SUMMONS

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Washington County. Charles L. Lousignont, Plaintiff, vs. Emma Lousignont, Defendant.

To Emma F. Lousignont, Defendant. In the name of the State of Oregon:

You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, on or before the expiration of six weeks from and after the date of the first publication of this summons, to-wit: The 15th day of January, 1914, and if you fail to answer for want thereof the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in the complaint, to-wit: For the dissolution of the marriage contract now existing between plaintiff and defendant, and for such other relief as may seem meet and equity in the premises, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment, rendering his life burdensome.

This summons is published by the order of the Hon. J. U. Campbell, Judge of the Fifth Judicial District of Oregon, and said order being made on the 25th day of November 1913.

The date of the first publication of this summons is December 4th, 1913, and the last day of the publication of this summons is the 15th day of January, 1914.

J. N. HOFFMAN, Attorney for the Plaintiff.

P. U. FRESHMAN'S LETTERS TO "DAD"

Actual Letters By a Real Freshman to His Father

The "Press" Will Print This Boy's Actual Impressions Each Week

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Wednesday Evening.

DEAR DAD:—In your letter you asked me to keep a record of how I spent my time during one week, so here goes:

Monday from eight o'clock until I attended classes and studied. From four until six I worked, splitting wood. In the evening I went to the first of a series of recital at Marsh Hall. They are being put on by the Pacific University Conservatory. I enjoyed the evening very much.

Tuesday afternoon I played checkers and chess at the City Rest Room; for a while. Then I went walking with some friends. In the evening we all went to the second recital. I thought the leading features of the recital were the College Quartet, and a song by one of the girls.

Wednesday is my heavy day and I was studying and reciting most of the time, although I found time to make a date for the basket ball game on Saturday.

Thursday evening I went to the regular Gamma Sigma Literary Society meeting. We had a fine program. The parts which I enjoyed the most were the debate and a few ragtime selections on a trombone. In both cases the fellows got right into the spirit of the thing.

Friday I flunked in my extempore speaking class, but have permission to take the test over again. In the evening the Alpha Zeta Society gave a minstrel show which was a howling success.

Saturday was a day of disappointments. It rained. I overslept and lost out on breakfast. I went over to the City Rest Room and got "everlastingly wolloped" at chess. I went up to a friend's house and got beaten at rook. In the afternoon I worked. In the evening I got "stung" in regard to the basket ball game, but one of the boys very kindly offered to share my seats with me. The game was certainly all right. The Forest Grove High School trimmed the Estacada team 22 to 15.

Sunday morning I listened to a lecture by President Bushnell on "The Challenge of the Twentieth Century to the Church." He said that America challenges the church from three standpoints: First, because of her wonderful growth and patriotic history; second, her tremendous material progress; third, her great educational problems. There are three big problems before the world today, economic equality, social demands, and political justice. He closed by a strong appeal to the church to go forward to the work of today.

I believe my week's record is now fairly complete. As it is nearly Christmas, and I will come home soon, I would like to pay up my bills here. Those pencils and things certainly came in handy.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I am Your son, JOHN.

High School Notes

The new gas plant was placed in the Domestic Science room this week.

The opening of the new High School building will be Friday, December 19, and friends and patrons of the public schools are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served and in the evening a program will be given.

A Mistletoe Romance

LAST night I went to call on Eulalie. On Eulalie, the fairest maid I know (That is, excepting Imogene and Clare). And as her coming down I did await, I spied, low hanging from the chandelier. A sprig of brightsome holly, all aglow, Which half concealed a bright, contrast-ing spray. Thick jeweled with the pearls of mistletoe. Then suddenly resolve leaped to my mind. A wild resolve and one extremely bold— To wit, that though I'd known her but six years, If she should chance beneath that chandelier To pause, I should at once assert the right, The ancient right of joyous Christmas tide. And strive to kiss her. Lo, the maiden came, With welcome smile and outstretched gladdening hand, To where I stood expectant. She advanced unconscious and serene, she stood Directly 'neath the shining mistletoe. And, though with trepidation in my heart, I kept my pledge unto myself and did The daring deed. Sweet moments followed: then While startled she sought refuge in my arms. But brief the joy, for then from underneath A davenport her little brother crawled And cried: "Say, sis, I told you so, you know I bet he'd bite. Pay up!"— But quick she led Him by the ear unto the door and out. What did the rascal mean? I do not know. Nor do I care for such things—I'm engaged.

An Unfortunate Oversight. "Bless me!" said the thoughtless man. "Isn't this unpleasant! I haven't bought my mother-in-law A single Christmas present."

STREETS AS PLAYGROUNDS.

How Children of City Spend Time and Their Favorite Games.

The People's Institute took a snapshot census of children in the streets of New York city between 4 and 5 o'clock one afternoon. Edward M. Barrows, who directed the census, made the results public recently. The 500 investigators observed 127,727 children. Of these 27,604 were idling and 23,971 more were standing around watching others play. Far and away the most popular sport was baseball, which in one form or another found 12,069 participants—11,500 boys and 500 girls. The girls turned the tables on the boys, however, when it came to caring for babies. This popular outdoor sport had 4,711 devotees—3,890 girls and 821 boys. The census director set down 20,341 children as engaged in wholesome competitive games.

Less than two-thirds of 1 per cent of the children were found fighting—903 boys and seven girls. There were 749 gamblers, of whom only twenty-eight were girls. Some of the favorite street games among the boys as listed in the census are "kick the can," "potsey," "shilly," "cowboys and Indians," marbles and writing on sidewalks.

Do you teach your children that the big house on the hill is the better place to live? Do you teach them that the big town down the river is the better place to trade? If so, how long do you think they will be content with your house and your town?

Advertising on Billboards Often Harmful

By HOLLAND. PUBLICITY is not necessarily advertising. Publicity can be achieved in such a manner as to be harmful. Advertising can be done in such a way as to be worse than useless. The advertising that is successful must make and leave a good impression.

Thousands of people throughout the country object to billboard advertising. They are angered at disfigurements of a beautiful landscape, and if they remember the name of the article on the billboard it is with a feeling of resentment if not with the distinct resolve not to buy that particular object.

Circulars thrown into yards annoy neat householders. They give a bad impression instead of making friends. You would not expect good results from waking a man at 2 o'clock in the morning to tell him about the advantages of doing business with you, and you would not preface an argument for visiting your store with a slap in the face.

The billboard and the circular are often the equivalent of a slap in the face—not to every one perhaps, but to many. Why take chances of offending when the newspaper offers you an opportunity to reach possible customers cheaply, surely and quickly?

NEWSPAPERS OFFER MOST PROFITABLE WAY TO ADVERTISE.
