FAIR PAYS GOOD PROFIT

Oregon's Best Agricultural Exhibit Ends After Breaking All Records.

Salem.—Oregon's greatest state fair came to a close Saturday night. Perfect weather, excellent exhibits and state pride have filled the coffers of the association, and for the first time in its history it is out of debt. There will be a greater exhibition next year, for the management already has made arrangements to enlarge its scope.

Secretary Meredith says this is the first time the fair has paid expenses. The total attendance this year was between 80,000 and 90,000. The largest daily crowd was Wednesday, Salem day, when 25,000 were present.

Awards in the children's industrial department at the state fair show a large preponderance of girls among the list of prize winners. This competition, including products of the garden, needle and poultry house, brought out pupils in the state public schools from almost every section to compete.
