"Deestriect Skule"

Made a Big Hit

One of the most amusing home-talent entertainment given in the city for many months was the "Deestriect Skule," put on at Marsh hall Friday night by a number of the members of the Congregational church, led by the members of the Congregational Working Society. The scene was laid for a school room, with the actors dressed as children and some of these so well remembered their school days that they had no trouble in carrying those in the audience back to the days when they, too, were kids in the "Deestriect Skule."

Mrs. Seymour and Mrs. Hill were the stars among the ladies, while A. E. Scott, R. P. Nixon, L. M. Graham, C. T. Richardson, M. J. Fenenga, and W. J. McCready starred for the males.

The hall was crowded and the Working Society cleared a nice sum from the sale of tickets.
