In the District Court for Forest Grove District, Washington County, Oregon

J. H. Velle, Plaintiff, vs. N. B. Hall and Charles E. Hall, defendants.

SUMMONS
To Charles E. Hall, one of the above named defendants, Greeting:
In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled action, on or before the 25th day of September, A. D., 1913, said date being six weeks after the first publication of this Summons. If you fail to appear and answer, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in the complaint filed herein, which is for a judgement in the sum of sixty-five and no-100 ($65.00) Dollars, attorneys' fee in the sum of twenty-five and no-100 ($25.00) Dollars, together with interest provided for in the instrument sued upon, and for his costs and disbursements herein.
You will please take notice that this summons is served upon you personally with a certified copy of the complaint, pursuant to the terms of an order in the above entitled action, made by the above named Court, by the Honorable W. J. R. Beach, Justice of the Peace for Forest Grove District, Washington County, Oregon, on the 14th day of August, A. D., 1913, requiring that publication be made at least once a week for six consecutive weeks, in the Forest Grove Press and requiring that the first publication be made on the 14th day of August, A. D., 1913, and the last publication on the 25th day of September, A. D., 1913.

W. J. R. BEACH, Justice of the Peace for Forest Grove, District Washington County, Oregon.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW, Chatham, N. Y., Editor of the New York State Grange Review

GRANGE LITERARY WORK.

New Hampshire's Efficient System of Promoting Education.

New Hampshire state grange has an efficient system of literary work, and for excellence in respect to it a suitable prize is offered in each of the twenty-seven deputies' districts. Every grange may have a score of fifty points for literary work at each of the two regular meetings in a month, according to the following schedule: Discussions count twenty points; essays, fifteen; vocal music, five; instrumental music, five; addresses, ten; readings, five; recitations, ten; dramas, forty; farces, twenty; tableaux, five; grange papers, five; special features, ten. No program shall score more than fifty points.

The contest began Feb. 1 and ends Sept. 30.

Pomona grange programs given on the afternoon or evening of a regular subordinate grange meeting may be counted for the subordinate grange and may be public.

The failure of a grange to discuss the questions assigned in the months specified will deduct 100 points from the score for each failure.

The failure of any subordinate lecturer to report to the state lecturer the amount and kind of literary work done during each quarter within thirty days from the expiration of said quarter shall necessitate a reduction of fifty points from the score. The percentage of attendance of the members at all the regular meetings of the grange during the time of the contest shall be added to the score of the programs, and the total shall be the basis on which the prize shall be awarded in each deputies' district.

At the meeting next prior to the annual town meeting granges must discuss "articles of business in the town and school meeting warrants." Granges located where no town meetings are held are requested to discuss "municipal reform." At some meeting in September the grange must discuss the question of directing its influence in securing more adequate legislation relative to bovine tuberculosis. An appropriate prize will be awarded to the subordinate grange in each of the twenty-seven deputies' districts which make the highest score in degree work and attendance.

A SUCCESSFUL SESSION.

Interesting Annual Meeting of Washington State Grange.

The last annual meeting of the Washington state grange was one of the most interesting of recent years. The session was honored with the presence of many prominent officials of the state, including Governor Lister, who gave an earnest address, in which he called attention to the very evident purpose of the people of Washington to dictate their own affairs and forcibly declared that "the time has gone by when four, six or eight men can gather in a room and fix the policies of a party or a state." The governor paid an earnest tribute to the constructive work of the grange and the beneficial results of its work in producing a higher citizenship.

Much attention was given to the conferring of degrees, and the exemplification given by the ladies' degree team of Beacon Hill grange was a delightful feature. The fifth degree was given to a class of thirty-nine candidates by the Stevens county Pomona degree team. At the conferring of the sixth degree there were 191 candidates, while the work was witnessed by a large audience of Patrons from all parts of the state.

A big banquet was served one evening to the delegates and visitors, tendered by the Patrons of the local county. Seats were provided for 300 guests, and this was the distinct social feature of the session. The Tontaine orchestra furnished music during the banquet, and vocal selections were interspersed. Addresses were made by State Master C. B. Kegley, Mayor Henry R. Spedden, F. J. Chamberlain of Puyallup, President Howard W. Stoll of the chamber of commerce, State Lecturer C. W. Frasee of Chehalis, State Overseer W. C. Pickling of Sunnyside and Deputy State Master F. P. Waters of Rice, the first master of the Stevens county Pomona. This was the biennial election year of the state grange, and State Master C. B. Kegley was re-elected.

Money For Farmers.

In these days, when so much is being said and so little done to give farmers money at a lower rate of interest, these ringing words from the northwest, written by Mr. C. B. Kegley, master of the Washington state grange, are suggestive and to the point: "The latest returns show deposits in the various postal savings banks of something under $30,000,000. This can be doubled inside of twelve months if our Uncle Sam will offer 3 per cent in place of 2 per cent and loan to farmers at 4 or 4 1/2 per cent. If this were done money would pour into Uncle Sam's savings banks, and there would be no need for all this talk about farm credits."

Advertising Facts All Merchants Know

By HOLLAND.

THE merchant who spends his money for advertising space has but one object—to increase his business. He wants to attract new customers and to let old customers know what particular bargains are available or what desirable new goods have arrived. He does not advertise from motives of vanity, merely to see his name in print. Neither does he do it from motives of charity. The paper is not soliciting gifts.

No; the merchant is after business, and he goes after it in a business way. He knows that it will not pay to advertise bargains that are not genuine, that it will not be profitable to make false claims or statements. He is building not only for today and tomorrow, but for next week, next month, next year. Looking to the future makes him conservative and truthful in his statements.

Every advertisement in this paper is proof of the confidence of the advertiser in the goods he offers. He has confidence in himself, in the publication and in the intelligence of the readers. You can profit by sharing his confidence.

Coffee.

BEETS may be served with meat. They should never be cut before they are cooked, as this will deprive them of much of their color and sweetness. After boiling they may be put into a pan of cold water and the skins then be rubbed off.

With Cream Sauce.
Minc'd Beets.—Take off the green heads, wash and boil until tender. Then plunge into cold water and remove the skins. Slice and mince the beets. Serve with a dressing made by combining two tablespoonfuls each of butter, sugar and vinegar with salt and pepper to taste and a cupful of thin sweet cream. The beets should be served hot.

Pickled beets are also served with cold meat. They may be prepared as needed or pickled in quantity and put up in jars for use later.

A Spicy Appetizer.
Pickled Beets.—Boil the beets until tender, then drain and put in cold water. Rub off the skins and slice very thin. To one cupful of vinegar add a tablespoonful of brown sugar, an allspice, a clove, a saltspoonful of salt and a slice of onion. Pat on the stove to heat. Place the slices of beet in a glass dish, alternating them with slices of green pepper, from which the seeds have been removed. Pour the hot liquid over and set aside to get cold.

Wholesome Dishes.
Creamed Beets.—Boil the beets until tender in boiling water. Rub the skins off and slice thin. Have ready in a double boiler a cupful of cream or one of milk, to which you have added a tablespoonful of butter and put the beets in this. Rub together a tablespoonful each of flour and butter, stir it into the cream, add pepper, salt and a teaspoonful of sugar. Simmer until the sauce thickens and serve.

Baked Beets.—Select beets of same size. Remove the greens and roots, wash and place on a baking pan in the oven. Bake until tender, then peel, slice and serve hot with butter.
