

Clifford Thompson, of Cedar Canyon, was a business visitor to this city, Monday.

Rev. C. H. Hilton, pastor of the Christian church, went to Independence, Sunday, where he ordained Ben C. Crow into the ministry. Rev. Crow is pastor of the Christian church at Independence.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Campbell were in from their farm west of this city, Saturday.

Twenty-five teams and single rigs were hitched to the rack on the east side of the church square at one time, Saturday. This is a pretty good indication that this city is popular as a trading centre with the farms of the surrounding country.

George Boos, Forest Grove's first mayor, was in from his farm at Seghers, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Thornburgh, of Banks, were visitors to this city the last day of the week.

Fred Wilson, prominent dairyman, of the Gales Creek section, was greeting his friends in this city, Saturday.

E. Cole, of David's Hill, was a pleasant caller at this office, Friday, putting in an order for printed butter wrappers.

School Election June 16

The school election for this district will be held June 16, for the purpose of electing one director and a clerk. Mrs. Edward Seymour's term expires, and her successor will be elected. Mrs. Seymour has given good satisfaction, and will probably be re-elected should she care to hold office again.

Club Sell Red Cross Seals

The chairman of the Public Health committee of the State Federation of Woman's Club sent a check for $45.00 to the Woman's Club of Forest Grove to be used in defraying the expenses incurred in the maintenance and care of Logan Marquand Merrimac in Hampton Roads on March 9, 1862, is preserved among the historic records of the navy department.

Good Things at Star Theatre

The Star Theatre will offer a special Decoration Day program tomorrow. "The Woe of Battle" is a story of war and carnage, and is a thrilling, absorbing drama of the Civil war. "When Mary Grew Up" is a sweet little playlet that will appeal to you, and "The Horse That Wouldn't Stay Hitched" is a sidebreaking comedy that will complete the bill.

There will be no pictures shown at the Star Monday night, as the popular play house will be in the hands of a large force of carpenters and decorators, and Tuesday night when the Star reopens, its many patrons will see one of the prettiest and best appointed motion picture houses in the state. The bill Tuesday will open with "The Boy Millionaire" a western comedy in two reels that will make you reel with laughter and is a rib breaker from start to finish. Other fine films will be shown Tuesday night.

Jap-a-Lac is the housewife's friend. Will renovate the oldest furniture, cover the woodwork, stain the floors, and can be used in many other ways. For sale by Paterson's Furniture Store, Forest Grove. 18tf

FOR OUR DEAD—MAY 30.

I.
Flowers for our dead!
The delicate wild roses faintly red,
The valley lily bells as purely white
As shines their honor in the vernal light,
All blooms that be
As fragrant as their fadeless memory,
By tender hands entwined and garlanded,
Flowers for our dead!

II.
Praise for our dead!
For those that followed and for those that led,
Whether they felt death's burning accolade
When brothers drew the fratricidal blade
Or closed undaunted eyes
Beneath the Cuban or Philippine skies,
While waves our brave bright banner overhead
Praise for our dead!

III.
Love for our dead!
O hearts that droop and mourn, be comforted!
The darksome path through the mazes of pain,
The final hour of travail not in vain,
For Freedom's morning smile
Broadens across the seas from isle to isle,
By reverent lips let this fond word be said—
Love for our dead!
—Collier's Weekly.

MONITOR'S LOG PRESERVED.

It Was Given to Navy Department by Captain Stodder.

The original log book of the famous Monitor, covering the period of her engagement with the Confederate iron-clad Merrimac in Hampton Roads on March 9, 1862, is preserved among the historic records of the navy department.

The restoration of the log to the department was due to Captain Louis Stodder of the United States revenue cutter service and an officer on the Monitor during her entire service. For years he treasured the log among his most valuable possessions, but as the infirmities of age increased he desired to see it placed where its preservation might be assured. Hence it was that he forwarded it to the library of the navy department.

The entries cover dates from Feb. 26 to the end of 1862 and tell of the little "cheese box on a raft" foundering off Cape Hatteras on Dec. 31, 1862, when Stodder was acting master, and of her engagements with the Confederate batteries at Sewall's Point, Hampton Roads, and at Fort Darling, in the James river. But by far the most interesting concern the fight with the Merrimac. Among the entries on Sunday, March 9, 1862, are the following:

4 to 8 p. m.—Fine weather and calm. At sunrise saw three steamers lying under Sewall's Point. Made one out to be the rebel steamer Merrimac. At 7:30 got under way and stood toward her and piped all hands to quarters. J. WEBER.
From 8 to meridian.—Fine, clear weather. The rebel steamers advancing and opened fire on the Minnesota. 8:29 opened fire on the Merrimac. From that time until 12 constantly engaged with the Merrimac. LOUIS STODDER.
From meridian to 4 p. m.—Clear weather. At 12:30 rifled shell struck the pilot-house, severely injuring Commander Worden. 1 p. m., the Merrimac hauled off in a disabled condition. Stood toward the Minnesota and received on board Assistant Secretary Fox of the navy. 2 p. m., Captain Worden left for Fort Monroe in charge of Surgeon Logue. GEORGE FREDERICKSON.

1863 1913 GETTYSBURG Fifty Years After

IN all the centuries, with their innumerable wars, there have been few great, decisive battles. The world has been full of bloodshed and carnage and the horrid rapine that goes with war, but among the battles innumerable there have been but few that greatly influenced the world's history or decided the fate of nations.

Creasy in his standard work on the "Decisive Battles of the World" names but fifteen of them between Marathon and Waterloo, and of all that were fought before and since those epoch making dates none has been greater or more decisive than Gettysburg.

The town of Gettysburg is a peaceful little place, brightened and freshened somewhat since the wartime, to be sure, but only slightly larger than then and not very different in outward appearance.

Several things about the battleground impress the uninitiated visitor. First is its vast extent. It embraces twenty-five square miles. You may ride over it all day and not see it all.

In its monuments and its carefully marked sites of interest it is the most remarkable battlefield of the world.

THE SUMMIT OF LITTLE ROUND TOP.

Here, scattered over the hills and fields, are no fewer than 600 monuments and tablets. Most of them are of elaborate and artistic design, costing all the way from a few hundred to a hundred thousand dollars.

The spot of culminating emotions, however, is not the dreadful field of carnage, but the peaceful, beautiful, national cemetery where lie,

Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day,
The thousands of brave men, named and nameless. On this spot, within the great semicircle of graves, Lincoln pronounced that most wonderful of orations, simple, brief, eloquent, classic, heart moving—that oration that will live as long as the English language is spoken and whose closing words are engraved on the great national monument which marks the spot where it was delivered.

The Sleep of the Heroes

UNDER the summer sun and stars
And under the winter snow
Our heroes sleep, unvexed by wars,
While the seasons come and go.
Kissed by the dew and gentle showers
And arched by the blue above,
They sleep today 'neath a world of flowers,
Left there by a nation's love.
