

Can Anyone Tell?

[Sam Walker Monday handed the editor the following poem, without explaining its parentage]:

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee?

Or a key for a lock of his hair?

Can his eye be called an Academy, Because there are pupils there?

In the crown of his head what gems are there?

Who travels the bridge of his nose? Can he use when shingling the roof of his mouth,

The nails on the ends of his toes?

What does he raise from the slip of his tongue?

Who plays on the drum of his ear?

And who can tell the cut and style

Of the coat his stomach wears?

Can the crook of his elbow be sent to jail?

And if so, what did it do?

How does he sharpen his shoulder blades?

I'll be hanged if I know, do you?

Those Sudden Changes

He knew she had a heart of ice,

And yet he sought to win it;

He thought it would be cool and nice

In summer, could he be in it;

But a woman loves a man to fool,

As he found when he got her;

For, instead of keeping cool,

She kept him in hot water.

The Express force is this week busy getting out 23,000 pieces of printed matter for W. C. Emerson & Co., of this city, manufacturers of the "Cinch" gopher trap, and Manager Emerson informs the Express that he has four men assisting him in turning out traps enough to supply the demand. The trap is sound in principle, well-made and sells at a reasonable price, but it was for a time hard to convince eastern and northern farmers that the "Cinch" was better than any of the other good traps on the market. But they are learning this and, as a result, orders are rolling in. Seven big jobbing houses are now handling the traps in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota, with many orders coming direct from farmers who have seen or heard of the "Cinch."

The bill abolishing the county recorder's office in this county failed to go through, and was beaten in the house. It is said that Meek and Bowman were against the proposal, holding that it would not be a money saver, and that the office should be distinctive within itself, and not an adjunct of the clerk's office.—Hillsboro Argus.

In a letter renewing his subscription to the Express, Ralph Yakel informs the editor that he has been promoted from principal to superintendent of the Paducah, Ky., public schools. Paducah is a city of 25,000 people, with 104 teachers in her schools and Mr. Yakel is to be congratulated on having been appointed to so important a position and he states that he was surprised when the place was offered to him. The people of Forest Grove have an opportunity next Tuesday of not only hearing more about Japan but seeing what is actually happening there under christianity today.
