CITY FATHERS STILL DISCUSSING SEWER

With all members present except Councilman Coon, the city fathers met in adjourned meeting Tuesday evening and heard the reading of the report of Engineer Koon of Portland on his findings in an examination of the local sanitary sewer. Mr. Koon, who designed the sewer, had spent two days (Friday and Saturday last) going over the visible portions of the same and stated that he found the system not in a condition for acceptance, because the pipes contained considerable mud and cement, some of the flush tanks leak and in a number of instances there are minor defects that should be remedied before the system was offered for acceptance. Regarding the 973 feet of lateral City Engineer Kirkwood had condemned as leaking excessively, Mr. Koon suggested this piece of work be tested in wet weather before its acceptance. Beyond asking Contractor Elliott to furnish the city engineer with cost invoices for materials used in excess of those mentioned in the specifications, council took no action other than ordering the report filed. Mr. Elliott agreed to furnish the invoices and to flush the mud out of the system.

After ordering some repairs to the paving where it had been cut in laying the sewer, council adjourned. The regular October meeting will be held next Tuesday evening, at which time there will probably be more sewer talk.

Death of Aged Woman

Mrs. Mary M. Beal, aged 86, passed away at the home of her nephew, W. R. Hicks, in this city Saturday evening of progressive paralysis and funeral services were held at the Hicks residence Monday afternoon, by Rev. J. N. Wood, the remains being interred in Forest View cemetery.

Mary M. Smith was born in Monroe county, Tenn., Feb. 16, 1830, where she resided until 1853, when, with her parents, she moved to Missouri, where the mother died ten years later. In 1873, with her father, three sisters and one brother, she started for Oregon. The father died in San Francisco and the remaining members of the family came by boat to Portland and later settled in Cornelius. From Cornelius Mary later went to Klickitat county, Wash., where in December, 1876, she was married to John Beal. In 1889 Mr. and Mrs. Beal came to Forest Grove and here the husband died in June, 1893. Deceased united with the Baptist church at the age of 17 and has always been a consistent Christian. She leaves to mourn her death one sister, Mrs. Maria Lusby of Granger, Wash., and several nephews and nieces.

Catholic Services

The Sunday evening benediction service will be resumed again at St. Anthony's chapel commencing Sunday evening, Oct. 8th, at 6:30. Everyone is most cordially welcome. The following questions will be answered during the service: "Why do Catholics have a Pope?" "Will God condemn me for not believing in Christianity? I have tried to believe but find it impossible?" "Can only Catholic Christians be saved, according to the Catholic Church?" Every Sunday evening questions will be answered if they pertain to religious subjects and are sent to the pastor.

Weatherford Is Coming

Mark V. Weatherford of Albany, democratic and prohibition nominee for congress from this district, will speak on the Brewers' Amendment to the prohibition bill at the Forest Grove M. E. church at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. Mr. Weatherford advertises that he will handle the question with a pitchfork and those who know him believe he will keep his promise. You are invited.

He will speak at McMinnville Oct. 11th and at Hillsboro Oct. 12th.

Grange Meeting Saturday

Gale Grange will meet in regular monthly session at the I. O. O. F hall Saturday, Oct. 8th, at 10:30 a. m.

The Egg Circle committee will report and, as several of the Grangers are preparing to conduct extensive poultry plants, the added information which they can give will add to the committee report.

The committee on resolutions increasing automobile licenses will give the result of their investigations. The quarterly statement of the Grange will be given and the lecturer, Mrs. Orla Buxton, has the following program arranged:

W. A. Williams will give a talk on the amendments to be voted on at the November election.

M. Bernards will talk on experiments in pig-feeding.

Mrs. A. B. Todd will read a paper on Grange work.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Buxton will tell of their visit to the state fair and Grange melodies will be sung.

Lady Odd Fellows

Celebrate Anniversary

Eighty men and women gathered at I. O. O. F. hall last evening to celebrate the sixty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Rebekah degree of Odd Fellowship and, after listening to an excellent literary and musical program, everybody was served with an appetizing cafeteria lunch.

The program consisted of a talk on the Rebekah degree by R. C. Hill, a recitation by Mrs. John Templeton, two songs by Mrs. L. F. Humburg and two by a ladies' quartet, composed of Mesdames Bernard, Benfer, Carmack and Ingersoll.

Mesdames Bernard, Allen, Pogue and Dixon participated in the ritualistic anniversary ceremonies, which proved very interesting to members and non-members alike.

The refreshment committee was composed of Mrs. Susie Hatfield and Misses Belle Darling and Jeanette Little.

Florence Templeton Married

They say "women can't keep a secret," but you can just bet your last jiny that they can keep their own secrets. Florence Templeton of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Templeton, was married to J. W. Ethington, a former cashier in the First National bank of this city, on Sept. 9th, the ceremony being performed in Portland, and for nearly a month the bride and her mother have kept the news from the press. Mr. and Mrs. Ethington are living in Portland while the groom looks around for a business location.

Giguere Buys Pacific Market

Chas. Giguere, who quit the butcher business seven years ago to engage in farming, has purchased the Pacific Market of T. C. Lord, jr., and is again a full-fledged butcher, having taken charge of the market this morning. He invites those in need of meat to give him a trial order.

During the two years he has conducted the market, Mr. Lord has built up a good business, but he is tired of being cooped up for twelve hours a day and will seek something not so confining, after a few months of loafing. He will probably remain here this winter.

J. S. Buxton has leased the Bean property, corner A street and First avenue, north, and will take possession in the near future. The house now occupied by the Buxtons, west of the Laughlin hotel, will be for rent.

A delightful trip to Newport, Tillamook, Salem and Mt. Angel was made last week by Rev. Father Buck and Ollie Hollevoet. They took a tent and camped by the way. They declare it is the only way to enjoy an outing.

Mrs. E. A. Sharp who was visiting in Forest Grove during the summer at St. Anthony's Rectory, the guest of her brother, Rev. Father Buck, is building a very pretty little bungalow on her property a half mile north of Cornelius.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Sharp announce the birth of a son on Sept. 18th. The young people are well and favorably known in Cornelius, having formerly made their home at that place. They are now living at Williston, North Dakota. Congratulations.

"Uncle Charley" Russell of the Forest Grove Shoe Store, who began selling shoes (and boots, too) back in Mills county, Iowa, when he was only knee-high to a grasshopper and who knows more about leather than the chap who invented it, has an interesting little tale on the last page of this issue.

"The Faithful Band" Sunday school class of the Christian church, accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. J. A. Parker, and Miss Violet Glaisyer, had a jolly picnic last Saturday in Naylor's Grove. They spent an enjoyable evening around a bonfire, toasting weinerwurst and marshmallows.

The W. R. C. social meeting was held last Thursday and those who missed it missed a good thing, for the hostesses had prepared an excellent lunch. They were Mesdames John Anderson, Frank Crabtree, W. C. Benfer, Barker, and John McNamer. Do not forget Cornelius next Thursday.

The wedding of Miss Willamina Vandehy and Mr. Peter Vanderzanden took place at a nuptial High Mass at the church in Roy on Wednesday morning, Rev. Father Springer officiating. The young people are well known in this locality, and a host of friends offer congratulations and good wishes.

Rev. Father Buck accompanied by Dr. Ward went to Mount Angel to the celebration of Prior, (now Titular Abbot) Adlehelm's Golden Jubilee, on Sept 29th. It was one of the largest Catholic celebrations ever witnessed in the state, and visitors were present from the entire Northwest. Dinner was served at noon to some six or seven hundred guests, the refectories of the Abbey, Seminary and College being filled to their utmost capacity. The celebration was enhanced by the presence of the renowned singer, Madam Schumann-Heink who sang at the Pontifical High Mass and also at the general reception in the afternoon.

MILTON MILLER LAUDS WILSON

Between 90 and 100 men and women gathered at Verts Hall Monday night to hear the address of Milton A. Miller of Portland, who spoke under the auspices of the Woodrow Wilson league.

The speaker was introduced by W. J. McCready, president of the league, who implored the independent voters to investigate the records of Wilson and Hughes before endorsing or condemning either.

He prided himself on being an independent voter—so independent that he left the republican party in 1907 because Roosevelt had allowed Wall street to dictate his policies. He believes Hughes to be an honest man, but he is a born aristocrat and his training had been in the law offices and councils of the corporations, so that he couldn't get the viewpoint of the farmer and working man if he tried.

He called attention to the fact that a crowd of rich women, representing Wall street, the smelter trust and other predatory interests, were travelling over the country in a train called "The Golden Special," trying to tell American women how to vote. Being of the moneyed class, the women were out to defeat Wilson. These women, who come from anti-suffrage states, will be in Portland this month to tell the women of Oregon what is best for them.

Mr. Miller opened by asking those in the audience to study the science of government, saying the politicians did not want this, but it would be best for the mass of common people if they did more studying and less following.

Mrs. Cady Dead

Word has been received in this city of the death at Santa Ana, Calif., of Mrs. Mary E. Cady, aged 82, mother of W. L. Cady of this city. Death occurred at Santa Ana last Thursday and Mr. Cady was with his mother when the end came, he having gone to her home when word of her illness reached him, a month ago. The body was interred at Santa Ana.

Deceased is survived by the following children: Mrs. Sarah Butterfield, Spokane, Wash.; Grant Cady, Sunnyside, Wash.; Leonard Cady, Las Animas, Colo.; William L. Cady, Forest Grove, Ore.; Mrs. Minnie Lee, Mrs. Hiram Rodgers and John Cady, Santa Ana.

Deceased made her son a visit in this city two years ago and made many friends who will regret to learn of her death.

S. W. Grathwell dropped off here for Sunday and Monday, on his way to Chicago, where the prohibition headquarters for which he is working, are situated. He expects to travel through the east and south on a lecture tour. Mr. Grathwell is an old student of Pacific University and has many friends here.

An Enjoyable Social

The Congregational Christian Endeavorers held a live social in the parlors of the church Tuesday evening. The first thing after registration at the door was a coat race, which afforded a great deal of amusement.

The "moving pictures," which were shadows cast on a screen by the actors behind, were exceptionally good and talent and originality were displayed. About a hundred were served delicious Bavarian cream, cookies and hot chocolate.
