SLIP SHOWS STYLE

Smartness Can Be Worked Into Youngster's Clothes.

Mothers Are Inclined to Err on Side of Simplicity in Avoiding Overdressing of the Little One.

It is not an easy matter to work style or smartness into the youngster's everyday clothes. One is so afraid of overdressing the little one, and, of course, it is far better to err on the side of simplicity.

It is, therefore, welcome delight that the mother or woman with small children to dress feels when she comes across such a smart little slip as this to be made from a lightweight linen or chambray.

The whole chic of the frock centers in the crossed straps, which, with their contrasting stitching and oddly looped ends, suggest suspenders. For this reason this may be found a useful model for the small boy's smock, slightly shortened to be worn over bloomers or little straight pants.

Aside from the bretelles, the frock is simple enough. The inserted panel at the front gives an unusual line without much extra trouble. Sleeves are raglan, and the collar a plain lay-down affair of contrasting material, probably pique. This slip can open at one side of the front panel from the shoulder down; just enough to allow the garment to be slipped over the head. The strap arrangement can be repeated in the back, without the wedge-shaped panel, however.

SILKS FOR OUTING SKIRTS

New Designs for Sports Wear Have Huge Disks in Plain or Broken Stripe Colors.

If there is anything more luxurious than a satin-soft silk sports skirt one cannot guess what it can be. The very sensation of playing golf and tennis in a shimmering silk skirt must convey a suggestion of well-being. New sports silks for these skirts have huge disks in plain or broken stripe colors and the skirt is smartest when plaited or gathered below a fitted yoke, a broad sash of the material going twice around and knotting below one hip. Very fetching is a pattern of Roman striped disks on a wedgedown blue ground; another pattern shows green disks on a pale tan ground—this in light shantung weave. Sports silks in the soft La Jerz weave, which will not stretch like ordinary jersey silk, have rose pink dots on a white ground, and one may buy plain rose La Jerz for trimmings and coat. Of course, there are many other colorings, but the rose hue seems to be loveliest of all.

Copper-colored blouses are gaining ground so fast that the fashionable mustard shade is beginning to look a bit green with jealousy. The copper-hued blouses are of lustrous silk, like soiree and faille matinee, or of satin meteor. They are simply made, hem-stitchings or rows of machine stitching in self-colored, sewing silk giving a dainty finish.

How to Clean Oilcloth.

To clean oilcloth, first wash with warm soap and water, dry it, then rub over with a little milk and polish with a dry cloth. The grease in the milk preserves the oilcloth and keeps its color bright.

As rust eats iron, so care eats the heart.—A Ricard.

NOW THE FOLDING BUNGALOW

Danger of Being Shunted Half-Dressed From Bedroom to Parlor is an Exciting Possibility.

Our imagination is greatly taken and likewise titillated by the description of a folding bungalow just put in operation, which may contain two rooms or five, at the owner's pleasure. The partitions run on ball bearings, and can be shifted as easily as the trick doors and ceilings in that ancient spectacle which you may remember—Hanson's Phantasma, observes the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

In this phantasm of a bungalow you may have a room 13 by 25 feet in case you desire to give a party or entertain your friends at a musicale. If refreshments are served, the remainder of the house contains a kitchenette.

After your guests depart, you begin showing partitions about—clack, clack, clack—just like that, and two bed chambers appear completely furnished, the bedroom furniture opening out from the walls, where it has been as neatly packed as the wings of a butterfly in its chrysalis. In this wonderful structure, we understand, walls fold together as handily as four sections of a fire screen, with hinges working both ways.

We suppose, when several persons are in the house, due warning must be given before the metamorphosis begins. One wouldn't like to be shunted half-dressed from his bedroom into the parlor or dropped gently on the flower bed in the front yard by his apartment unexpectedly turning wrong-side out. Then, too, is there danger of being inadvertently packed against the ceiling for a whole day, and left there until evening, when the house takes on its nocturnal shape again?

The folding bungalow impresses us as an up-to-date improvement, only to be excelled by one that can be collapsed, laid upon a truck and carried about the country whithersoever one wishes to wander.

How Eating Affects Health.

What we eat has far more to do with our health than anything else. To be sure, regular exercise, good air and a vacation in the country will improve the physical condition. But beyond them and above them the best setting-up exercise is the exercise of clean, juicy, sun-cooked fruits and vegetables in the blood stream. Richer and fuller life will leap in the veins when the circulation has been freed from the favorite poisons. Then there will be a rest in every hour. Desire for hard work and an ability to concentrate the mind on the most arduous problems and pressing duties, pleasant or unpleasant, will be faced with a poise and mental clarity hardly known in the lays of the stimulating poisons with their false fire and their subtle evils mining and undermining the blood stream. For the blood is the life.

Friends and acquaintances armed with a knowledge of food values will so doubt launch them at your head with much concern when they hear that you are giving the diet a trial.—Exchange.

Substitute for Lacquer.

The scarcity of the natural lacquer of the Japanese, the sap of the tree Rhus vernicifera, has brought to notice thitsi, a like product obtained by the Burmese from the black varnish tree. The substances prove to be essentially identical and thitsi is already used as a varnish or lacquer on wood, cloth and paper, and as a cement in Burmese glass mosaics. A larger lacquer work field for Burma is suggested.

Chairs.

There are numerous monuments found in Oriental countries that bear carvings of chairs. Most of these, however, are without backs. The first chairs with backs of which we know are said to have been introduced into Asia Minor by the Persians, who, in turn, got the idea from the Assyrians.

With Another Twist.

"Sir," roared the girl's father to the rich young man. "Do I understand you wish to marry my daughter?" "Y—es, sir," was the meek reply. "Then tell me; can you support her in the poverty to which she is accustomed?"

Utter Cruelty.

"The prima donna's going to quit!" exclaimed the music director. "I know it," replied the manager, coldly. "She demanded more salary and I told her I'd give it if she'd use the difference to take singing lessons."

Eliminates the Heat.

By using two slightly separated lenses and passing a current of air between them a French scientist has succeeded in freezing the high power light of motion picture projectors from heat.

The More Desperate Chance.

"Shaxon got married rather than fight for his country." "And yet," murmured Miss Cayenne, "some people accused him of being a coward."

They're All Alike.

"To elevate the stage," said Augustus Thomas, at the Players' club in New York, "to elevate the stage would be an easy enough job if there weren't so many people like the new Shakespeare club."

"I said to the treasurer of this organization:

"I understand your new Shakespeare club is a great success."

"Great success? You bet your sweet life it's a great success," he answered warmly. "Why, we accumulated enough in fines for non-attendance during the first month to take us all to a box party at the musical comedy of 'Back Up, Bettina.'"—Washington Star.

Laugh When People Step On Your Feet

Try this yourself then pass it along to others. It works!

Ouch ! ! ! ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callous stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callous dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callous from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone tell him to order a small bottle for you.

A Nocturnal Job.

"To instill a spirit of brotherly love instead of savage militarism into the hearts of the Germans will be a very hard job," said a Sacramento fruit grower just back from Germany.

"The militaristic German will misunderstand the preachers of brotherly love as Wash White misunderstood the missionary."

"A missionary was sent south to a very godless region of chicken thieves and boozers, and, finding there was no church, he got permission to use an old henhouse."

"He said to an old colored man who was always loafing around the hotel: 'Washington, you go down bright and early tomorrow morning and clean out that henhouse back of Sinnickson's barn.'"

"The old man frowned. 'But sho'ly, pawson, sho'ly,' he said, 'yo' don' clean out a henhouse in de daytime!'"—Washington Star.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.
