Soldiers and sailors who have been buying Southern Pacific lands on the installment plan need not worry about their payments until the war is over. They have until nine months after that time before they have to resume their obligations, according to B. A. McAllister, land commissioner of the company. This applies both to interest and to principal.

Packages containing dutiable gifts sent to the Expeditionary Forces temporarily serving in England will be delivered free of duty, provided the contents are bona fide gifts, the quantity is not beyond the personal requirements of the addressee, and that the parcels are addressed for delivery to the regimental address of the recipient.

Beginning March 15, parcel post packages in the first, second and third zones may weigh 70 pounds. It has been hard to keep packages of produce and fruit for short shipment under the old weight and the increase in weight is expected to largely augment shipments of foodstuffs directly to consumers. The packages must still remain within the size limit of 84 inches combined length and girth.

O. A. C. Promoting Poultry Industry

Corvallis, Ore., Mar. 12—As the first move in the campaign to secure greater production of poultry, the Department of Agriculture announces the appointment of Mr. U. L. Upson of Grants Pass Oregon, as Extension Poultry Husbandman, to co-operate with the Oregon Agricultural College, and with office at Corvallis, Oregon.

This is the time of the year when increased production must begin and it is planned to initiate a publicity campaign in the immediate future. An itinerary is now being arranged, so that Mr. Upson may present to the people of Oregon, at first hand, the aims and desires of the federal government relative to poultry production. There is no doubt of the urgent necessity for greater production of poultry and eggs, in order that transportable meats may be released for over-seas use.

The government has adopted the slogan "100 hens to every farm; 100 eggs from every hen" and is urging that all rural, civic and patriotic bodies get behind this movement in every possible way. A plentiful supply of posters, and literature will soon be available for distribution and organizations wishing to take up this work are requested to write Mr. Upson for instructions as to how to proceed.

Boosts Red Cross; Condemns the Huns

Many Forest Grove people have heard Monta Smithson, former McMinnville College student, when he debated with P. U. students in this city on two occasions. Monta is in France now and he has written the editor of the McMinnville Telephone Register so interesting a letter that the Express takes the liberty of reproducing two extracts: "You make a lot of fuss about us soldiers, but friends, don't forget the nurses. They are our "pals," have given up all and come to be friends to us when we need them most, and those of you who offer prayers to the God of nations and the souls of humanity, don't forget the little Red Cross nurse. She loves to think she is remembered, too. They work and never complain, but the soldier cusses and swears—each in their own way are doing their "bit."

Here's a paragraph not so full of sympathy as the one in regard to the nurses:

"We are most encouraged by the glowing reports we hear from home of the gigantic preparations to push the war to a victory, and good friends, if you had been here five months you would have mighty little sympathy for anything or anyone who blocks that progress. I confess to have been a German sympathizer for three years, because I was blinded by the fact that they make among our best citizens, and are a clean, noble people. I thought no wrong could come from them. But never again. To see is to believe, and the Hun system and gang of autocrats are from hell breathing damnation, and they must be driven home. I thought they were lied about, but that's impossible. Earth is no place for liberty-loving people as long as the "wise wolf is at large," and this rot about German-American citizens not taking an active part in this war against Germany is all gone. We fought kin three times for principle and freedom, which is more precious than a brother's blood. If they can't stand by their adopted country, but take up that which blocks her progress, let 'em have a traitor's medicine, and that's lead, followed by six feet of earth. America was too full of fools like myself, and now she is late in the game, and I am sorry. The American Indian was never more cruel than they. I've seen where the bomb lit in the residences of London and little children with their heads cut off, and other things. Then we talk of quarter—never."

Now is the time to get prepared for the spring spraying. All fruit trees must be sprayed with Lime-Sulphur. Call in and let us explain why you should use S-W Dry Lime-Sulphur. Littler's Pharmacy.

Fatty and Shorty and Me

The following poem was written by a soldier at Camp Merritt, N. J., and, while it can hardly be classed as a classic, it shows the feelings of the boys in olive drab toward each other:

We were on our way to France one day,
Shorty and Fatty and me;

We sat and we bunked and we ate in our seat—
Shorty and Fatty and me.

Now, Shorty's blood was of Norway suds,
And Fatty a Dane was he;

But we're off to fight for old Uncle Sam—
Shorty and Fatty and me.

Fatty's pate is as bare as a plate,
And Shorty comes up to my knee;

But we're all good scouts when we get out—
Fatty and Shorty and me.

We're after the kaiser's wishbone now
And we're sure it's got to be.

For we are loaded up with horse-shoe nails—
Fatty and Shorty and me.

Now this is the song of the trio, bold,
As they're sailing o'er the sea;

With a yip and a yell, we'll give 'em hell—
Fatty and Shorty and me.

—W. L. Gardner.

Here's one of the times when a fellow feels thankful to the friend who sent him that pouch of Real Gravely.

Send Him a pouch

Real GRAVELY Chewing Plug

Real Gravely Chewing Plug—there's the soldier's tobacco, that he can use anywhere, anytime. Just a small chew of Real Gravely is enough—all good tobacco, rich, sappy leaf made the Gravely way, not loaded up with heavy sweetening like ordinary plug.

Give any man a chew of Real Gravely Plug, and he will tell you that's the kind to send. Send the best! Ordinary plug is false economy. It costs less per week to chew Real Gravely, because a small chew of it lasts a long while.

If you smoke a pipe, slice Gravely with your knife and add a little to your smoking tobacco. It will give flavor—improve your smoke.

SEND YOUR FRIEND IN THE U. S. SERVICE A POUCH OF GRAVELY

Dealers all around here carry it in 10c pouches. A 3c stamp will put it into his hands in any Training Camp or Seaport of the U. S. A. Even "over there" a 3c stamp will take it to him. Your dealer will supply envelope and give you official directions how to address it.
