Forest Grove, Ore., Thursday, Sept. 27, 1917.

No. 38

NOTES AND PERSONALS

It's Soezy. Try it. Buy it.

Good used sewing machines for sale or trade. Roe & Co.

Max Ricker of Portland was visiting friends in Forest Grove over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Halford left Sunday for their future home in Coalinga, Calif.

Mrs. Eleanor McEldowney will receive vocal pupils at her studio, at the home of C. V. B. Russell.

Harold Robinson has been elected business manager of the Weekly Index, the P. U. student publication, in place of Glenn Jack, who has enlisted in the radio corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gardner, late of Astoria, who have visited Mrs. Gardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Buxton, for the past month, departed Tuesday for Ohio, where they may conclude to locate

A few members of the Forest Grove Rifle club met at Verts hall Tuesday evening, elected A. J. Demores secretary, in place of Haskell Ferrin, resigned, and decided to resume drilling soon after the close of the county fair.

There are some girls in Herrick Hall who desire work in town at odd times. Housekeeping and care of children preferred. If there are families who desire such girls, kindly call or phone to the College Office for further information.

The case wherein the Elliott Construction company sues the city of Forest Grove for something like $78,000 for the putting in an alleged sewer system is set for next Monday in the district court of Portland, and the city officials are busy rounding up witnesses. The contract price of the sewer was $58,000 and to this the company adds $20,000 for "extras."

About 7 o'clock Tuesday morning fire broke out in the haymow of the Frank Ramsey barn, near Naylor's grove and the barn was badly damaged and considerable hay consumed before the blaze was extinguished. A son of the owner took out a horse and cow when he discovered the barn was doomed. The fire department did all possible to save the structure, but the fire had too much start on the firemen. The barn was insured.

New Features at Agricultural College

The division of Horticulture is inaugurating some unique work to be taken up this coming year in the new Horticultural Products building. The laboratories are being equipped for work in canning, evaporating, juice and jam manufacture. In the evaporation room, for example, will be found three tunnel driers 22 feet long, an apple kiln drier, and special equipment for the evaporation of vegetables. The canning room will be equipped so that work may be given in blanching, processing, exhausting, capping, etc. One of the most interesting rooms is the Domestic Science laboratory where young women will work out the food value of the various products which the Horticultural Division is able to prepare. Work will be taken up immediately along various lines, such as the filtration of loganberry juice; the evaporation value of our leading varieties of apples; the standardization of the Italian prune; the evaporation of vegetables; the canning merit of a large number of fruits and vegetables.

Three men will give some attention to this work, namely Professor C. I. Lewis, Mr. Lester Lingle and Mr. A. F. Barss.

In addition to research work that will be taken up, the College is now prepared to train young men so that they will become experts in canning, vinegar manufacture, and evaporation. Special courses will open in this work this fall. In the past the College has had many demands for men trained in such lines, but has been unable to fill the same on account of the lack of trained men.

The Devil Resigns

The devil sat by a lake of fire on a pile of sulphur kegs; his head was bowed upon his breast, his tail between his legs. A lot of shame was on his face, the sparks dripped from his eyes—he'd sent his resignation to the throne up in the skies.

"I'm down and out," the devil said—he said it with a sob. "There are others that outclass me and I want to quit my job. Hell isn't in it with the land across the Rhine; I'm a has-been and a piker, and therefore I resign. One ammunition maker, with his bloody shot and shell, knows more about damnation than all the imps of hell. Give my job to Kaiser Wilhelm, the author of this war—he understands it better, a million times by far. I hate to leave the old home, the spot I love so well, but I feel that I'm not up to date in the art of running hell."

The Sons of the American Revolution of Portland, through their treasurer, A. A. Lindsley, (Henry building) are offering three prizes of $25, $15 and $10 for the best essays on the history of the American revolution. The contest is open to students in high schools and the two highest grades in the grade schools. Originality, accuracy of statements, manner of treatment, orthography, syntax, punctuation and neatness and legibility will be considered in awarding prizes.

Mustn't Make Wine

District Attorney Evans of Multnomah county has just sent a circular letter to persons who have in the past manufactured wine, calling attention to the decision of the supreme court declaring the practice illegal, even when the wine is made for home consumption. Large quantities of Washington county grapes have been used for wine.

Word comes from Cottage Grove that W. L. Cady and wife have arrived there, so that Mr. Cady can take treatment from his son-in-law, Dr. Wendt. Their son, Charles, recently came to Fairfield, Idaho, from Kansas and he and his sister, Mrs. Ben Whited of this city, are closing up the business affairs of their parents, who will not return to Idaho.

Andrew Dickson, late of Los Angeles, arrived Saturday for a visit with his mother, Mrs. M. A. Dickson, and his brother, Charles. He is a printer and expects to work in Portland, where he will be nearer his mother.

Mrs. M. S. Allen, Mrs. J. N. Hoffman, Miss Martha Allen and Mrs. McFeeters motored to Hillsboro last Friday to visit Miss Gertrude Allen's school.

Miss Mamie Loomis and brother, Joseph, and Frank Burlingham will leave Friday for Seattle, where they will enter U of W. for the coming year.

J. S. Loynes has the contract for putting up the new Hoffman block and is busy at the job.
