Laurelwood Convention

For those who may not know will say that Laurelwood is a little village nestled in the hills about three miles Southeast of Gaston, Oregon, and is the seat of the academy of same name.

The people of this pleasant borough were served with a bounteous mental feast last Sabbath and Sunday in the form of an institute for the advancement of the church, Sabbath school, and Young Peoples' Missionary Volunteer work.

The menu composed of rich papers and talks which were palatable to the minds appetite and nourishing to the soul's needs.

The two leading papers on Sabbath School and Young Peoples Society work were by Mrs. Helen C. Conard, a teacher for years in the Walla Walla College.

The speakers and those in charge of the departments present from a broad were, Prof. B. L. Howe and Miss Rosamond Ginthre, Secretaries respectively of the Educational work, and Sabbath School and Young Peoples Society departments, of "The Western Oregon Conference of Seventh Day Adventists" and Elder H. W. Cottrell President of the Conference, all of Portland, and Eld. W. F. Martin of College Place, Wash., a champion for the cause of civil and religious liberty.

Disregarding the weather man's threatening display of seasonable weather, the Flying Squadron of the County C. E. Union, six strong, left Forest Grove last Sunday afternoon, destined to Fir Grove. A stop was made at Banks, where the splendid hospitality and generous feast of good things provided by Sister the Smith and family, were greatly enjoyed, and warmed up the boys, both inside and out. A brief visit was made to the Epworth League meeting and the journey then resumed. The meeting at Fir Grove was a preparatory service to the series of evangelistic meetings being conducted there this week by Rev. Holmes. The subject discussed was "The Life Worth While," which was divided into six phases. President Claude Hutchens spoke of "The Object of the Life;" Rant Dunsmoor of "The Pleasures;" Alva Patton of "The Efficiency;" Kennard Dixon of "Our Duty to Man;" Rex Dallas of "Our Duty to God," and B. J. Simpson of "The Reward." An earnest appeal was made to those present for the hearty cooperation with Bro. Holmes in his evangelistic work among them and the boys returned feeling that the trip had been both pleasant and profitable for all.
