The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

ICED BEVERAGES WITH TEA.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Mince of Beef and Potatoes.
Scalloped Eggplant.
Peach Shortcake.
Pot Cheese.
Spiced Tea.

BEVERAGES which have the merit of being both cooling and refreshing may be made with tea. Every family has its favorite variety of tea and its own method of making it. Some suggestions for preparing these beverages may not be amiss, however.

In preparing any tea only absolutely fresh, pure water should be used. In making the iced beverage black or green tea may be used, but many persons think it is more palatable if the two kinds are mixed.

Iced Tea.—Make fresh tea double its usual strength. Let it stand for five minutes. Place a thin slice of lemon in the bottom of each glass and one heaping teaspoonful of sugar. Fill the glasses with ice very finely chopped; then pour tea over the ice.

THIS TOWN.

If you can't own the town don't disown it.

This life is what we make it. So is this town.

In some respects this town is not perfect. Are you?

What this town needs isn't fault-finders, but fault fixers.

This town will never grow on money that is sent to some other town.

The country is growing in population. Is this town keeping up?

The man who begins to plan for this town will soon be calling it "my" town.

This town had to be started by somebody. It has got to be kept going by somebody else.

This town doesn't need boosting any more than any other town, but it needs it just as much.

The pioneers thought this was a good place for a town. Let's make it a poor place for knockers.

The easiest way to make things right at Washington is to begin by making things right at home.

Remember there is one big difference between this town and all other towns. This town is where you live.

"Yesterday is gone; tomorrow may never come." This day is your best opportunity. So is this town.

If you are a wage earner here this town spends its money with you. Do you spend your money with the town?

TREES AND EVERGREENS COVER UP DISFIGUREMENTS.

Outlines Softened by Presence of Shrubs Around Country Home.

Numerous trees surrounding a country home or one located in the small town adds more to the general appearance than the design of the house. There is something about the presence of the trees that adds infinite grandeur to the entire surroundings. From time immemorial trees, vines and shrubs have been used to soften the outlines and cover up the disfigurements of houses. This is true of either new or old buildings.

In the winter, when all other growths with the exception of the evergreens are bleak and gray, what is more attractive than a stone or brick house showing its weathered wall surfaces through a warm green coverlet of ivy which conceals and yet discloses and which does away with the hard contours that would otherwise be left by the dearth of surrounding foliage? A good building it will grace and an unsightly one it will redeem as far as redemption is possible.

HOME SURROUNDED BY TREES.

In England a great deal of the charm of the old manor houses and rural cottages is due to the use of ivy and flowering vines. In America their use has been confined principally to churches, public buildings and the great groups of university buildings. Here they are unmistakably beautiful, but their use in connection with the country or city house of moderate size and cost seems to have been overlooked to a large extent.
