TRAVELING SCHOOL COMING SEPT. 5-6

GENERAL WELFARE SUBJECTS TO BE DEMONSTRATED

O. A. C. Professors Will Visit Many Oregon Towns This Summer

Word has been received here that the traveling General Welfare school sent out by O. A. C. will visit Forest Grove September 5 and 6.

Corvallis.—The two traveling schools, general welfare and agricultural, now being conducted in the Willamette Valley by the extension division of the Oregon Agricultural College, left Albany on a six weeks' educational campaign throughout Oregon. The instructional force in these schools is composed of sixteen O. A. C. professors, assisted by members of the State Dairy and Food Commission, State Grange and the Oregon Social Hygiene Society. Equipped with portable laboratories, demonstration and illustrative apparatus and material, these schools are carrying to the people of Oregon a valuable store of knowledge of the most approved methods of home and farm management. The State Library Commission, represented by its secretary, has also joined in the movement. And the Federated Women's clubs, through their president, Mrs. Sarah A. Evans, have fully endorsed the movement and are lending assistance to it.

The itinerary of the general welfare schools includes eighteen cities and towns. There will be six programs in the two days' session in each place visited, made up of lectures—many of them illustrated—demonstrations and classroom discussions on the subject of home economics; lecture on hygiene by Secretary Cummins of the Oregon Social Hygiene Society, and display of the exhibit which was a feature of the world conference in Portland; the exhibit of a model traveling library by Miss Marvin, including lists of books for home study courses; a series of lectures on the bacteriological features of household sanitation, disinfection and impurities in milk and water, by Professor T. D. Beckwith; and illustrated evening lectures on landscape gardening by Professor A. L. Peck. The work in home economics is of the most practical kind and its various phases will be discussed by Mrs. Lullie W. Robbins and Miss Edna Groves, of the O. A. C. domestic science staff, assisted by Professors Tartar, Brodie and daughters. The schedule is as follows:

Ashland, August 11-12; Medford, 13-14; Grants Pass, 15-16; Roseburg, 18-19; Cottage Grove, 20-21; Eugene 22-23; Independence 25-26; Dallas, 27-28; McMinnville, 29-30; Newberg, September 1-2; Hillsboro 3-4; Forest Grove, 5-6; Hood River, 8-9; The Dalles, 10-11; Pendleton 12-13; La Grande, 15-16; Baker 17-18; Huntington, 19-20.

The Agricultural School.

Following the methods of instruction pursued by the general welfare schools but substituting subjects peculiarly related to its special service, the agricultural school will hold its sessions in about thirty rural centers of the state. The teaching staff consists of Dr. James Withycombe, Professors E. L. Potter and G. Samson, department of animal husbandry; Alva B. Milam and Mrs. Orla Buxton, domestic science and art; A. G. Lunn, poultry husbandry; H. D. Scudder, G. R. Hyslop and W. L. Powers, agronomy, and M. S. Schrock, Deputy State dairy and Food Commissioner, dairying.

Wilson and His Job.

A man of insight, after a long journey through seven western states, returned to Washington with this opinion:

"The folks back yonder are watching Wilson and are saying, 'Why, that's the man we've been looking for.'"

Only five months in office and see what he has done:

Got the tariff on the toboggan. Canned the lobby.

Called Wall street's panic bluff. Started currency reforms.

And handled the Mexican muddle as if he had been doing such things all his life.

These specific things aren't, however, the biggest of his achievements. The biggest is his taking hold of a rusty and discredited party machinery and making it work for the common good.

We do not print the above so much for its own merit as the fact that it appeared as the leading editorial in a late issue of the Portland News. It is so everlastingly seldom that that sheet praises anything we could not help but reprinting this optimistic little article.

The Peoples' Exchange.

There is no part of the newspaper that comes closer to the life of the people than the classified advertising. The news dispatches tell of things very important, but distant. The classified advertising tells of things that closely effect the daily lives of home people. The housewife is anxious to see who is advertising "bargains," trades and swaps. Working people want to know who desires help. People who own, or who want to buy or sell real estate, are interested in the transfers that are going on. This advertising uncovers very closely the lives of the people. It is the throb of the town pulse.

It is astonishing how many answers one can often get from a simple little notice in the "To Rent," "For Sale" or "Wanted" columns.—Exchange.

Aerial Rural Delivery.

An aerial railway for carrying mail on rural routes from the mail box to the house is described, with illustrations, in the August Popular Mechanics Magazine. A small truck, designed to run on cables, is equipped with motor and drive shaft, and a basket is hung from this truck. The truck is propelled by current supplied through the wires.

SOCIETY stationary of correct style and neat appearance may be obtained from the PRESS job department.
