Enjoyed His Vacation

Uncle Sam Walker, the pioneer shoemaker, doesn't take a vacation very often, but when he does, he gets about as much out of his layoff as anybody. He returned Monday night from his first vacation in three years, spent with his son, Raleigh, and family, at LaPine, Klamath county.

One day while Sam was at Raleigh's the latter cranked up his Ford and took his wife, father and a neighbor, Miss Reinkens, fourteen miles, to Davis creek, on a fishing excursion. They caught 35 nice trout, aggregating 48 pounds in weight, some of the fish being 18 inches in length. Sam says Davis creek is a very interesting stream, coming out from under a big ledge of rock in a volume four feet deep and almost twenty feet wide. The water is ice cold and comes out of the hillside with a loud roar. It is supposed to come from a lake, high up on the mountain, in the lava beds.

Sam says Miss Reinken is a real western girl and can give most of the men pointers in fishing, hunting and trapping.

Mr. Walker has decided to leave his homestead, temporarily, to get some of the good wages offered mechanics in Portland, and will move Mrs. Walker and the little daughter to their cottage in this city. The government allows homesteaders credit on their homesteading period while they are absent, if they work for the government, so Raleigh can be earning good wages and serving time on his claim at the same time.

Soldiers in France Need More Books

The Pacific University and Rogers City libraries have received requests from the American Library Association's Headquarters in Washington for more books from this community for the men overseas.

The appeal from Washington states that new novels and good western stories, whether new or old, are most needed. Books by Zane Grey, Rex Beach, Jack London, Ralph Connor, Owen Wister and O. Henry are very popular. The Public Library announces it will receive and forward all suitable books that are turned in. It urges the friends of the soldiers and sailors, many of whom have already responded most generously, to give more books.

The communication received by the Libraries from the Washington Headquarters states that over 600,000 books have been sent overseas. The supply is nearly exhausted, and several hundred thousand more will be needed soon by the six dispatch offices which are now shipping books to France. The books are packed at these dispatch offices in strong cases, so built that they serve as a bookcase.

They go on the decks of transports, in cargo vessels and in naval vessels. Those that go on the decks of transports are open so that the men may have reading matter for use on the voyage. All these books are gathered together again, however, replaced in the cases and delivered to the proper officials in France.

In France, the books are distributed by an experienced Librarian, representing the American Library association. Most of them go to Y. M. C. A., Red Cross and Salvation Army huts, hospitals and canteens. Others go directly to chaplains and officers.

Oregon Prune Crop Is Being Damaged

Corvallis, August 7.—The prune root borer is causing a heavy drop of prunes by girdling the trees near the ground and shutting off the sap when it is most needed. The damage being done the crop is estimated to be 10 percent of the total. Not only is the crop being reduced but young trees are being killed outright.

Much of the damage from this insect can be prevented by coating the trunks and base of the trees with a whitewash made of 50 pounds of stone lime, 1 pound Paris green or dry lead arsenate, 5 gallons concentrated lime sulphur, one-half pint blackleaf "40," and 1 pound glue dissolved in hot water. Slake the lime and add the ingredients separately. Mix to a good thick paint and apply with a brush, taking particular care to cover the bark thoroughly, advises A. B. Black special federal field agent at O. A. C.

Swat That Canada Thistle Right Now

Corvallis, August 7.—Do not allow the Canada thistle to mature seed. The plants have started to bloom in most sections of the state and should be cut. Immediate action will save thousands of dollars to Oregon and will prevent the infestation of thistle-free fields.

"Fields overrun with thistles should be plowed—deep enough to turn over the root mat," says B. F. Shochan, assistant professor of farm crops in the Oregon Agricultural College. "After the roots are exposed to the killing action of the sun, the land should be harrowed, preferably with a spring-tooth harrow, care being taken not to infest other places in the field by dragging the roots over uninfested areas."

Want Help or a Job?

If there are any farmers or fruit growers in this section who need help, they may secure same by applying to R. W. Reder, secretary of the Forest Grove Commercial club. Phone 751.

Men, women and children who desire work on the farms or in the orchards are also invited to register with Mr. Reder. There is no charge for this service, only a desire to get the work and workers together in order that food may be saved for the nation and its overseas forces.

C. M. Fowler, a special representative of the Oregon Electric railway, was in the city Tuesday, asking shippers to try to get shipments in as early as possible, to the end that there might not be a congestion of freight during the winter months. Agent Farmer is also urging the business men to help out the government along this line. This request comes, originally, from the government, which is anxious to give the public good service and can only do so with the co-operation of the shippers.
