PARADE CAUSES RIOT

Socialist Marchers' Ranks Broken by Men in Uniform in Boston—Fist Battles Are Numerous.

Boston—Riotous scenes attended a Socialist parade Sunday which was announced as a peace demonstration.

The ranks of the marchers were broken by self-organized squads of uniformed soldiers and sailors, red flags and banners bearing Socialist mottoes were trampled on, and literature and furnishings in the Socialist headquarters in Park Square were thrown into the streets and burned.

Police reserves stopped the rioting after it had been in progress an hour and a half. Many arrests were made.

The police took into custody some of the participants in hundreds of fist fights that were waged on the Common and in the line of the parade, while agents of the Federal department of Justice, under direction of Assistant United States Attorney Goldberg, arrested a number of persons who were alleged to have made unpatriotic remarks. None of the soldiers and sailors who figured in the disturbance was arrested.

The procession consisted of hundreds of men and women, many of whom carried babies. Most of the marchers carried small red flags with white centers, emblematic of the peace demonstration, and there were large banners bearing inscriptions, some of which read:

"Russia has a six-hour day. Why not America?" and "Liberty loan, a first mortgage on labor." A large American flag was at the head of the procession.

Half a hundred men in the uniform of naval reservists, national Guard, arrested some men. Marines and Canadian "kilties" intercepted the procession at the corner of West and Tremont streets, and again at the corner of Winter and Tremont streets.

23 STATES MADE BONE-DRY

Reed Amendment Gives Prohibitionists Greatest Victory in History.

Washington, D. C. — Twenty-three states became bone-dry Saturday midnight, the effective hour of the Reed amendment prohibiting shipment of liquor into dry territory where its manufacture or sale is prohibited. Eleven other states are partially affected by the legislation, which has been hailed by temperance advocates as the greatest single step toward abolition of the liquor traffic in the nation's history.

The law bars from prohibition areas all mail matter containing advertisements or solicitations for orders for intoxicants.

Justice and postoffice department officials have made extensive preparations for enforcement of the statute. No ruling has been made regarding the status of medicines containing alcohol and that question may be among the first to be passed on by the courts under the legislation.

The language of the anti-shipment section is very comprehensive, imposing a fine of $1000 and imprisonment for six months, or both, on any person who shall "order, purchase or cause intoxicating liquors to be transported in interstate commerce except for scientific, sacramental or mechanical purposes into any state or territory, the laws of which state or territory prohibits the manufacture or sale therein of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes."

The same penalties are prescribed for violations of the anti-advertising section. For a second offense in either case the penalty is made one year's imprisonment.

SELECTIVE DRAFT RULES EXEMPT FEW

Power Given Boards to Decide on Each Case.

SELECTION MYSTERY

System by Which Choice Will Be Made Will Be Made Only a Few Days Before Starting, is Belief.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Preparation for the mobilization of the first contingent of 625,000 troops of the new National Army advanced another step today when President Wilson promulgated the regulations to govern exemptions from military service.

Local and appeal exemption boards already have been appointed and the issuance of the regulations will permit them to organize immediately and prepare for the concluding phases of the task of getting the men under training for duty in France.

Exemption is last step. In the order in which they must come there are three steps in the organization process of the National Army as prescribed by Congress. They are registration, selection and exemption. The first step has been carried through and approximately 10,000,000 men between 21 and 31 years of age have been registered. The regulations issued today cover in detail the operation of the third step, exemption.

Information concerning the second step in the series, however, still is lacking and officials are guarding closely the method by which selection is to be applied.

Selection May Be by Number.

The exemption regulations announced that the boards will be advised of the selection process later, although none of the steps prescribed except the organization of the boards can be carried out until the selection machinery has finished the names of the men whose fitness and desirability for Army service the boards are to judge. There is one hint, however, as to how the selection machinery is to work.

The local boards are directed upon organization to take over from the registration precincts the cards and lists of the men registered on June 5, and as their first duty, to provide a serial number for each registration card.

This has given support to the belief that the selection is to be by number. Reports were current recently that the selection drawing was to be made in Washington.

Presumably the process of selection will be announced only a short time before it is put into operation. When that will be is not known.

September 1 has been the tentative date set for calling the 650,000 of the first contingent to the colors for training. Progress with construction of the 15 divisional cantonments for the troops will govern that action, however. It is now believed there will be no serious delay.

The examination process will not take a great deal of time. It is difficult to calculate the time the local boards will need in passing on the cases that come before them.

Speed to Be Required.

The regulations provide, however, that decision in any individual case shall not be delayed more than three days by the local boards. The whole process probably can be carried through in less than 30 days.

There were no surprises in the examination regulations. The task of passing upon the individual cases is left entirely to the local boards. While the President reserves the right to designate industries necessary for the public good, the question of whether retention of any individual engaged in these industries is essential is left to the boards.

Officers Being Trained.

While these steps are being carried out to get together the men of the National Army, the War Department is making progress with the even more difficult task of finding officers for the force.

Part of these will come from the 16 officers' training camps. The first 10,000 of the 40,000 men at the camps will be selected for commissions in the first increment of the new Army, and that is less than half the number of officers necessary.

The War Department today approved recommendations of commanders of regular regiments, which will commission 3000 or more regular non-commissioned officers to be captains in the first 625,000 contingent of the National Army. It is understood that more than 50 men from each regiment, in addition to those now at the officers' training camps, will be commissioned for the period of the war.

Regular to Be in Command.

A trained and experienced regular officer will command each regiment of the National Army. To aid him he will have several other regular officers experienced in particular lines such as his adjutant, at least one Major, his ordnance and quartermaster officers, and some others. The remainder of the officers will come from the reserve lists, the training camps, or the ranks of the regular service.

the members of all other military forces.

Regulations Based on Need.

"The regulations have been drawn with a view to the needs and circumstances of the whole country, and provide a system which it is expected will work with the least inequality and personal hardship. Any system of selecting men for military service whether voluntary or involuntary in its operation, necessarily selects some men to bear the burden of danger and sacrifice for the whole Nation. The system here provided places all men of military age upon an even plane, and then, by a selection which neither favors the one nor penalizes the other, calls out the requisite number for service."

"The successful operation of this law and of these regulations depends necessarily upon the loyalty, patriotism and justice of the members of the boards to whom its operation is committed and I admonish every member of every local board and of every district board of review that their duty to their country requires an impartial and fearless performance of the delicate and difficult duties intrusted to them. They should remember as to each individual case presented to them that they are called upon to adjudicate the most sacred rights of the individual and to preserve untarnished the honor of the Nation."

"Our armies at the front will be strengthened and sustained if they be composed of men free from any sense of injustice in the mode of selection and they will be inspired to loftier efforts in behalf of a country in which the citizens called upon to perform high public functions perform them with justice, fearlessness and impartiality."

Officials Are Exempt.

Persons who must be exempted or discharged by the local board include:

Officers of the United States, of the states, territories and the District of Columbia; ministers of religion, students of divinity, persons in the military or naval service of the United States, subjects of Germany, all other aliens, who have not taken out their first papers; county or municipal officers, custom house clerks, workmen in Federal armories, arsenals and navy yards, persons in the Federal service designated by the President for exemption, pilots, merchant marine sailors, those with a status with respect to dependents which renders their exclusion desirable (a married man with dependent wife or child, son of a dependent widow, son of a dependent, aged or infirm parent, or brother of dependent, orphan child under 16 years of age), those found morally deficient, and any member of any well recognized religious sect existing May 18, 1917, whose creed forbids participation in war and whose religious convictions accord with the creed.

Claims for exemption because of dependents may be made by the man himself, his wife or other dependents, or by a third party, who has personally investigated the case. The claim made by the husband must be accompanied by supporting affidavits signed by the wife and by the head of a family residing in the same territory. A claim by the wife or a third party must be accompanied by two supporting affidavits signed by heads of families. Similar rules govern claims on the grounds of other dependents.

District boards must decide appeal cases within five days after the closing of proofs, and their decisions are final. Certificates of exemption will not necessarily be permanent. They may be revoked with changing conditions or may be granted only for prescribed periods.

TROLLEY INTO RAPIDS

Nine Killed When Car Plunges Over Twenty-foot Embankment Into Niagara Falls Whirlpool.

Niagara Falls, N. Y. — A belt-line car on the Great Gorge route left the rails, plunged down a 20-foot embankment and turned over in 10 feet of water on the edge of the Whirlpool Rapids at 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Nine persons are known to be dead, two persons known to have been on the car have not been seen since the accident and probably are dead, an indefinite number, estimated at from two to ten, are reported missing and more than a score are in hospitals, suffering from injuries in the accident.

A washout, due to recent heavy rains, was the cause of the disaster which occurred just below the cantilever bridge, and 60 feet below the point where the smooth water of the upper reaches of the Niagara river break into turbulent waters of the Whirlpool Rapids. There were more than 50 persons on board, according to general estimates.

The car was running at a speed of 20 miles an hour. Less than half a minute elapsed from the time the motorman felt the first sway until the car was bottomsides up on the edge of the rushing rapids.

As it slipped down the 20-foot incline from the tracks to the edge of the river, screaming men and women fought to escape and some of them were able to get free, but were unable to obtain a footing on the steep bank. There was a mad scramble in the shallow water between the wrecked car and the river bank. From the riverside the bodies of at least two of the passengers were seen to be caught in the swifter waters, and were carried down to the whirlpool.

Members of the National guard regiment, who were on guard at the bridge, saw the accident and were the first to the rescue. The soldiers slid down the bank into the river and worked in water up to their waists getting injured passengers free from the wreckage and passing them up the bank, where an emergency car had been placed to carry them to the Niagara Falls hospital.

RUSSIANS START NEW OFFENSIVE

War Minister Kerensky Leads to Victory in Person.

TAKE 10,000 CAPTIVE

Turks Also Are Defeated and Routed in Caucasus by Cavalry — News is Great Joy to Russians.

Petrograd—Russia has resumed the offensive. More than 10,000 prisoners, many guns and other articles of war material and several strongly fortified Austro-German positions in Galicia prove it. They bear testimony to the mighty smash delivered July 1, the precise time set for an offensive by War Minister Kerensky several weeks ago in a communication to the United States government.

The Brilliant Russian advance, the news of which has sent a wave of rejoicing through the entire country, was led by War Minister Kerensky in person.

For the last four days the war minister has been continuously at the front, spending every effort to urge the troops to advance. He finally rode to the front-line trenches, and, placing himself at the head of the troops, gave the order to advance.

The spectacle of the popular war minister on the firing line accomplished what oratory had failed to do, and the Russian line swept forward into the German trenches.

The heretofore lethargic, monstrous army punished the forces of the enemy kaisers most severely. The attacks were as vicious as the recent fraternizing with the foe had been foolhardy.

The Turks, too, felt the strength of the reorganized arms of the revolutionary army. The Ottomans, in the Caucasus, were routed, and at last reports from headquarters Russian cavalry was pursuing them unmercifully. The Turkish stronghold of Kalamirivan, southeast of Lake Deribar, was stormed and the village of Engidja, north of the lake, was occupied.

NEGROES BURNED BY ENRAGED MOB

Many Others Shot Fleeing East St. Louis Flames.

East St. Louis, Ill. — Fires were burning in five sections of East St. Louis at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning and at least 20 dead negro bodies and crowded hospitals testified to the terror that reigned here while mob after mob swept the streets seeking negroes whom they might slay.

Five negro sections of the city were fired by mobs, terrorized negroes fled from their burning homes only to meet bullets from guns of the rioters, four other negroes were shot by snipers and two were lynched.

One white man was killed by a negro sniper, and before the burning began four negroes and one white man were killed. This included the detective sergeant, whose death at the hands of a negro mob late Sunday night was the direct cause of the outbreak Monday afternoon and Monday night.

Estimates of the number of dead run up to 100 and higher, but these estimates are purely conjectural. The exact number slaughtered probably will never be known, as it is thought that many bodies were consumed in the flames.

Adjutant General Frank S. Dickson arrived shortly after midnight and took charge of the situation. He said the troops would be distributed in small groups throughout the city and that they would be instructed to disperse every gathering of persons for any purpose whatever.

Dog Gone, Constable Sued.

Roseburg, Ore. — Constable Howard Church Tuesday had his first roundup with the new state dog license law, when Roy Bellows, a prominent Roseburg merchant, refused to pay the license and sued to replevin his dog and recover $50 damages. The complaint charges that the law is unconstitutional and provides for double taxation, as dogs are personal property and subject to tax. The case will probably be taken to the Supreme court.
