

Business and Patriotism

(AN EDITORIAL)

In a modern war, an army is but one of many instruments. Banks are as necessary as forts; shops as trenches; freight cars as gun-carriages; merchant ships as dreadnaughts.

Real preparedness depends on scientific agriculture, efficient industry, adequate transportation, universal personal thrift, a financial system basing credits on actual trade operations, genuine economy in government.

We guard our ideal inheritance only as well as we use our material inheritance. Our patriotism can be no more efficient than our business.

The refreshments were of a character recommended by Mr. Hoover—meatless and wheatless—and showed ingenuity on the part of those providing them.

Many people believe that it is too late to send Christmas packages to soldiers in Europe, but the Express is informed that the war department will send a ship from Hoboken, N. J., early in December and that all packages that reach Hoboken by Dec. 5th will be taken "over." Packages must be enclosed in wooden boxes, fastened with screws and hinged lids, so they can be easily opened for examination; do not wrap, but tie with string or rope. No package must weigh more than 20 lbs. Send to Hoboken by either parcel post or express, charges paid to Hoboken. They must contain the name and address of the sender, the name of the soldier; the unit to which he belongs and addressed care "Commanding General, Pier No. 1, Hoboken, New Jersey."

An Invitation

Having taken over the sole control of the furniture, paint and wallpaper business of Chas. O. Roe & Co., I desire to thank the public for its liberal patronage in the past and to invite all friends of the old firm to continue their patronage, promising all customers, old and new, fair treatment and as low prices as present market conditions will permit. The stock will be kept up as well as the patronage warrants and I will defy any firm, either local or otherwise, to sell as good articles as I will handle for less money, freight and other items of expense figured in. If you doubt this statement, come in, examine the goods and ask the price.

Respectfully,

CLAUDE E. SMITH,
Forest Grove, Ore.

Notice of Dissolution

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between Chas. O. Roe and C. E. Smith, doing business under the firm name and style of Chas. O. Roe & Co., is by mutual consent hereby dissolved, Chas. O. Roe retiring from business.

All accounts due the firm will be paid to Chas. O. Roe, and all the liabilities of the firm will be paid by Chas. O. Roe.

Dated at Forest Grove, Oregon, November 20, 1917.

CHAS. O. ROE,
CLAUDE E. SMITH.
