

MILTON MILLER LAUDS WILSON

He mentioned sixteen bills the progressive platform of 1912 demanded which the present administration had made into laws. "Money in the hands of a few does not make a prosperous nation," he declared. He quoted from Lincoln's Gettysburg speech that portion where the great war president warned the people of the dangers from big business and the money power. Riches themselves did not make men bad or vicious, but too often rich men controlled the making and administration of laws to their own advantage. For years the people had been demanding an income and inheritance tax, but big business had always defeated the passage of such laws until Woodrow Wilson and his congress gave them to the people. When Mr. Hughes was governor of New York he sent a message to the state legislature condemning the income tax. He thanked God that he lived in a state where the women were allowed to vote. If the women of Europe had a vote, the countries now embroiled in war would be at peace, he believed, and the women of Europe were crying aloud for a Woodrow Wilson to give them peace. He spoke briefly of the steps taken by the present administration to put the American flag back on the high seas, saying America had big crops glutting the railroad yards for want of ships to carry the grains and foods to the people who wanted to buy them. The rate for carrying wheat from Portland to London has jumped from 14c to 72c per bushel and that is one of the reasons Oregon is not more prosperous. We are an exporting nation, but if we cannot get our goods to market they will rot. The republican party has had practically fifty years to put the flag back on the seas, but had not done it. The recent congress passed a bill providing for the construction of ships to carry merchandise during times of peace and to act as auxiliary vessels to the navy during war. From 1901 to 1912 America spent nearly three billion dollars on its army and navy and has nothing to show for it. The recent mobilization of troops found the cavalry without horses and the foot soldiers without equipment. Whose fault was this? Not Wilson's. The politicians have set their bloody dogs of war on him for not getting ready in 24 hours for war, when the republicans have been in power fifty years and were never ready. Wilson is too much a humanitarian to go to war if it can be helped and if he can keep this country out of the world's war, America will be the business and financial center of the world

This little farm is located 3 1-2 miles from Forest Grove, close to school and church; good road to place.

There are about 4 acres cleared, small house and barn, orchard and good well. This place is not "away back in the hills," but is in a thickly-settled community, and has some of the best soil in the state.

Price, $1800-$350 cash and 10 years time on balance, at 7 per cent.

NOW LISTEN! If you want an investment or something that you can improve and make worth much more in the future, or a home, you can't beat this proposition. If you mean business you can find me in the evening at the corner of A St. and 3d Ave north, or phone 0386.

for the next fifty years. Can the American people afford to make a change?

Wilson and his congress saved the grain and fruit crops of the country by averting the threatened railroad strike. Of course, the railroads are kicking, but they always kick when you make them treat the people fairly. The United States has given the railroads more land than was homesteaded and they should be satisfied to put their trainmen on eight-hour schedules, for they made 26 per cent more in 1915 than in any previous year.

The rural credit bill passed by the last congress should be enough to get Wilson every farmer's vote, for it means cheap money on long-time loans and the federal reserve act will make it impossible for Wall street to start a panic every time the rich men are peeved.

The address received close attention and everybody remained to the close.

The Forest Grove band assisted in drawing a crowd and it was good to hear a home band once more.

Development League in Quarterly Session

The Washington County Development League, composed of delegates from the granges and commercial bodies of the county, met at Buxton last Monday, with a fair attendance. The annual election of officers resulted as follows: R. M. Erwin, Hillsboro, president; L. M. Graham, Forest Grove, vice president; T. W. Zimmerman, Beaverton, secretary-treasurer.

A number of constitutional amendments to be voted on at the coming election, including the full rental value land tax measure, were freely discussed.

One of the most pleasant features of the meeting was the excellent dinner served by the ladies of Green Mountain grange.

Exhibit Made Good Showing

L. M. Graham, who prepared and had charge of Washington county's exhibit at the state fair, returned Sunday night and reports that the exhibit came within 14 (out of a possible 100) points of having a perfect score, but won no prize. The exhibit attracted considerable attention, however. John Campbell's roadster stallion from this county won a first prize and W. K. Newell's Holstein herd won six blue ribbons and a number of lesser prizes.

Fourteen local Odd Fellows went to Banks Saturday night and assisted in conferring the first and second degrees on several new members. After the goat had been used the limit, the Banks refreshment committee served an oyster supper to the local and visiting members. Those from this city were W. H. Curtis, S. A. Walker, Dan Pierce, J. F. McGill, A. E. Gardner, Wm. Morley, Wm. VanAntwerp, Claude Davis, H. R. Bernard, A. L. Sexton, John Riley, Wm. Haskell, Chas. VanDoren and H. C. McGill. The Forest Grove boys returned home after midnight.

Claude Smith was at Vancouver last week and while there traded his crack buggy horse for a little black stallion that has made some good records in harness races. He will get his new horse next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Graham departed Tuesday for a two week's visit at Lincoln and other Nebraska points. Mr. Graham goes on business and Mrs. Graham for a visit.

Funeral services for the late Thomas A. Dilley, who was drowned near Westport on Sept. 25th, were held at the Buxton chapel last Friday, Rev. Holmes officiating, and the remains were interred in Mountain View cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Langley and baby of Portland came out Saturday evening for a visit with Grandmother Langley and Aunt Manche. Mrs. Langley and the baby returned home Monday morning, but Lotus remained for a day's pheasant shooting.

W. O. Gardner, wife and son, late of Bend, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy VanKirk Sunday. They were enroute to Astoria, where Mr. Gardner goes to work in the Oregon Electric freight offices, having been transferred from Bend.

Encouraging Sign.
"How are you getting along with Miss Gadder?"

"Oh, first rate."

"What makes you think you are making some progress in her regard?"

"Well, when I first started to calling she played the phonograph practically all the time. Now the machine frequently remains idle for as long as twenty minutes."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Doomed.
"I like to see a smart, well educated woman," said young De Sapp, "but I wouldn't want to marry one who knows more than I do."

"Too bad," rejoined Miss Swift. "I'm sorry to hear that you intend to remain a bachelor all your life."—Indianapolis Star.

Union, Iowa Hill and Whitford. Ninety of the 107 schools of the county are now in session.

The annual teacher's Institute will be held at Hillsboro Oct. 18-20, beginning at noon on Wednesday.

Two rural school districts have replaced their old buildings with new ones this year. The McKinley school (district 81) has built a large building which can be made into two rooms should it become necessary. District No. 49, west of Laurel, has a new building that will be much appreciated by that community.
