"I am sorry that you do not wear a flag every day and I can only ask you if you lose the physical emblem to be sure that you wear it in YOUR HEART; the heart of America shall interpret the heart of the world."—President Wilson.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The council meets next Tuesday evening. Have you told any of the councilmen how you feel about the gas franchise? A number of you have told the writer you favored the franchise, but you should tell the councilmen, if you want this great convenience.

While many town people are joining the preparedness movement by planting vacant lots, a few are holding back for fear the thing will be overdone. No danger of that, and even a 30 or 50 per cent overproduction would be much better than even a small underproduction. Let us play safe by planting crops that will keep through the winter.

John Zenor, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Zenor of this city, wanted to serve his country, but had a growth in his nose that resulted in his being rejected, so he had an operation performed, was accepted on second examination and is now at Mare Island, as a marine. This should put to shame those fellows who rushed into matrimony and got behind the protecting folds of a skirt to save them from a threatened draft.

Wm. H. Taft says the president's message is a great historical paper, Theodore Roosevelt says it's the "best ever" and Senator Lodge says the president has splendidly expressed the thought of America. We are all getting into one party and we are going to discover in this crisis what a fine lot of men there are in every American party. Americans are now getting acquainted with one another and we will have a new birth of patriotism and good fellowship.—Dick Metcalfe.

When a multimillionaire offers a two hundred thousand dollar yacht to the government for use in case of emergency, the papers make a three column feature story of it and try to make a hero of the donor. That is alright as far as it goes, but when a youth who has enlisted with the sole idea of serving his country gets shot and passes on to the other side the same papers pass it up in a two line "filler." The millionaire gives something that he can replace in a week or so, while the youth has given up his all—and on a salary of fifteen bucks per month.

Farm hands may have an action to recover for personal injuries under the employers' liability act, the supreme court holds in an opinion written by Justice Burnett and handed down in the case of William Poulos vs. M. M. Grove, appealed from Linn county. Judge Kelly is reversed. The action was brought to recover damages from Grove, Poulos alleging he fell through a hole in the floor of the second story of Grove's barn and sustained a broked hip.—Hillsboro Independent.

A woman in West Virginia has been married three times. Her maiden name was Partridge, her first husband was named Robins, the second husband was named Sparrow, and the last man she married is named Quale. As an outcome, she has two young Robbins, one Sparrow and three Quales. Her grandfather on her mother's side was a Swan and the other was a Jay. He's dead now, and a bird of Paradise—we hope, but what beats the blue deuce is that they live on Hawke avenue in a town called Eagle, on Canary Islands, unless the whole tribe has flown away since we rushed to press.

Insurance Men Alarmed

The members of the Insurance Federation of Oregon held their annual meeting at the Hotel Multnomah, Portland, last Saturday morning, when they elected the following officers:

H. H. Ward, president; H. S. Hudson, O. W. Davidson, S. G. Jewett, D. R. Atkins and C. H. Weston, vice presidents; C. D. Babcock, secretary, and J. H. Bryant, treasurer. Members of the executive committee are D. Herrin, F. E. Beach, K. V. Lively, Burt W. Richard and Ira P. E. Reynolds.

At 1 o'clock 12 auto loads of insurance men and press representatives took a thirty-mile trip up the Columbia highway. From 6:30 to 10:30 there was a banquet, with program of music and speeches, at the Multnomah hotel. The insurance men claim the farmers' movement which has taken control of the political field in North Dakota is scheduled to attack, in turn, Washington, Oregon and California. They say this movement has ruined the insurance business in North Dakota and will ruin it in Oregon, Washington and California, if it is not checked. Lawyers, too, are in danger of having their business ruined, according to a speech of Attorney L. C. Mackay of Portland, for the aforesaid farmers' propaganda, carried to the same extreme as in North Dakota, practically means state socialism. It is to prevent hostile legislation that the insurance men of the nation have organized into state and national federations.

At the evening session, the retiring president, F. E. Beach, was presented with a silver loving cup. H. E. Hudson and George R. Thomas, both former residents of Forest Grove, sang several songs at the banquet.

The editor of the Express was one of the editors who participated in the highway trip and banquet as a guest of the federation and he enjoyed the trip and banquet very much, but he isn't much alarmed about the probability of any movement backed by the farmers bringing calamity to any legitimate business.
