Sweet Revenge.
Mrs Shopper (after inspecting everything in the store)—I don't see anything here that suits me. I suppose I may as well go down to Stacy's and see what they have. They usually have a good assortment.
Salesman—Here's a card of one of their salesmen. Won't you kindly ask for him?
Mrs. Shopper—Ah! A friend of yours, I presume?
Salesman—No, madam; he has owed me $10 for the past three years.—Puck.

Explosive Diamonds.
A curious fact about diamonds is that it is not uncommon for the crystals to explode as soon as they are brought up from the mine. Sometimes they have burst in the pockets or the warm hands of miners, due to the effect of increased temperature. Large stones are more likely to do this than small ones. Valuable stones have been destroyed in this way. To safeguard them some dealers place large diamonds in raw potatoes for safe transport from South Africa.

Coloring an Abyssinian Bride.
Western brides have an easier time than their Abyssinian sisters. On the occasion of her marriage an Abyssinian bride has to change her skin. From ebony she has to become the color of cafe au lait. To accomplish this the expectant bride is shut up in a room for three months. She is covered with woolen stuff, with the exception of her head. Then they burn certain green and fragrant branches. The fumes which they produce destroy the original skin, and in its place comes the new skin, soft and clear as a baby's.

An Enthusiast.
On the Long Island train were two fashionably dressed young matrons absorbed in the suffrage question. "Do come march with me in the next parade," said the brunette with the tulle bow on her hat.
"Oh, I'd just love to," replied the blond in black velvet, "and I will unless Phil feels too strongly about it. He is rather old fashioned, you know."
"Yes, I know. So is George. But I do hope we can. All my life I've been simply wild to march behind a brass band."—New York Post.

A Work of Supererogation.
Johnson had just recovered from one of the periodical spells to which he was addicted. During the sobering off process he met the village good samaritan, who had often helped him over the rough places in his almost worthless life. Shamefaced and in a repentant mood, he confessed:
"Well, Miss Polly, I certainly have been making a fool of myself again. I found I didn't have to make many alterations to complete the job."—New York Sun.

Art Defended.
They were in a picture gallery. The man was from out of town and rather inclined to be critical. The girl was a Cleveland and filled with civic pride.
They paused in front of a striking picture.
"Ah, that's an old master!" exclaimed the man.
"Maybe it is," defended the girl, "but you can see for yourself that the frame is perfectly new."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Period of Most Intellectual Vigor.
Recent medical statistics as to the age when man has the most intellectual vigor give interesting results. It is from forty to fifty-six years that the most brilliant things have been accomplished by the majority of humans. Scientists and physicians have made brilliant discoveries at forty. Poets have accomplished masterpieces at forty-four, and novelists two years later. Famous warriors average forty-seven; musicians are most brilliant at forty-eight and actors at the same age. Moralists are greatest at fifty-one, politicians at fifty-three, humorists at fifty-six, thus demonstrating that the last thing one learns is how to amuse one's fellows.—New York Times.

Bread Cast Upon Water.
When it came to his turn to give his mite in the Sunday collection, says the Glasgow News, he fumbled among his pocket's contents (a florin and some pennies) for the customary copper and, dropping it in, passed the open box to his neighbor. As he handed the box over he noticed, to his horror, his shining florin among the coins it contained. He had given it in mistake for a penny. Without a moment's hesitation he seized the box ere it had gone too far, picked out the two shilling piece, substituted a penny for it and, blushing, but relieved, allowed the collecting to proceed. Later, on making a chance inspection of his money, he found he had two florins.

Youthful Depravity.
Young Husband—Why, Mary, what are you crying about? Young Wife—Oh, Harry, I am afraid the baby is going to grow up to be a pugilist! Just see how he doubles up his fist.—London Telegraph.

SUMMONS
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Washington County. Sadie M. Morris, Plaintiff, vs. J. G. Morris, Defendant.
In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above-entitled suit, on or before the expiration of six weeks from and after the date of the first publication of this summons, to-wit: the 5th day of March, 1914, and if you fail to answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in the complaint, to-wit: For the dissolution of the marriage contract now existing between plaintiff and defendant, and that she be decreed to be the owner of the home in Forest Grove, and that she have such other and further relief as to the court may seem equity.
This summons is published by order of the Hon. D. B. Reasoner, Judge of the County Court of Washington County, State of Oregon, said order being made on the 3d day of March, 1914.
The date of the first publication of this summons is March 5, 1914, and the last date of publication of this summons the 16th day of April, 1914.
J. N. HOFFMAN,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
