

NEW PRESIDENT FOR PACIFIC UNIVERSITY CHOSEN BY TRUSTEES

Dr. C. J. Bushnell, Progressive Young Educator Will Head Local Institution After August First—Is A Writer and Lecturer of Prominence

Dr. C. J. Bushnell, dean and head of the department of social science at Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., was chosen Saturday as President of Pacific University to succeed William N. Ferrin, who resigned a few months ago. The action was taken at a meeting of the trustees held in the office of B. S. Huntington, chairman of the board.

Dr. Bushnell will take immediate charge of the university, and is expected to assume his duties about August 1. One of the first things that will demand his attention is the completion of the endowment fund for which the trustees and alumni of the school have been working for more than a year.

Pacific University now is endowed for $250,000 but recently J. J. Hill made an additional contribution of $40,000 on condition that other friends of the University raise $160,000. The completion of this fund will give the school an endowment aggregating $405,000. In the last year President Ferrin has given much of his attention to this task of raising the endowment.

Dr. Bushnell is not unknown in Oregon, as he served for two years—from 1901 to 1903—as professor of social science of Albany College. He is 38 years of age and a native of Des Moines, Iowa.

He is a graduate of the University of Chicago where he won five scholarships and attained the Ph. B. degree in 1893 at the age of 23. Later he was also awarded a Ph. D. degree. The special subjects that he pursued were sociology, economics, political science, philosophy, pedagogy, religion, public speaking, and bible.

After completing his term of service at Albany College in 1903 Professor Bushnell was head professor of social science at the following institutions successively: Heidelberg University; Tiffany, O., for 4 years; Trinity University, Texas, one year; Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, one year; Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis., three years—from 1910 to date.

Dr. Bushnell has been in frequent demand as a public speaker and lecturer and has delivered platform addresses in various parts of the United States and Canada.

He is a member of the Congregational church and is an active Sunday school worker and has taught classes in all cities in which he has lived. His present Sunday school class is composed of college women who are taking a course on "Fundamental Problems of College Women."

Besides his Sunday school work he has been active in organizing church brotherhoods and clubs. He was chairman of the committee of the Congregational church at Appleton, which installed and now operates educational and religious moving pictures to illustrate evening services.

As a writer on religious and sociological subjects he has gained considerable prominence. Some of his published writings include "Some Social Aspects of the Chicago Stockyards," "Progress City," "Public Relief in the United States" and "The Social Problem of America in the Twentieth Century."

Dr. Bushnell was married a few years ago to a daughter of Judge Hewitt, of Albany. She has taken a leading part in social welfare work in the several places in which they have lived. She is a graduate of Chicago University and obtained a master's degree in sociology there.

During the past year Pacific has been in charge of a committee of control composed of three members of the faculty. This committee was appointed when it was decided to send Dr. Ferrin to the east to carry on the financial campaign. His connection with the college terminated with the end of the present school year. The trustees at Saturday's meeting adopted a resolution of appreciation of Dr. Ferrin's services during the many years he has been at Pacific.

DOG RACES MILES IN FRONT OF CAR

Monday night when the 9:35 Oregon electric car was coming from Portland to this city, a rather unusual thing occurred. Just after the car had passed Beaverton a large shepherd dog ran onto the track ahead of the car. The motorman sounded his warning horn, but the dog refused to leave the track and raced in front of the swiftly moving car for nearly three miles. A number of times the dog was nearly run down, and would have perished under the wheels if the motorman had not reduced the speed when this seemed eminent.

The shepherd finally realized his great danger, and sprang away from the track. The motorman said this was the most peculiar instance he had ever met with, and explained it on the theory that the brilliant headlight on the car had "rattled" the dog.

THE TALE OF THE TAIL OF A DOG

Tuesday some boy or boys, with the thoughtlessness and indifference that is not always a characteristic of youth, tied a tin can to a dog's tail on Pacific Avenue in the neighborhood of Third street. The poor little animal ran around in a distracted manner, scared out of its wits. It finally ran under a store building where it set up a pitiful whine which attracted the attention of two ladies who were passing. They coaxed it out and a kindhearted physician who just then happened by, removed the instrument of torture.

There is a severe penalty attached to an act of cruelty such as this. Parents should teach their children to be kind to dumb animals, and if moral suasion has a lukewarm effect, a little hazel tea should be administered, otherwise the strong arm of the law may step in and give them a needed spanking.

UNCLE SAM'S BIRTHDAY

Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.

By WALTON WILLIAMS
WHEN Uncle Samuel had reached
 His eighty-seventh year
 He had about the biggest fight
 That Time has witnessed in his flight
 Upon this rolling sphere.

BUT now that fifty birthdays have
 Been added to the score
 Your Uncle Sam is of a mind
 That is more peacefully inclined,
 And he would fight no more.

AND yet if other lands get gay—
 A course they might regret—
 They would awaken to the truth
 That Uncle Sam is still a youth
 With some fights in him yet.

Papa-Willie, You May Begin Firing When Ready

The subject for the morning sermon at the Congregational church next Sunday will be "Bought with a Price." At evening the theme of Pastor Thomas will be "Liberty."

NATIVE SON IS MUNICIPAL JUDGE

In Recognition of His Fitness For Position J. H. Stevenson is Appointed by Portland Mayor

John H. Stevenson, a son of Ex-Judge, R. O. Stevenson, of Elk Horn Farm, north of this city, has been appointed Municipal Judge of Portland by Mayor Albee, and assumed the duties of the office Tuesday.

John H. Stevenson is a native son, and was born here in 1878. He received his early education in the Watt school and later attended a Portland business college. He was employed on the reportorial staff of The Evening Telegram for seven years, during three of which he studied law, and in 1907 was admitted to the bar. Shortly after being admitted to practice he was appointed Deputy Prosecuting Attorney of Multnomah county. He served in this capacity for one year, and then resigned to take up private practice, being associated with Attorney John F. Logan, one of the leading barristers of Oregon.

Mr. Stevenson was not a candidate for the office of Municipal Judge, but Mayor Albee offered him the position without solicitation from anybody, and the offer was accepted. Everyone in this section is acquainted with this brilliant young attorney, and are assured that he will discharge the responsible duties of his office with evenhanded justice.

THE EAGLE WILL SCREAM TOMORROW

The Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence will be fittingly celebrated in several towns of Washington county tomorrow. The biggest celebration will be held at Hillsboro, where the time-honored lists of sports, such as horse and foot races, ball games, merry-go-rounds, baloon ascensions and side shows will furnish amusement to the large crowds which are expected to attend. Dancing will also be one of the means of enjoyment, and the celebration will close July 4 with a grand display of fireworks.

In the forenoon patriotic addresses and a musical program will be given.

A celebration will be held at Cornelius under the auspices of the Socialist party. They are planning to have a big time, and will have speaking and amusements for the younger people. One unique feature of the celebration at Cornelius will be the selling of icecream, candy, lemonade and other things dear to the young celebrant's heart at cost. This will make the kids all want to celebrate at Cornelius.

Verboort, Sherwood and Orenco are also advertising to celebrate, and several of the smaller hamlets will also observe the day with exercises. Many of the residents of this city have declared their intention of remaining at home, and some of them will take well-filled baskets and seek the quiet nooks in the surrounding foothills. All of these celebrations depend on the state of the weather, but the fates will surely be kind on the Glorious Fourth.

LOCAL PRODUCT MAY BRING WEALTH

Clay Beds Near This City Are Valuable for Porcelain—Discovered by former Resident.

Forest Grove may become famous as a pottery town, if the hopes of Henry Albers, of the Albers Milling Company, Portland materialize. Mr. Albers spent part of last summer in Germany, and took with him samples of porcelain clays, or clays which he thinks will be available for pottery. He owes a bed of fine gray pottery clay a mile southeast of this city, in what is known as the Fern Hill section.

Mr. Albers took samples of the clay to the largest factories in Europe, where he had it tested, and there was but one fault—the clay was too fat, too rich, requiring to be impoverished with fine sand to make fine pottery or porcelain. So far Mr. Albers has been unable to find just the quality of sand required, but he expects to be able to interest people in his clay beds, and it is probable that when a more extended search is made the right kind of clay will be discovered. Should Mr. Albers succeed in founding a porcelain industry in this city he will place the entire state under obligation to him, as this would be a great source of revenue.

The clay beds now owned by Mr. Albers were discovered by Tom Bellinger, a former well known resident of this city, now living at Cornelius. Mr. Bellinger installed a grinding machine and ground several tons of clay, which he sold for manufacturing purposes, but as there was no great demand for the product as it is now, Mr. Bellinger sold his holdings to Mr. Albers. Should a great industry evolve from the use of this clay, Mr. Bellinger will deserve recognition as the discoverer of the clay beds.

ARMY VETERANS EXTEND THANKS

Department of Oregon, G. A. R. Portland, Or., June 26, 1913 To the Hon. Mayor and Council, J. B. Mathews Post No. 6 G. A. R. The Faculty of Pacific University, The Commercial Club, The Ladies Civic Club and fraternal Societies representing the people of Forest Grove: The Comrades of the Department of Oregon, Grand Army of the Republic, assembled in the 32nd Annual Encampment at Newburg, June 17-19, 1913, unanimously voted to instruct the Assistant Adjutant General to express to you their hearty appreciation of your courteous and kindly invitation to hold their 33d Encampment in your fair city, and to convey to you their sincere thanks for your remembrance of them.

Many of us have pleasant recollections of our sojourn in your beautiful town, some years ago, and hope to have the pleasure of visiting you again at some future time.

Very respectfully,
 C. A. Williams,
 Assistant Adjutant General,
 Department of Oregon.

A fire in the Loomis dwelling house on Main street called the fire laddies out Tuesday night at about 10 o'clock. The flames were subdued without material damage.
